NEW YORK CLIPPER

THE OLDEST AMERICAN SPORTING AND THEATRICAL JOURNAL.

FRANK QUEEN, Editor and Proprietor. | NEW YORK, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1871. | VOLUME XIX—No. 24 PRICE TEN CENTS.

WHEN THIS OLD COAT WAS NEW.

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER,
BY LON. J. BRAUCHAMP.

I'm looking through the garret, May,
Among the odds and ends;
I've nothing else to do to-day,
Until the weather mends;
And here I've found the old gray coat,
Though 'tis not what I sought,
But many are the changes, love,
Since this old coat was bought.

I wore it when I met you, love,
Beside the babbling brook,
When you were catching trout, my love,
With dainty line and hook;
I stood aloof, enchanted
At the beauty merged in you,
But we soon became acquainted
When this old coat was new.

I came to see you often, love,
And I've never rued it, May,
That I led you to the altar
On that joyous Sabbath day;
And down life's ocean, together, love,
We've sailed both straight and true,
Through all the many changes, love,
Since this old coat was new.

And thus we'll pull on ever, love,
Adown life's pleasant stream;
Our life will be as happy, love,
As heaven's bright life doth seem;
And though the coat is faded now,
Our hearts are still as true,
As many, many years ago,
When this old coat was new.

HAMILTON, OHIO.

A LILY AND A ROSE;

OR,

THE SCHEMER AND HIS VICTIMS.

CHAPTER XII.

AN ILLUSION.

The months flew on, dropping from their wings many a joy and many a sorrow, the fire of hate, the soft down of love, the healing balm for the afflicted, rest for the weary and new toil for the refreshed. Each day had its night and morning, each hour its change, each month its wondrous events and nine days' wonder.

The spring had grown into summer, and the trees had taken to themselves aprons of green leaves wherein to hide the nakedness of their limbs, and the flowers, with a woman's vanity, had decked themselves in many colored garments, blossoms and sparkling dew jewels.

As the season had grown in splendor and luxury, so seemed Leonard Grantley to have prospered.

Who would have recognized in the exquisitely dressed man of fashion alighting from the thoroughbred hack at the door of Mr. Garton's villa, the once unknown artist, Leonard Grantley?

Throwing the bridle to a groom, who sprang forward with a respectful salutation of recognition, Leonard said:—

"Ah, Tom, your master at home?"

"Dunno, sir," said the groom, "but I think Miss Lillian is."

Leonard was evidently a constant visitor at the villa, for the footman who answered his knock ushered him into the drawing-room without any preliminary announcement.

"There is no one here, Thomas," said Leonard, looking around the room.

"Isn't there, sir?" replied John Thomas, re-entering the room. "Miss Lillian was here a moment ago, I'll find her, sir."

"No, no," said Leonard, "your mistress is in the conservatory, perhaps; I'll go to her." And he pushed the curtain aside and entered the flower land.

"Ah, Mr. Grantley!" exclaimed a voice from the top of a ladder. "Oh, please do help me down! I got up here to cut this japonica, and I am afraid to move a step. I've been up here in a state of agitation nearly ten minutes, and was going to scream when you came in."

And Lillian Garton, blushing as bright a crimson as any of her flowers, laughed musically as she clung in motionless and ludicrous terror to the iron frame work of the conservatory.

Leonard's laugh chimed in with hers as he put his foot upon the steps and offered his assisting hand.

"I am half inclined to let the statue remain on its pedestal," he said, drawing his hand back with a pleasant, meaning smile.

"Yes, a statue of Folly beseeching help from Wisdom," and the merry laugh rang out again, followed by a tiny shriek of alarm, as, forgetting her perilous position, she shook the steps. "Oh, do help me down!" she implored; "if you don't, I'll be going and jump."

"Don't do that, for I might not catch you," laughed Leonard.

"Then I won't," retorted the heiress. "Look, if you get me down nicely I will give you—this beautiful blossom."

"So, ho!" said Leonard, with mock gravity. "A bribe! Learn, madam, that a gentleman's honor—"

"Is not worth a flower," finished Lillian, throwing the blossom at him and jumping down at his feet.

"There! now are you not ashamed to look me in the face? Wait until you are in an awkward position and want my help, then—"

"You'll help me," he said rather earnestly, stooping as he spoke to pick up the flower, and placing it in his button hole. "And now, perhaps, you will shake hands," he continued, holding forth his perfectly gloved hand with a smile.

"No, indeed I won't," she answered with mock anger.

"Why, are you offended?" he inquired, with simulated humility.

"No, but because my hands are dirty, look." And she laughed as she spread out two tiny little palms with a few earth soils on their whiteness.

Leonard caught them in his and lost no time in transferring the mould to his lavender gloves and held the little wrists fast.

Lillian blushed again.

"Come, come," she said, "visitors are requested not to interfere with the gardener. I must finish my work or Mr. Garton will scold."

Leonard dropped the hands and commenced taking off his gloves.

"Let me help you," he said.

"Oh, you can't," she replied, "I couldn't trust you, you'd spoil the plants."

"Thank you," retorted Leonard, "I am much obliged to you; pray let me tell you I am very clever at this sort of thing. Look here," and he caught up a pair of scissors and cut off a dead leaves of a camelia.

"Stop, stop, stop!" she cried, with a pretty show of alarm. "That's not the way; let me show you," and she put her hand upon the scissors.

Did you ever, gentle reader, try to take a pair of scissors from a young lady, or give her one which you held on your finger and thumb, without getting your hand and the scissors entangled in hers? So it was with Leonard and Lillian. The girl's white hands got entwined with the almost equally white and shapely ones of the artist, and the scissors remained the bone of contention.

It was a pretty picture, with beauty added to it by the look of blushing embarrassment shining upon Lillian's face, and the wickedness sparkling in Leonard's eyes as he pretended that his fingers would not extricate themselves. A very pretty picture indeed Mr. Raymond Garton thought, as he stood in the attitude of a handsome nineteenth century Mephistopheles, gazing with a smiling face at the youthful pair.

He coughed slightly, and with a guilty start Lillian pulled her hand away, and darting at the dead leaves of a plant was busily engaged immediately, while Leonard came forward with the slightest soupçon of color in his face.

"Ah Leonard, dear boy!" saluted Mr. Garton, meeting him with both hands impulsively stretched forth, and a soft, sweet smile of welcome literally absorbing his face, moustache, eyebrows and all.

"Doing a little gardening with Lillian, eh? Ah, she is fond of her ferns, and her birds and her fountains; women are like you artists, Leonard, they like their little beauties."

Leonard smiled. There was nothing he could think of in reply to the little platitude, so he took refuge in a smile.

"That's a pretty little specimen, isn't it?" continued Mr. Raymond, gliding noiselessly to a small species of the cotton plant standing near a marble nymph.

"Yes," said Leonard, "very good indeed, rather rare, too?"

"Very rare," agreed Raymond. "Lord St. Aubyn picked it up in one of his travels and gave it to Lillian."

"Oh, indeed," said Leonard, rather coldly, though he could scarcely assign any respectable reason for frigidity.

"Lord St. Aubyn gave it to you, Mr. Garton," said Lillian, demurely, from the back, still fidgeting about the flowers.

"No, Lillian, I think not," replied Raymond, very sweetly; "if I remember rightly, Lord St. Aubyn's exact words when he brought the plant—quite a tender slip then Mr. Grantley—were—"

"Miss Garton, will you take charge of this plant for my sake. I have had some little trouble in bringing it—"

"Oh, did he?" said Lillian, carelessly resuming her occupation which she had desisted from for the moment.

"Very kind of him."

"Very kind," echoed Leonard, warmly, almost more warmly than the occasion warranted, for Miss Garton looked rather curiously at the noble face of the young artist that had somewhat clouded over at the mention of St. Aubyn's name. Woman-like, Lillian pursued the subject.

"Yes, Lord St. Aubyn has traveled a very great deal, so much so that he has not been in England for a year or two since—when?"

She broke off, turning inquiringly to Raymond, who had pulled out his Russia cigar case.

"Since—I really forget," replied Raymond—"Leonard, let me offer you a cigar."

"Thanks," said Leonard, taking one. "May we smoke in here, Miss Garton?"

"Yes, if you are good," said Lillian.

"We won't on such a hard condition," struck in Raymond. "Come, Leonard, shall we go into the billiard room and enjoy our cigars in peace," and Raymond Garton led the way out. Leonard followed, raising his hat as he neared the door. "Good-bye, Miss Garton; I am afraid I shall not see you again, as my visit must be short this morning as I have a great deal to do."

"Good-bye," said Lillian, holding out her hand with a smile.

Leonard took the little hand once more and pressed it in his own, then overtook Raymond Garton, who had walked on.

Raymond put his arm through the young artist's and they both walked through the drawing-room, and at the first flight of stairs into the billiard-room:—

"By the way," said Raymond, suddenly picking up a cue and cleverly pocketing the red, "I have good news for you."

"Indeed," said Leonard; "pray unburden."

"You are a member of the Cyclops. I proposed you as I promised, Wayte seconded, and there was not a single blackball."

Leonard did not look so signally delighted as he ought to have done, perhaps, considering the Cyclops was a first-class and somewhat exclusive club.

"Hem," he said. "Thanks. I think you did tell me the subscription."

"Three hundred pounds," replied Raymond, making a difficult carom and taking a keen glance at the speaker's face before the stroke.

"It's rather a high figure, but scarcely too high considering how the Cyclops stand," he continued.

"Not at all high" said Leonard, puffing at his cigar and looking at the opposite wall meditatingly; "but I am not rich yet, though I have earned a great deal of money lately, for it goes without my knowing sometimes, I think. And—and the truth is, I have not three hundred pounds to spare."

"Ah, you soon will have, my dear Leonard," replied Raymond Garton, "very soon, if you but stick to that Fortunatus wand, your mal. Your pictures, they tell me, fetch better prices every day."

"Yes, they do," said Leonard, with a sigh. "Indeed the celerity with which they 'go' astonishes me. Did I tell you that I had fallen out with Bolton but had taken him up again?"

"No. Excellent man, Bolton. Sound man of business. I always admire thorough men of business, perhaps because, alas, I am so thoroughly unbusiness-like," said Raymond, plaintively.

"Yes, he is very business-like," said Leonard. "He seems to have done admirably with the pictures. And yet I am still poor. Do you know I am afraid I am rather extravagant," he added, with a careless laugh, the old true prodigal blood of the Grantleys crying aloud in the careless laugh.

"I have launched out rather extensively, you know," he continued, "my rooms have cost me a round sum; there were and there are bills to pay. My hack runs away with many valuable portraits of her majesty in bas relief, and—in fact, I'm sorry to say, I am worth—really worth no more than I was when you were kind enough to buy Lady Macbeth," and again the laugh rung out fresh and carelessly.

"All that will right itself in time, if you do but work," said Raymond, softly, still knocking the balls about in his quiet silken way. "As to the matter of the Cyclops' subscription, that is easily settled. Let me be your creditor for the amount, my dear Leonard. The debt will be on my side, for the pleasure it will give me to be of even some slight service will be sincere."

"Thank you, no," said Leonard at once, coloring a little, and rising.

"Well, well," said Mr. Garton, with a pleasant smile, "I understand you, my dear Leonard. One does not like to be under the shadow of an obligation. And you Grantleys are so proud; but let me suggest another course, prefacing it first with the confession that I, like yourself, have often been in need of that essential—money. Now I know a certain Jew—they are always Jews, my dear Leonard, although they christen themselves Brown, Jones or Robinson—who, for a slight compensation in the way of interest, is ready to lend, and on personal security, any reasonable amount for temporary purposes."

"There is no one," continued Mr. Raymond Garton, impressively, his face seriously, yet benevolently grave, and his voice almost paternal in its tone of admonition, "more opposed to the system so prevalent now-a-days among young men of obtaining money from new moneylenders. It is the first step to ruin, my dear Leonard, believe me, in most cases; but in yours, of course, it is merely a little convenience, a convenience only, and I do not hesitate to suggest to you that a small loan would meet this affair of the subscription very nicely. I know Mr. Levy very well, and, if you like, my dear Leonard, will procure you the three hundred, or say five hundred, just to make the sum even, for a month or two. Of course you will not really need it for so long but better make it three months. Eh, what do you say?"

And the obliging Raymond Garton again smiled benevolently on his young friend, with more than paternal regard.

"You are very kind, indeed, and really its the very thing I want. But will he not want some security?"

"Oh, do not trouble about that," replied Raymond, lightly. "I'll manage that for you; will give him my own, indeed, and get young Bertram, or—any of our young friends to back it for you."

"Thanks, thanks, very much," said Leonard, "I do not know how to thank you."

"You overwhelm me already, my dear Leonard," murmured Raymond Garton, laying his hand softly upon the arm of the young artist; "come, let us have a game."

What need was there to play? The game was almost won, and the odds were greatly in favor of Mr. Raymond Garton.

CHAPTER XIII.

GOOD RESOLUTIONS.

"Bills, bills, nothing but bills!" exclaimed Leonard wearily, tossing the folio containing document in a heap upon his pretty little marquetaire table, and throwing himself impatiently into the open arms of his smoking chair. "Bolton, I am in difficulties."

"I know it," said Bolton, sadly.

"How is it? How do you account for it?" exclaimed the young artist, rising again, and pacing the room. "You are a good fellow, Bolton, notwithstanding that the difference of ours, which you promised shouldn't occur again, and have put a great deal of money in my way, but—its all gone, all gone, all gone, every pound of it, and here I am almost as badly off as ever."

"You have a great many commissions on hand," suggested Joseph, quietly, producing a large crimson pocket handkerchief, and raising the echoes of the studio with a terrific blast.

"Yes, yes, I know!" asserted Leonard, impatiently. Then stopping short at the dumpy little figure of the patient Joseph, he thrust his hands in his pockets and said, sternly:—

"Bolton, I am a humbug! All the dreary years spent toiling up the hill, worked honestly with a will, now I'm half way up, I grow idle and extravagant, and all owing to fancy! I hear the stones I rest on rolling away beneath my feet. I can't work! I'm spoilt, I think by this sudden gush of wordly for une. I can't work!" And he fell to pacing the room again, not impatiently now, but sorrowfully, casting a glance of pain at his easel, with its gray covering of merino. "Surely some curse must be upon me," he continued, "I can't sketch a single figure or lay a brush full of color on, and, in short, Bolton, I am going all wrong."

The picture dealer half opened his mouth like a fish, then swallowed his coming words and contented himself with wiping his hat as usual.

"Ah, well!" continued Leonard, with a sigh, "needs must, I suppose, and the idle fit will die off, and then I shall get into harness and work as of old. Meanwhile here is the wherewithal for the day to live on," and he threw on the table a packet of crisp bank notes.

Watching every movement of the young artist with an almost painful earnestness, Joseph Bolton started as the notes fell on the table.

"Leonard!" he exclaimed, suddenly.

Leonard burst into a fit of laughter.

"No, Joseph Bolton, my friend, I have not stolen them; this is not the proceeds of a neat burglary or garotte."

"I—I didn't say it was," said the picture dealer, piteously.

"No, my friend, but you looked it. There are five hundred pounds procured for me by Mr. Garton, from that respectable Samaritan, Levi, the Jew."

The face of Joseph Bolton grew suddenly overcast as he listened and the unfortunate hat got more wiped than ever. It was hard lines to see a young friend walking with blinded eyes into the snare, and yet be compelled to refrain from snatching him back, or even pointing out the pitfall.

"Yes," went on Leonard, rather more gaily; "he was young and a Grantley. Here is the golden key still, thanks to Providence and an Israelite, and I'll no spill the brine,' as the Scotch say, just yet. And now to business. First, Bolton, who is it you are keeping all my pictures for?"

It was a random shot aimed at mere chance, but the bolt told.

"Eh—what?" replied the dealer, all the timidity down at the mere sound of the word—business.

"Buying 'em up for? Why for all sorts of people. There's my lord this and my lady that and the Honorable So-and-So, all clamoring for anything of yours and ready to pay for it, so of course I am selling 'em pretty fast."

"Oh!" said Leonard. "All right, I had an idea that you were buying for a single customer. I don't know how I got the idea, but it has gone now. I am glad they are anxious still, though I cannot paint just yet. Let me see, will you tell me what I have to do?"

"There's Lady March's landscape, Mr. Vencon's—the American millionaire, you know—little fancy portrait, and the river stetch for the Russian Prince."

Leonard sighed.

"Aye, and a dozen other schemes and plans floating in that busy brain of mine, and my two hands its tuelless!"

"Why don't you go out of town for a month or two," said Joseph Bolton, "the country is looking beautiful now, very beautiful; there'd be many a little bit of water and wood you could knock off hand, and you'd be all the better for the change, both in health and—"

"Money," said Leonard, as Joseph Bolton stopped. "No, no, I can't leave town just now. Yet, I wish I could," and he stopped for a moment to gaze out of the window. As he did so a handsome stanhope, drawn by a pair of splendid thorough-breds, dashed by in the road beneath. Seated in the carriage, surrounded like a wood nymph by a blaze of scarlet and muslin, was the heiress, Lillian Garton. She smiled sweetly as the artist bowed his head, and then was lost to sight.

Leonard turned from the window, a slight flush upon his handsome, youthful face.

"No, Bolton, I won't leave town, don't fear for me. I'll get to work directly—directly," and with those words he threw the saving rope aside and fell back into the sea of ruin, where hungry waves were surging nearer and nearer to enclose him in their deadly embrace.

Joseph Bolton sighed.

"Well, well," he said, "you say you'll work, it would be foolish of you if you didn't, now you've got all fair sailing before you; and I'll promise Lady March her little bit of forest by—when?"

"Oh, oh, I don't know," replied the young artist, carelessly; "tell her ladyship she shall have her picture as soon as—I can get it finished. (It is not commenced yet," he muttered, sotto voce.)

"See here," he exclaimed, throwing off his walking coat and snatching up his loose velvet painting jacket, "I'll set to work at once."

"That's right," said Bolton, cheerfully, putting his hat down and rubbing his hands. "Mr. Leonard, I never like to see you idle, it's bad for you. Inside the old rusty velvet jacket and lay hold of the brushes. When I see you standing before the easel with that dirty little meerschaum—you call it colored and so it is—a-smoking away like the first steam engine and your hand well in at a 'Dairy Maid,' or nursery picture, or mayhap a little bit o' wood, I say to myself:— There's the right man in the right place at the right work,' and the good old boy gave a low chuckle of satisfaction and handed the artist his palette.

"You are right, you are right," said Leonard, smiling at Bolton's earnestness; "and I am never so happy as when at the mill, but there is always something lately to take one off—now a bail, then a concert, here a conversazione, there a soiree, always something, Bolton. It's the penalty of a taste of success," sighed the young artist, as he added, "take the cover off and I'll set to work at once, and when you go—no, don't go yet—I'll lock the door, stick up 'Not at home' on the outside, and remain at my post for the rest of the day," and he walked towards the easel.

As he made the movement, there came floating up the air a snatch of the opera of "Faust," sung in a light tenor voice, and an instant after the door was opened softly, and Mr. Raymond Garton entered.

With a smiling nod to Bolton, who seemed mysteriously and unpleasantly influenced by the handsome Raymond's presence, he cried in his musical voice:—

"My dear, Leonard, shut yourself in a beautiful day like this! Mr. Bolton, it is weather so plentiful in this climate that any island of ours that you refrain from persuading Mr. Grantley to bask in our unwonted sunshine?" Then stopping short at the dumpy little figure of the patient Joseph, he thrust his hands in his pockets and said, sternly:—

"Bolton, I am a humbug! All the dreary years spent toiling up the hill, worked honestly with a will, now I'm half way up, I grow idle and extravagant, and all owing to fancy! I hear the stones I rest on rolling away beneath my feet. I can't work! I'm spoilt, I think by this sudden gush of wordly for une. I can't work!" And he fell to pacing the room again, not impatiently now, but sorrowfully, casting a glance of pain at his easel, with its gray covering of merino. "Surely some curse must be upon me," he continued, "I can't sketch a single figure or lay a brush full of color on, and, in short, Bolton, I am going all wrong."

The picture dealer half opened his mouth like a fish, then swallowed his coming words and contented himself with wiping his hat as usual.

"Ah, well!" continued Leonard, with a sigh, "needs must, I suppose, and the idle fit will die off, and then I shall get into harness and work as of old. Meanwhile here is the wherewithal for the day to live on," and he threw on the table a packet of crisp bank notes.

Watching every movement of the young artist with an almost painful earnestness, Joseph Bolton started as the notes fell on the table.

"Leonard!" he exclaimed, suddenly.

Leonard burst into a fit of laughter.

"No, Joseph Bolton, my friend, I have not stolen them; this is not the proceeds of a neat burglary or garotte."

"I—I didn't say it was," said the picture dealer, piteously.

"No, my friend, but you looked it. There are five hundred pounds procured for me by Mr. Garton, from that respectable Samaritan, Levi, the Jew."

The face of Joseph Bolton grew suddenly overcast as he listened and the unfortunate hat got more wiped than ever. It was hard lines to see a young friend walking with blinded eyes into the snare, and yet be compelled to refrain from snatching him back, or even pointing out the pitfall.

"Yes," went on Leonard, rather more gaily; "he was young and a Grantley. Here is the golden key still, thanks to Providence and an Israelite, and I'll no spill the brine,' as the Scotch say, just yet. And now to business. First, Bolton, who is it you are keeping all my pictures for?"

It was a random shot aimed at mere chance, but the bolt told.

"Eh—what?" replied the dealer, all the timidity down at the mere sound of the word—business.

"Buying 'em up for? Why for all sorts of people. There's my lord this and my lady that and the Honorable So-and-So, all clamoring for anything of yours and ready to pay for it, so of course I am selling 'em pretty fast."

"Oh!" said Leonard. "All right, I had an idea that you were buying for a single customer. I don't know how I got the idea, but it has gone now. I am glad they are anxious still, though I cannot paint just yet. Let me see, will you tell me what I have to do?"

"There's Lady March's landscape, Mr. Vencon's—the American millionaire, you know—little fancy portrait, and the river stetch for the Russian Prince."

Leonard sighed.

"Aye, and a dozen other schemes and plans floating in that busy brain of mine, and my two hands its tuelless!"

"Why don't you go out of town for a month or two," said Joseph Bolton, "the country is looking beautiful now, very beautiful; there'd be many a little bit of water and wood you could knock off hand, and you'd be all the better for the change, both in health and—"

"Money," said Leonard, as Joseph Bolton stopped. "No, no, I can't leave town just now. Yet, I wish I could," and he stopped for a moment to gaze out of the window. As he did so a handsome stanhope, drawn by a pair of splendid thorough-breds, dashed by in the road beneath. Seated in the carriage, surrounded like a wood nymph by a blaze of scarlet and muslin, was the heiress, Lillian Garton. She smiled sweetly as the artist bowed his head, and then was lost to sight.

Leonard turned from the window, a slight flush upon his handsome, youthful face.

"No, Bolton, I won't leave town, don't fear for me. I'll get to work directly—directly," and with those words he threw the saving rope aside and fell back into the sea of ruin, where hungry waves were surging nearer and nearer to enclose him in their deadly embrace.

Joseph Bolton sighed.

"Well, well," he said, "you say you'll work, it would be foolish of you if you didn't, now you've got all fair sailing before you; and I'll promise Lady March her little bit of forest by—when?"

"Oh, oh, I don't know," replied the young artist, carelessly; "tell her ladyship she shall have her picture as soon as—I can get it finished. (It is not commenced yet," he muttered, sotto voce.)

"See here," he exclaimed, throwing off his walking coat and snatching up his loose velvet painting jacket, "I'll set to work at once."

"That's right," said Bolton, cheerfully, putting his hat down and rubbing his hands. "Mr. Leonard, I never like to see you idle, it's bad for you. Inside the old rusty velvet jacket and lay hold of the brushes. When I see you standing before the easel with that dirty little meerschaum—you call it colored and so it is—a-smoking away like the first steam engine and your hand well in at a 'Dairy Maid,' or nursery picture, or mayhap a little bit o' wood, I say to myself:— There's the right man in the right place at the right work,' and the good old boy gave a low chuckle of satisfaction and handed the artist his palette.

"You are right, you are right," said Leonard, smiling at Bolton's earnestness; "and I am never so happy as when at the mill, but there is always something lately to take one off—now a ball, then a concert, here a conversazione, there a soiree, always something, Bolton. It's the penalty of a taste of success," sighed the young artist, as he added, "take the cover off and I'll set to work at once, and when you go—no, don't go yet—I'll lock the door, stick up 'Not at home' on the outside, and remain at my post for the rest of the day," and he walked towards the easel.

As he made the movement, there came floating up the air a snatch of the opera of "Faust," sung in a light tenor voice, and an instant after the door was opened softly, and Mr. Raymond Garton entered.

With a smiling nod to Bolton, who seemed mysteriously and unpleasantly influenced by the handsome Raymond's presence, he cried in his musical voice:—

"My dear, Leonard, shut yourself in a beautiful day like this! Mr. Bolton, it is weather so plentiful in this climate that any island of ours that you refrain from persuading Mr. Grantley to bask in our unwonted sunshine?" Then stopping short at the dumpy little figure of the patient Joseph, he thrust his hands in his pockets and said, sternly:—

"Bolton, I am a humbug! All the dreary years spent toiling up the hill, worked honestly with a will, now I'm half way up, I grow idle and extravagant, and all owing to fancy! I hear the stones I rest on rolling away beneath my feet. I can't work! I'm spoilt, I think by this sudden gush of wordly for une. I can't work!" And he fell to pacing the room again, not impatiently now, but sorrowfully, casting a glance of pain at his easel, with its gray covering of merino. "Surely some curse must be upon me," he continued, "I can't sketch a single figure or lay a brush full of color on, and, in short, Bolton, I am going all wrong."

The picture dealer half opened his mouth like a fish, then swallowed his coming words and contented himself with wiping his hat as usual.

"Ah, well!" continued Leonard, with a sigh, "needs must, I suppose, and the idle fit will die off, and then I shall get into harness and work as of old. Meanwhile here is the wherewithal for the day to live on," and he threw on the table a packet of crisp bank notes.

Watching every movement of the young artist with an almost painful earnestness, Joseph Bolton started as the notes fell on the table.

"Leonard!" he exclaimed, suddenly.

Leonard burst into a fit of laughter.

"No, Joseph Bolton, my friend, I have not stolen them; this is not the proceeds of a neat burglary or garotte."

"I—I didn't say it was," said the picture dealer, piteously.

"No, my friend, but you looked it. There are five hundred pounds procured for me by Mr. Garton, from that respectable Samaritan, Levi, the Jew."

The face of Joseph Bolton grew suddenly overcast as he listened and the unfortunate hat got more wiped than ever. It was hard lines to see a young friend walking with blinded eyes into the snare, and yet be compelled to refrain from snatching him back, or even pointing out the pitfall.

"Yes," went on Leonard, rather more gaily; "he was young and a Grantley. Here is the golden key still, thanks to Providence and an Israelite, and I'll no spill the brine,' as the Scotch say, just yet. And now to business. First, Bolton, who is it you are keeping all my pictures for?"

It was a random shot aimed at mere chance, but the bolt told.

"Eh—what?" replied the dealer, all the timidity down at the mere sound of the word—business.

"Buying 'em up for? Why for all sorts of people. There's my lord this and my lady that and the Honorable So-and-So, all clamoring for anything of yours and ready to pay for it, so of course I am selling 'em pretty fast."

"Oh!" said Leonard. "All right, I had an idea that you were buying for a single customer. I don't know how I got the idea, but it has gone now. I am glad they are anxious still, though I cannot paint just yet. Let me see, will you tell me what I have to do?"

"There's Lady March's landscape, Mr. Vencon's—the American millionaire, you know—little fancy portrait, and the river stetch for the Russian Prince."

Leonard sighed.

"Aye, and a dozen other schemes and plans floating in that busy brain of mine, and my two hands its tuelless!"

"Why don't you go out of town for a month or two," said Joseph Bolton, "the country is looking beautiful now, very beautiful; there'd be many a little bit of water and wood you could knock off hand, and you'd be all the better for the change, both in health and—"

"Money," said Leonard, as Joseph Bolton stopped. "No, no, I can't leave town just now. Yet, I wish I could," and he stopped for a moment to gaze out of the window. As he did so a handsome stanhope, drawn by a pair of splendid thorough-breds, dashed by in the road beneath. Seated in the carriages, surrounded like a wood nymph by a blaze of scarlet and muslin, was the heiress, Lillian Garton. She smiled sweetly as the artist bowed his head, and then was lost to sight.

Leonard turned from the window, a slight flush upon his handsome, youthful face.

"No, Bolton, I won't leave town, don't fear for me. I'll get to work directly—directly," and with those words he threw the saving rope aside and fell back into the sea of ruin, where hungry waves were surging nearer and nearer to enclose him in their deadly embrace.

Joseph Bolton sighed.

"Well, well," he said, "you say you'll work, it would be foolish of you if you didn't, now you've got all fair sailing before you; and I'll promise Lady March her little bit of forest by—when?"

"Oh, oh, I don't know," replied the young artist, carelessly; "tell her ladyship she shall have her picture as soon as—I can get it finished. (It is not commenced yet," he muttered, sotto voce.)

"See here," he exclaimed, throwing off his walking coat and snatching up his loose velvet painting jacket, "I'll set to work at once."

"That's right," said Bolton, cheerfully, putting his hat down and rubbing his hands. "Mr. Leonard, I never like to see you idle, it's bad for you. Inside the old rusty velvet jacket and lay hold of the brushes. When I see you standing before the easel with that dirty little meerschaum—you call it colored and so it is—a-smoking away like the first steam engine and your hand well in at a 'Dairy Maid,' or nursery picture, or mayhap a little bit o' wood, I say to myself:— There's the right man in the right place at the right work,' and the good old boy gave a low chuckle of satisfaction and handed the artist his palette.

"You are right, you are right," said Leonard, smiling at Bolton's earnestness; "and I am never so happy as when at the mill, but there is always something lately to take one off—now a ball, then a concert, here a conversazione, there a soiree, always something, Bolton. It's the penalty of a taste of success," sighed the young artist, as he added, "take the cover off and I'll set to work at once, and when you go—no, don't go yet—I'll lock the door, stick up 'Not at home' on the outside, and remain at my post for the rest of the day," and he walked towards the easel.

As he made the movement, there came floating up the air a snatch of the opera of "Faust," sung in a light tenor voice, and an instant after the door was opened softly, and Mr. Raymond Garton entered.

With a smiling nod to Bolton, who seemed mysteriously and unpleasantly influenced by the handsome Raymond's presence, he cried in his musical voice:—

"My dear, Leonard, shut yourself in a beautiful day like this! Mr. Bolton, it is weather so plentiful in this climate that any island of ours that you refrain from persuading Mr. Grantley to bask in our unwonted sunshine?" Then stopping short at the dumpy little figure of the patient Joseph, he thrust his hands in his pockets and said, sternly:—

"Bolton, I am a humbug! All the dreary years spent toiling up the hill, worked honestly with a will, now I'm half way up, I grow idle and extravagant, and all owing to fancy! I hear the stones I rest on rolling away beneath my feet. I can't work! I'm spoilt, I think by this sudden gush of wordly for une. I can't work!" And he fell to pacing the room again, not impatiently now, but sorrowfully, casting a glance of pain at his easel, with its gray covering of merino. "Surely some curse must be upon me," he continued, "I can't sketch a single figure or lay a brush full of color on, and, in short, Bolton, I am going all wrong."

The picture dealer half opened his mouth like a fish, then swallowed his coming words and contented himself with wiping his hat as usual.

"Ah, well!" continued Leonard, with a sigh, "needs must, I suppose, and the idle fit will die off, and then I shall get into harness and work as of old. Meanwhile here is the wherewithal for the day to live on," and he threw on the table a packet of crisp bank notes.

Watching every movement of the young artist with an almost painful earnestness, Joseph Bolton started as the notes fell on the table.

"Leonard!" he exclaimed, suddenly.

Leonard burst into a fit of laughter.

"No, Joseph Bolton, my friend, I have not stolen them; this is not the proceeds of a neat burglary or garotte."

"I—I didn't say it was," said the picture dealer, piteously.

"No, my friend, but you looked it. There are five hundred pounds procured for me by Mr. Garton, from that respectable Samaritan, Levi, the Jew."

The face of Joseph Bolton grew suddenly overcast as he listened and the unfortunate hat got more wiped than ever. It was hard lines to see a young friend walking with blinded eyes into the snare, and yet be compelled to refrain from snatching him back, or even pointing out the pitfall.

"Yes," went on Leonard, rather more gaily; "he was young and a Grantley. Here is the golden key still, thanks to Providence and an Israelite, and I'll no spill the brine,' as the Scotch say, just yet. And now to business. First, Bolton, who is it you are keeping all my pictures for?"

It was a random shot aimed at mere chance, but the bolt told.

"Eh—what?" replied the dealer, all the timidity down at the mere sound of the word—business.

"Buying 'em up for? Why for all sorts of people. There's my lord this and my lady that and the Honorable So-and-So, all clamoring for anything of yours and ready to pay for it, so of course I am selling 'em pretty fast."

"Oh!" said Leonard. "All right, I had an idea that you were buying for a single customer. I don't know how I got the idea, but it has gone now. I am glad they are anxious still, though I cannot paint just yet. Let me see, will you tell me what I have to do?"

"There's Lady March's landscape, Mr. Vencon's—the American millionaire, you know—little fancy portrait, and the river stetch for the Russian Prince."

Leonard sighed.

"Aye, and a dozen other schemes and plans floating in that busy brain of mine, and my two hands its tuelless!"

"Why don't you go out of town for a month or two," said Joseph Bolton, "the country is looking beautiful now, very beautiful; there'd be many a little bit of water and wood you could knock off hand, and you'd be all the better for the change, both in health and—"

"Money," said Leonard, as Joseph Bolton stopped. "No, no, I can't leave town just now. Yet, I wish I could," and he stopped for a moment to gaze out of the window. As he did so a handsome stanhope, drawn by a pair of splendid thorough-breds, dashed by in the road beneath. Seated in the carriages, surrounded like a wood nymph by a blaze of scarlet and muslin, was the heiress, Lillian Garton. She smiled sweetly as the artist bowed his head, and then was lost to sight.

Leonard turned from the window, a slight flush upon his handsome, youthful face.

"No, Bolton, I won't leave town, don't fear for me. I'll get to work directly—directly," and with those words he threw the saving rope aside and fell back into the sea of ruin, where hungry waves were surging nearer and nearer to enclose him in their deadly embrace.

Joseph Bolton sighed.

"Well, well," he said, "you say you'll work, it would be foolish of you if you didn't, now you've got all fair sailing before you; and I'll promise Lady March her little bit of forest by—when?"

"Oh, oh, I don't know," replied the young artist, carelessly; "tell her ladyship she shall have her picture as soon as—I can get it finished. (It is not commenced yet," he muttered, sotto voce.)

"See here," he exclaimed, throwing off his walking coat and snatching up his loose velvet painting jacket, "I'll set to work at once."

"That's right," said Bolton, cheerfully, putting his hat down and rubbing his hands. "Mr. Leonard, I never like to see you idle, it's bad for you. Inside the old rusty velvet jacket and lay hold of the brushes. When I see you standing before the easel with that dirty little meerschaum—you call it colored and so it is—a-smoking away like the first steam engine and your hand well in at a 'Dairy Maid,' or nursery picture, or mayhap a little bit o' wood, I say to myself:— There's the right man in the right place at the right work,' and the good old boy gave a low chuckle of satisfaction and handed the artist his palette.

"You are right, you are right," said Leonard, smiling at Bolton's earnestness; "and I am never so happy as when at the mill, but there is always something lately to take one off—now a ball, then a concert, here a conversazione, there a soiree, always something, Bolton. It's the penalty of a taste of success," sighed the young artist, as he added, "take the cover off and I'll set to work at once, and when you go—no, don't go yet—I'll lock the door, stick up 'Not at home' on the outside, and remain at my post for the rest of the day," and he walked towards the easel.

As he made the movement, there came floating up the air a snatch of the opera of "Faust," sung in a light tenor voice, and an instant after the door was opened softly, and Mr. Raymond Garton entered.

With a smiling nod to Bolton, who seemed mysteriously and unpleasantly influenced by the handsome Raymond's presence, he cried in his musical voice:—

"My dear, Leonard, shut yourself in a beautiful day like this! Mr. Bolton, it is weather so plentiful in this climate that any island of ours that you refrain from persuading Mr. Grantley to bask in our unwonted sunshine?" Then stopping short at the dumpy little figure of the patient Joseph, he thrust his hands in his pockets and said, sternly:—

"Bolton, I am a humbug! All the dreary years spent toiling up the hill, worked honestly with a will, now I'm half way up, I grow idle and extravagant, and all owing to fancy! I hear the stones I rest on rolling away beneath my feet. I can't work! I'm spoilt, I think by this sudden gush of wordly for une. I can't work!" And he fell to pacing the room again, not impatiently now, but sorrowfully, casting a glance of pain at his easel, with its gray covering of merino. "Surely some curse must be upon me," he continued, "I can't sketch a single figure or lay a brush full of color on, and, in short, Bolton, I am going all wrong."

The picture dealer half opened his mouth like a fish, then swallowed his coming words and contented himself with wiping his hat as usual.

"Ah, well!" continued Leonard, with a sigh, "needs must, I suppose, and the idle fit will die off, and then I shall get into harness and work as of old. Meanwhile here is the wherewithal for the day to live on," and he threw on the table a packet of crisp bank notes.

Watching every movement of the young artist with an almost painful earnestness, Joseph Bolton started as the notes fell on the table.

"Leonard!" he exclaimed, suddenly.

Leonard burst into a fit of laughter.

"No, Joseph Bolton, my friend, I have not stolen them; this is not the proceeds of a neat burglary or garotte."

"I—I didn't say it was," said the picture dealer, piteously.

"No, my friend, but you looked it. There are five hundred pounds procured for me by Mr. Garton, from that respectable Samaritan, Levi, the Jew."

The face of Joseph Bolton grew suddenly overcast as he listened and the unfortunate hat got more wiped than ever. It was hard lines to see a young friend walking with blinded eyes into the snare, and yet be compelled to refrain from snatching him back, or even pointing out the pitfall.

"Yes," went on Leonard, rather more gaily; "he was young and a Grantley. Here is the golden key still, thanks to Providence and an Israelite, and I'll no spill the brine,' as the Scotch say, just yet. And now to business. First, Bolton

NEW YORK CLIPPER.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1871.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

SUBSCRIPTIONS TO THE NEW YORK CLIPPER.

Single Copy	10 cents	Subscription per annum	$5 00
To Wholesale Dealers	6½ "	" for 6 months	2 50
To Retail Agents	"	" for 3 months	1 25

To Clubs of four or more, a deduction of 50 cents will be made from each annual subscription. Subscribers in Canada and the British Provinces, $1 per annum extra, to cover postage.

FRANK QUEEN, Sr., PROPRIETOR,
Corner of Centre and Leonard streets,
Box 3,960 New York P. O.

NOTICE.

☞ CORRESPONDENTS, advertisers, and all others writing in relation to matters connected with this or any other department of the CLIPPER are respectfully requested to address their favors to the editor and proprietor, and thereby avoid omissions, mistakes and confusion which are likely to occur when such communications are addressed to our assistants.

NOTICE.

☞ ADVERTISERS must hand in their favors before 6 o'clock on Monday evening, in order to have them appear in that week's issue.

To Correspondents.

☞ We never answer questions by mail. All addressed to us seeking information will be answered through this column only.

MANSFIELD, OF MIDDLETOWN.—The Stars having won two games in succession from your club, that settles the question as to which belongs the palm of superiority in playing a ball game in 1871. Doubtless your club is not much an "amateur" organization as the Stars, for both compensate their players and both take quite money receipts. The fact that the Mansfields belong to the Connecticut State Association makes them an association club. All clubs that belong to any base ball association, whether to the professional, the amateur, or a state association, are "association clubs." The only right the Stars have to decline your challenge is that based on the fact of their having already won the regular championship. You are mistaken in stating that a champion club must be always open for challenges. This is not so in base ball. After a club has won two games out of three in one season, that closes all regular contests together. At least, this is the rule with amateur clubs.

JACKSONVILLE.—All the Olympic games prior to July 15th, on which day Hull first became legally entitled to play in the Olympic grounds, were null and void according to the rules, and forfeited to the clubs they played with. Since that date the Chicago club have played five games with the Olympic, of which they won three by scores of 17 to 11, 27 to 6, and 19 to 11, losing two games of 19 to 25 and 18 to 21. They therefore won a legal series independent of the first five forfeited games. The first series was decided by the game at Chicago, August 10th. The second by the game in Washington, Sept. 2d.

THE QUEEN'S OWN REGIMENT, Aberdeen, Scotland, was opened for the season Aug. 26th, with "Arrah-na-Pogue." The company is as follows:—The Misses Jessie Warner, Mary Warner, Maggie Wilsone, Fanny Wilson, E. Mann, Mrs. Milward and Mrs. Ward; Messrs. J. Bracewell, G. R. Scudamore, T. Percival, H. Bertrand, T. Allwood, E. M. Robson, C. Levy, W. H. Harbourne, Bellingham, Porter and Edward Price. R. Barnet will be acting manager. F. W. Allwood is one of the orchestra, and C. Glover is machinist. F. Mann, property master; H. Pont, scenic artist.

EXHIBITION CONGRESS.—I. The "regular" games of the professional clubs are the five games of the championship, and these only are the "exhibition" games, and worthless either as trials of skill or contests as to which club shall win. 2. The championship series consists of five games, not three. The club winning three out of the five, however, is not obliged to play the second nine, but may, if it chooses so to do, as single games of the series of five constituting "regular" contests count in case of a tie on won match games, a "match" being three out of the five of the series.

KATIE ALONZO OF MONROE, MASS.—The manuscript of your poem was mailed to your address, as above, on the 8th inst. It had been filed for publication, but the crowded state of our columns interfered with the insertion. In the future please write us and we, for your own good, never to write another such ungentlemanly communication as that you sent to us. We do not believe you would care to see it published, with your name appended.

H. C. F. CALEB.—Either we cannot or will not answer a ball 136 yards. 3. George Wright batted a ball nearly 200 yards, at Indianapolis, in 1867. 4. Wm. B. Curtis, of the N. Y. Athletic Club, is said to have lifted 3,000 lbs. in harness: hand lift, 1,230 lbs. 5. The long-est standing jump on record is 13 ft. 9¾ in.; running, 20 ft. 7 in. 6. Not on record.

THE VICTORIA THEATRE, London, Eng., will pass out of existence on September 9th. The last two nights' performances will be given for the benefit of Mr. J. A. Cave, the leader. On Whit-Monday, 1818, the curtain rose for the first time, on a play entitled "Trial by Battle," and on the evening above named it was to have descended for the last time upon the same piece.

ARTHUR ORTEA, Pittsburgh, Pa.—There is no published work of the signs and gestures of pantomime, but there are printed books or MSS. of pantomimes to be had in which the action is described. The successful mastery depends upon his own knowledge of pantomimic art to properly express it.

DRAMATIST, Rochester, N. Y.—If the newspaper in which a story appears or the story itself is copyrighted, and a paragraph stating that the author reserves to himself the right of dramatization, you would have no right to dramatize it. Under any other circumstances any one can dramatize any story.

A. B., Toronto.—If the words "six mile course" were used at the time of making the bet, the understanding being that it was six bas, instead of nautical, then the bet should be drawn. If, however, it was simply stated that the race would be rowed in 40:30, or under, then the man who so bet loses.

JOHNNY HAZE, Boston.—If one of the principals wilfully impedes his opponent, by touching him in any way, he forfeits the stakes. If a runner is interfered with by an outsider, however, and thereby loses the race, it would not be just to decide against the other principal in the contest.

Y. B., Stillwater, Minn.—A loses both bets, as the best six mile time on record prior to that date was made by a crew composed of Robert Hilton, George Bubear, Samuel Hilton, Jr., and Robert Hilton, in Rice Lake, Wis., in 1866. It has never been equalled by any other crew.

B. D., JR., Old Mansfield.—We have not seen the score in question. They send home runs and figures of runs, not first base hits, total put out and times assisted. This shows the batting and fielding of each player in a match; runs earned shows the pitching and fielding errors the fielding of the nine.

MORTS.—If you have had no professional experience you could not command any salary and you will find it exceedingly difficult to get an opening. You had better seek an engagement to play utility business.

CHICAGO, Shreveport, La.—The rule as regards "pounding" is still in regular operation, but that respecting "hovelling" is never practiced, although it still exists. We have sent you a copy of the New York rules. Shall be glad to receive the report named.

BLINK ROMANY, Olneyville.—1. Kingfisher did not enter or start for the 2½ mile race at Saratoga, but his backer paid half forfeit on the bet of $5,000 between Longfellow and him. 2. Salina was not in the match.

DARBY LARK.—George M. Patchen's fastest mile in harness was 2:21¾, Union Course, L. I., Aug. 2, 1860, in a race against Flora Temple. Patchen won the first heat, and Flora the second, third, and fourth.

☞ "Journal of Commerce, New York; Public Ledger, Philadelphia; Herald, Boston; Tribune, Chicago; Courier and Requisite, Buffalo; Sun by News, Montreal, C. E.

H. F. S., Little Rock.—The first Lieutenant General of the U. S. Army was U. S. Grant. Scott was Lieutenant General by brevet only.

TOM O'LEARY, Natchez.—By no means. 311 feet 8 inches, solid stream, has been thrown by a steam fire engine, horizontally, 100 feet of hose, 1¾ inch nozzle.

TRENTONIAN, Trenton.—Bill Lang ran a mile, part down hill, in 4:39, at Newmarket, Eng. He and Richards ran a mile, level, in 4:37½, dead heat. These are his fastest times.

FRIEND.—Walter Brown defeated William Sadler on the Tyne, England, in 1869. Sadler was not champion of England, but is claimed as a third rate sculler only.

H. H. F.—1. Fleet is not eligible to play in any nine at present, as he revolves too much. 2. The Eckfords are in the championship series, but they can go with the pennant.

O. F. C., Troy.—1. McNulty and Geary have certainly not been engaged by the "Red." 2. The Haymakers have not engaged Cummings, nor are they likely to.

SUGAR LOAF.—If and C are both out if B was first touched and then C was put out at first base. But if C was first put out B was not out. This was answered last week.

J. L., Woodfield, Mass.—Miss Fanny Herring was born in London, Eng., April 6th, 1833, and made her debut at the Bowery Theatre, N. Y., during the season of 1849-50.

ACHILLES, Albany, N. Y.—You had better have your drama acted before you think of printing it, as it will cost you a great deal of money to print it.

JOHN CLARKE was the principal members of the Prince of Wales' Theatre company, London, Eng., were announced to commence a brief season in Liverpool, Eng., Sept. 4th.

H. M. MONTGOMERY still opens the Globe Theatre, London, Eng., Oct. 7th, and Miss Carlotta Addison is engaged. Mr. Compton, David Fisher, Miss Carlotta Addison and Miss Larkin.

MISS FANNY FAIRLEIGH, late of the Globe and Gaiety Theatres, London, died at Ramsgate, Eng., Aug. 18th, and was buried in the Catholic Cemetery on the 23d.

OLD SUBSCRIBER, Chicago.—We have more original poetry than we can find space for, and therefore must decline the "Corean Children."

J. F. TRACY, Boston.—1. We shall be glad to avail ourselves of your kind offer; the contribution sent will be presented next week. 2. That Haldon manuscript's issue evidently lies in the dusty bag.

J. B., Savannah.—It is both ungentlemanly and uncalled for to take the trump card and lay it on the table. After cutting the cards to your opponent, you have no right to touch them.

J. A. H., Millbury, Mass.—1. Their object appears doubtful. 2. The opinion is not very general, although some think that Sayers' death was accelerated by that event.

A. H. H., Keene.—1. Dexter's time, 2:17¼, is still a record for him, but it is not now the fastest, since Goldsmith Maid beat it. 2 Dexter's record was made in a match against time.

D. W., Auburn, N. Y.—Miss Minnie Warren is with the Tom Thumb Troupe in Europe, and she is no relation to Commodore Nutt.

P. S., New York.—1. A straight flush does not beat four aces, unless such an agreement is specially made before commencing to play. 2 Dexter is 13 years old.

SUBSCRIBER A.—As D bet that he was would be elected, and he was, of course he (D) won, regardless of the withdrawal of K's candidate.

DANDY, Zanesville, O.—There is such a man, who, for ought we knew to the contrary, is honest. See his advertisement in another column.

HENRY, Three Rivers, Ind.—B was trout before A, because, having made the two points he gave, he was not set back, and therefore his (B's) high went out before A's low.

WASHINGTON SPORT.—Dexter has no private record and his fastest public time is 2:17¼. He has trotted in 2:16, but that time does not go on the record, as it was a losing race.

H. D., Wilkesbarre.—A wins with his deuce and seven, which are high and low, notwithstanding his saying that a trump was out.

GREENVILLE.—If the judges declined to keep and record the time, at the request of the driver, they made themselves a party to contemplated fraud, but outside timing will not go on the record.

CALTHEA STREET, Baltimore.—Dexter's best time in public is 2:17¼, and has only been beaten by Goldsmith Maid, who last week made a record of 2:17.

S. A. MCF., Phila.—If will cost C $2 to straddle the blind of $10, and D $4 to ride. A will have to pay $5 to play; B, $7; C, $6, and D, $4.

YOUNG POKER PLAYERS, Rochester.—B's hand is foul and he cannot win with it, although he has the best hand with his four cards.

R. D., Taunton, N. J.—There is no official time taken in English racing, although in the principal races the turf reporters time them, but they seldom or ever agree with each other.

W. R. HAND, G. W. P., Brooklyn.—1. The goddess of liberty is the head on a half dollar. 2. A must name his distance when the forfeit is staked.

F. VALK.—A gentleman of honor would return the amount of the bet erratically awarded by the referee; although, of course, he is entitled to retain it if he feels disposed. We do not reply by mail.

A. S., Alexandria, Minn.—1. S. wins. Lady Thorn never broke in a race with a running mate. 2. Yes, they did. 3. No, they were not.

MANHATTAN, Fort Scott.—P can demand a sight for his $4.25, and C must put that amount down on the table.

J. H., Youngstown, O.—The next player must draw at muggins when the game is blocked.

CIVIS.—Seymour's majority over Grant in this state, in 1868, was exactly 10,000.

C. M., Paola, Kans.—Send $3 to Ed. James, 86 Centre street, and he will send you the American Hoyle.

NICODEMUS, Somerworth.—Three deuces beat three aces at poker dice.

J. P. L., Plum Creek Station.—No time is taken officially on the English turf.

J. J. D., St. Louis.—The original Flora Temple, of 2:19¾ celebrity, is still living, and had a foal to Lexington this year.

R. J. P.—The best mile time for running horses prior to the 19th inst. is 1:43, made by Salina and by Fadladeen.

SPOON OAR, Phila.—Apply to Stephen Roberts, whose advertisement appears in our columns.

W. M. P., Carlton, Ind.—He never killed 100 single birds in succession in a public match, we believe.

J. O. K., Chicago.—1. Patsy Reardon has been dead for some time, so your bet cannot be decided. 2 Don't know.

LANDRY, Nashville, Tenn.—Your intelligence is always too old. We want fresh, reliable news, with positive dates and route ahead.

FRANK ALBERTSON, Indianapolis, Ind.—We never answer questions concerning the private affairs of professional people.

J. K. L., Hickman.—We could address him in care of Newcomb & Arlington's Minstrels, Twenty-eighth street, this city.

J. B. AND P. M., New York.—The power of the referee still continues, even if the fight is postponed until the ensuing week.

MACK, Price Bluff, Ark.—Lard is not a necessary or even common ingredient of champagne cocktails.

S. H., Thompsonville, Conn.—1. He can play the six blank and take the double four. He must follow suit if he can.

CINCINNATI, West Elizabeth.—It would cost $21.67 to put one shoe on the horse.

LIGHTFOOT.—A dealer at euchre may not play a lone hand when his partner assists.

J. W. H., St. Louis.—Apply to Tom Allen, 417 Washington avenue, in this city.

J. W. H., Temperanceville.—All the stake becomes forfeit, and the party who refuses to run loses the $5.

BROOKLYN.—The challenge was for any sum from $1,000 up to $10,000.

BROOKLYNITE.—His decision has been given, and is, that the Paris crew, of St. John, are entitled to the stakes, of course.

ED. S., Sing Sing.—Dan Rice is proprietor of the Paris Pavilion Circus. Will answer your other question next week.

FREEMAN.—Yankee Sullivan's right name is said to have been Frank Ambrose.

DEUCE WILSON.—Aaron Jones was born March 1, 1833, and fought McCoole Aug. 31, 1867.

T. A.—We do not answer questions concerning the private affairs of professional people.

WEST PITTSBURGH.—If Smith interfered with Thompson, as you state, then the latter was entitled to the money.

FARMER.—London Eng., tonnage measurement of the yachts mentioned is as follows:—Dauntless, 367.9. O. M.; Sappho, 774.4, O. M.

CHESS, Mercer, Pa.—A player is entitled to queens for as many pawns as he may succeed in getting on the king row.

C. F. VASSEY, Mich.—1. Either will do. 2. If you can cover the distance you mention, you can readily find backers.

BOATMAN, Waltham.—Unless the bet was made play or pay, it is a draw.

C. K.—The Mutuals were defeated by the Red Stockings in 1869, by a score of four to two.

M. M. N., Boston.—The bet having been made play or pay, J. S. wins the money.

J. TAYLOR.—There was time allowance in the race for the Queen's Cup last year.

E. H. Friendship, Alleghany co., N. Y.—The ball played with is the trophy.

F. H. T., Oberlin, O.—The umpire was correct. The base bag is the base and not the post to which it is, or should be fastened.

A. R., Philadelphia.—The Rockford crew told us they had only played four games with the Atlantics, and won them all.

E. J. L.—McDevitt made the largest run in billiards in a match for money. Your other question we cannot answer.

DAUNTLESS, Harrisburg.—If the Tyrolean club belongs to the Pa. Association the latter organization can only play in both clubs.

WEST END HOTEL, Long Branch, N. J.—John Lester Wallack was born in the city of New York.

J. H. A., Kansas City, Mo.—G. D. Chaplin is engaged for the present season at Simpson's Museum, Philadelphia, Pa.

MRS. JOHN WOOD and her dramatic company were to have closed their season at the Alexandra Theatre, Liverpool, Eng., Sept. 2d.

J. L. TOOLE was announced to have played three nights at Limerick, Ireland, commencing Aug. 28th.

J. L. C., Chester Springs, Pa.—Thank you, but we cannot find room for the original matter we have on hand

C. L. P., Springfield, Mass.—The song will probably be given in our next.

JNO. M. H., Cincinnati.—We shall endeavor to make room for it in next week's CLIPPER.

CONSTANT READER, St. Louis, Mo.—Dexter Smith is the author of the song entitled "Put me in my Little Bed."

G. F. C., Rockport, Ill.—None of the dramatic agencies advertising in the CLIPPER charge a booking fee.

G. A. G., Cincinnati.—Keating but one point to go at All Fours, the dealer, by turning up Jack, goes out first.

CONSTANT READER, Helena, Montana.—Pearl street, N. Y., commences in State street and ends in Broadway.

JAS. BARRY, Indianapolis, Ind.—We have not the information. It is not always the amount of muscle which tells the tale.

Z. E. R., Toronto, C. W.—We refer you to the answer to another correspondent from your city.

J. C. MCB., California.—Address him a letter in care of this office, and you will probably learn his whereabouts.

BUTCHER BOY, Wilmington, Del.—B won precisely the amount A lost, viz., $10, as the more game has.

F. A. R., Fottsville, Pa.—Forty lines will cost six dollars for each insertion.

T. F. B., Utica.—Colombia is on the southern continent of America.

BALTIMORE.—1. If the Jack was turned before the misdeal was made, it is scored. 2. Louis is living and playing in New York.

O. W. NORTON, Ilion, N. Y.—We do not know. The game is obsolete now.

A READER, Penfield, N. Y.—1. Hatfield's throw was 156 yards. 2. The base bag is the base, and very properly so, too.

A SUBSCRIBER.—Once by the Athletics and twice by the Atlantics.

FRED., Deposit.—The Reds played two games with the Chicagos, in 1870 and have played two this season, and they lost all four.

A. S. W., Evansville, Ind.—McBride was never a member of the Atlantic club, nor Zettlein of the Athletics.

HERCULES.—It was a championship match, the fourth of the series.

O. M. W., JR., Chicago.—Will endeavor to give it an airing soon.

ENQUIRER, Cincinnati.—Send the bet to J. K. A., Kansas City.

W. S. F.—1. The scores are in. 2. Those games will not count.

Y. T.—Yankee Sul ivan's proper name was Frank Ambrose.

P. J. N. Y.—See base ball columns in this week's paper.

H. G. EDWARDS.—The advertisement costs ninety cents.

T. W. H.—Covent Garden bill received. Thank you.

J. E. F., Allegheny, Pa.—See answer to "Boatman."

BRUNSWICK.—The Tenth regatta of the Atlantic club.

H., Chicago.—Lady Thorn's fastest time is 2:18¼.

SHORT STOP, Chicago.—He offered to pay $50,000.

J. N. R., St. Louis, Mo.—Yes, to both questions.

H. G., Boonton.—Not quite up to the ash yard.

J. C., Wilmington, Del.—There is no such law.

W. E. S., Boston.—See reply to "Boatman."

BLIND, W. Va.—1. Newhall. 2. Billy Boyce.

M. L. AND S.—No, they did not.

JOE COBURN.—Three dollars.

S., Phila.—No record.

RACINE.—He was not.

F. D.—Ninety cents.

A CLOSE SHAVE.—Dexter, the King of the Trotting Turf, has been deposed, the reports from Milwaukee assuring us that Goldsmith Maid, in a race at that place on the 6th inst., trotted a mile in 2:17, eclipsing Dexter's best recorded time by a quarter of a second, which is cyphering things down very close. Some doubts having been expressed as to the course being a full mile, it was measured, and found to be sixty-nine feet over the mile. Efforts are also being made to rob the Maid of her laurels by statements to the effect that the time was not correctly kept, that the Maid must come to New York, and repeat the performance before the Milwaukee time will be credited. We presume that the gentlemen who timed the race are as worthy of belief as those who have timed other fast races; and as to coming to New York, we do not see that that would make any difference. Flora Temple made her best time at Kalamazoo; Dexter his best record at Buffalo; yet these flyers did not repeat their performances at New York, and the "country time" was accepted as correct. Why, then, ask of Goldsmith Maid what was not required of Flora Temple or Dexter? This is a fast and progressive age. "Time" does not stand still, and as the Maid has done a trifle better than Dexter, according to the record, so we may soon expect to see 2:17 thrown in the shade by some other flyer. Dexter will have to come forth from his retirement, and show us that he intends to make an effort to recover his laurels, for Mr. Bonner will not be likely to rest easy until the Maid's 2:17 is wiped off the record as the fastest mile time.

A NEW YORK OCULIST is credited with having charged a wealthy patient one thousand dollars for taking out an eye. One of our rough alleys would have taken it out just as clean for the one-hundredth part of that sum.

ASSASSINATION OF A GYMNAST.

On the evening of the 7th inst., another of those brutal murders which almost makes us forget we live in a civilized age and country, was committed in this city, the victim being David Dorian, the well known gymnast. The circumstances of the cowardly assassination are as follows:—About an hour after the conclusion of the Scottish Games at Jones' Woods, on Thursday, Sept. 7th, and while the dancing was going on, two unknown ruffians went up to a stand at which refreshments were sold, and called for some pie, which was furnished them by a young woman who was attending the stand; but when she asked for her pay the ruffians refused to hand out any money, an in addition commenced abusing the young woman shamefully, using the most disgraceful and opprobrious language. The husband of the young woman, David Dorian, Frank Raymond, and William Robb, who stepped up and remonstrated with them. One of the fellows, without replying, turned suddenly and drawing a large dirk knife, before any one could interfere, made a lunge with it at Dorian, striking him in the right breast. Both the ruffians then fled, and owing to the darkness and confusion, succeeded in making their escape. Dorian did not discover that he had been stabbed, until nearly ten minutes had elapsed, when he suddenly became faint, and reeling, fell into the arms of his friends. He was taken to the bar-room of the hotel on the grounds, and on opening his vest it was found that the knife had been sharp, and had entered his chest. Drs. Hutchinson and Swann, who happened to be near by, were called to attend him, and they at once pronounced the wound to be of a fatal nature. A stretcher was procured, and the dying man was taken up carefully and removed to the Fort Forty-ninth street police station, but death occurred before the police had reached the station.

Mr. Dorian was everywhere known as a remarkably quiet, civil and well-behaved young man—he was widely known among the gymnasts throughout the country, and believed to have lifted the heaviest dumb bell of any man in the world. He occasionally appeared in public, and gave his exhibition of strength with heavy dumb bells at one of the testimonials to Ed. James, some years ago, at the City Assembly Rooms. Mr. D., we believe, was formerly a member of Company B, 13th Regiment, N. Y. S. M. His funeral, which was one of the largest we ever witnessed, took place from his father's residence, No. 171 Delancey street, on Sunday, Sept. 10th. The remains were followed to their last resting place by the P. J. McLaughlin and delegates of the different Shandley Associations. Who the murderer was remains a mystery.

NEWS OF THE WEEK BOILED DOWN.

☞ The Republican Committee of England issued a party programme on Sept. 6th, which embraces the following principles:—The application of the principle of federation to the Kingdom; the abolition of titles and privileges; the suppression of monopolies; the abolition of standing armies; compulsory education; the state to provide work for these laborers who are able to work, and sustenance for those who are incapacitated from work; the nationalization of land; popular legislation, and the diffusion of republicanism.

☞ A series of bold outrages have recently been perpetrated upon American commerce by Mexicans in the Gulf, the last of which is reported as follows:—On Aug. 27th the American bark Brothers was attacked by a party of armed Mexicans, off Santa Anna bar, when the captain and crew, after fighting valiantly, were compelled to take to the boat, and the Mexicans took the vessel into Ge harbor. The captain and crew were afterwards picked up by the American bark Harvest Home.

☞ A telegram dated London, Eng., Sept. 4th, reports the following disasters:—The bark Fernandina capsized in a gale off the English coast, and all on board were lost; the brig Peacock capsized off Shields and all the crew were drowned, and a fishing schooner foundered on Sept. 3d in Pentland Firth, when five persons were lost.

☞ An injunction was granted on September 7th, by Judge Barnard, on application made through counsel by John Foley, against the Comptroller and other city authorities of New York, restraining them from raising or disbursing money on behalf of the City and County.

☞ Advices from St. Thomas via Havana, Cuba, Sept. 5th, report the loss of the American brig Julia E. Carney and the bark Duke of Wellington, from Cork, crew of latter arrived from Antigua state that the English vessels, Harriet Douglas and Westward, and the Italian ship Hero were also lost in the hurricane.

☞ An explosion occurred at the Maumee Valley Flouring Mills, at New Haven, Indiana, on September 7th, by which the proprietors, Charles and Lewis L. Epper, brothers, and A. B. Corr, engineer, were instantly killed and three other persons seriously injured. The mill was damaged to the extent of $12,000.

☞ An atrocious murder was committed in Jones' Wood, this city, on Sept. 7th. David Dorian and several other gentlemen were remonstrating with two ruffians who were creating a disturbance, when one of them stabbed Dorian in the breast and he died in a few minutes.

☞ The following changes in the Italian Ministry were announced on Sept. 6th:—Sig. Visconzi enters the Cabinet as Minister of Public Works, vice Sig. Giadda appointed Prefect of Rome. Sig. Ribotti to the Ministry of Marine, as successor of Rear Admiral Acton.

☞ The trial of the female incendiaries was concluded at Versailles, France, on Sept 5th. Four were sentenced to suffer death, one to imprisonment in a fortress, and one to ten years' solitary imprisonment.

☞ A citizens' meeting was held at Cooper Institute, this city, on Sept. 6th, for the purpose of considering the charges recently made against the city officials. A committee of seventy prominent citizens was appointed to investigate the matter.

☞ Advices from Arequipa via Havana, Sept. 4th, report a fearful hurricane on Aug. 22d, in the Bahamas. The American vessels C. D. Rulre, C. V. Williams and Carolina, and the English vessels Lacy Bird and Nellie Mowe were wrecked. All hands were saved.

☞ A band of armed and masked men attempted to take a desperado named Hanna, at Bloomfield, Mo., on Sept. 3d, when Hanna and his friends defended themselves and killed three of the band, whose names are Brown, Dobbs and Drummonds.

☞ The Iron Makers' National Association held a secret session in Philadelphia, Pa., on Sept. 8th, for the purpose of forming a national association in conjunction with the Iron Manufacturers' Association.

☞ A telegram dated London, Eng., Sept. 8th, states that the foot and mouth disease is spreading alarmingly among the cattle in Warwickshire, and a storm has caused great damage to buildings and crops in the Malton district in Yorkshire.

☞ A railroad accident occurred at Mannulan Chunk, on the New Jersey Central Railroad on September 6th, by which three men were killed and three injured. Part of a train became detached and ran into a coal train.

☞ Count Trauimansdorf, an adherent of the new church party, has superseded Count Arnis, the Catholic representative from Baden at Rome, and the nomination causes much discontent in the Vatican.

☞ The steamer Norwalk, plying between this city and Coney Island, met with an accident in the bay on Sept. 10th, by which the machinery and the fires were disabled, but, luckily, no lives were lost. It is supposed that the crosshead broke, and the piston, striking too far up, tore the rest of the machinery to pieces.

☞ A Berlin newspaper states that the results of the negotiations at Salzburg between Austria and Germany, repudiating aggressive ideas, will unite closely to repel aggression. Germany wishes Austria to be strong, and the Austrian Emperor and statesmen desire union with Italy.

☞ A dispatch dated Rome, Sept. 9th, says that the Alfeir Society threatens to burn the Vatican. Precautions have been taken against such a crime; but in case such an attempt should be made, and anarchy ensue, the Pope's residence will be protected by the flags of the foreign ambassadors.

☞ A terrible explosion occurred in a coal mine near Wigan, Eng., on Sept. 8th, by which 69 lives were lost.

☞ The Rhode Island State Normal School was opened in Providence on Sept. 6th.

☞ George Roberts was knocked down by George Farnwell, in Philadelphia, Pa., on Sept. 8th, and died shortly afterwards.

☞ A horse railroad from Blackfriars, London, Eng., to Greenwich, was opened on Sept. 6th.

☞ The Anti-dram-shop Convention met at Syracuse, N. Y., on Sept. 6th, and nominated a state election ticket.

☞ Dr. Karl Marx, the leading spirit of the International Society, died in London, Eng., on Sept. 8th.

☞ Governor Leslie, of Kentucky, was inaugurated at Frankfort, on Sept. 8d.

☞ The Legg & Co's woolen mill in Mapleville, R. I., was burned on Sept. 3d. Loss $100,000.

☞ A serious railway accident occurred in northern France on Sept. 4th. Ten persons were killed and several wounded.

☞ The next annual meeting of the American Women's Suffrage Association will be held in Philadelphia, Pa., on Nov. 22d and 23d.

☞ McNeale and Urban's safe and lock factory, at Cincinnati, O., was burned on Sept. 8th. Loss $30,000.

☞ Philip Rupert was shot dead, and two others were wounded, in a fight at the Republican meeting at Chico, Cal., on Sept. 2d.

☞ A widow named Finley, supposed to be insane, murdered her three children at Wabash, Ind., on Sept. 7th.

☞ Telegraphic advices report that the cases of cholera in North Germany are diminishing greatly.

☞ The last of the Lower California colonists arrived at San Francisco, Cal., on Sept. 9th, from Magdelena Bay. Fifty out of the 325 colonists landed there died of heat, thirst and disease.

☞ Michael Mullen, of Palmesdale, Pa., was run over and killed by a train near Lawrence station, Trenton, N. J., on Sept. 7th.

☞ The American Institute Fair was opened at the Rink on Third avenue, this city, on September 7th.

☞ Joseph Ischeider was fatally stabbed in the abdomen by a boy named James McGuen in Pearl street, this city, on Sept. 7th.

☞ A telegram dated Amsterdam, Sept. 7th, reports the loss of the steamer Leader, from Danzig for that port, with all on board.

☞ An affray between Roman Catholics and Protestants occurred at Portadown, Ireland, on Sept. 7th, but no lives were lost.

☞ The Northern Mills, Milwaukee, Wis., were partly destroyed by fire on Sept. 8th. Loss $4,000.

☞ Gen. Rossel has been sentenced by the Versailles court martial to military degradation and death.

☞ Charles Wiseman was killed on Sept. 8th, by falling from the stoop of a house in Fifty-eighth street, this city, into the area.

☞ Judge William Livingston committed suicide at Virginia City, Nev., on Sept. 7th, in consequence of financial difficulties.

☞ Susan Watts committed sui ide, by asking laudanum, at Newburg, N. Y., on Sept. 8th.

☞ A telegram dated Paris, Sept. 8th, states that the insurrection in Algeria has been subdued.

☞ Thomas McDonald and James Ellis were drowned by the capsizing of a sailboat at Halifax, N. S., on Sept. 7th.

☞ John Ryan, while confined in a cell at Paterson, N. J., on Sept. 7th, was killed by the cell falling on him.

☞ The corner stone of the State Normal School, at Kirksville, Mo., was laid on Sept. 6th.

☞ The Carbon il Works, at Hamilton, Ont., Canada, were destroyed by fire on Sept. 7th. Loss, $40,000.

☞ Mary Hartze, a married German woman, committed suicide because of domestic infelicity, in Brooklyn, N. Y., on Sept. 11th.

☞ A fire on Water street, Chicago, Ill., on Sept. 10th burned a barn and several valuable horses. Loss $12,000.

☞ John C. Edwards, aged 44, committed suicide by shooting himself at No. 110 Macdougal street, this city, on Sept. 10th.

☞ Talbot P. Greene, aged 16, was drowned while sailing in Narragansett Bay, near Wickford, on Sept. 6th.

☞ The junction railroad shops at Cambridge City, Ind., were burned on Sept. 7th. Loss $75,000.

☞ The Academy of Music and a block of ten stores at Bloomington, Ill., was destroyed by fire on Sept. 10th. Loss about $300,000.

☞ One third of the whole Virginia state debt, over fifteen million dollars, has been funded.

☞ Nixon & Co.'s foundry and Hopper & Co.'s malt houses, at St. Louis, Mo., were burned on Sept. 9th. Loss, $55,000.

☞ Benjamin Draper, an engineer, shot and killed Vincent Dougherty, a colored sweep, at Newtown, Colorado, on Sept. 9th.

☞ Tomm & Co's bucket factory, in St. Louis, Mo., was destroyed by fire on Sept. 9th. Loss $60,000.

☞ Henry Cortes, residing near Oakland, Cal., caught a Chinaman digging his potatoes on Sept. 9th, and shot him dead.

☞ George Greenfield, a resident of Rochester, N. H., committed suicide by shooting himself on Sept. 9th.

☞ Five prisoners escaped from the jail at Salem, N. J., on Sept. 8th, while being brought from their cells to dinner.

☞ The submarine telegraph cable connecting Hong Kong and Shanghae, China, has broken.

AQUATIC.

THE SARATOGA INTERNATIONAL REGATTA.

THE WARD BROTHERS WIN THE FOUR-OARED RACE.

GREAT EXCITEMENT ON THE RESULT

Time, 24 Minutes 40 Seconds.

SADLER WINS THE SINGLE SCULL RACE.

Contrary to expectations, we are unable to give a detailed report of the great four-oared race at the Saratoga International Regatta, because of the postponement thereof on Saturday, Sept. 9th, the day originally fixed for it, to Monday, the 11th inst., the day on which we go to press. We must content ourselves, therefore, with giving particulars as especially telegraphed to the CLIPPER. The assembly at the lake on Saturday was immense, the roads leading thereto from every direction having been perfectly covered with travelers, including pedestrians and equestrians in every kind of vehicle, from an early hour in the morning up to the hour for the start, which was to have been 4 P. M. The day was all that could be desired, a shedding forth his brightest rays, but a southwesterly breeze prevailed unfortunately to such an extent that the outer stake-boats were loosened from their positions, and it soon became evident that there could be no race that day for such fragile shells, consequently manager John Morrissey, by force of circumstances, was compelled to announce a postponement till Monday, at which time a much larger assembly, if the latter could be possible, is expected.

The Saratoga Regatta, the most fashionable assemblage, not a few of whom dealt out anathemas against Old Boreas for such an extravagant use of his lungs.

As the hour approached on Monday for another attempt to start, quite a large assembly was on hand, but not so numerous or so brilliant as on Saturday. The water, fortunately, was much smoother, and in splendid condition, and in due season the several crews showed themselves on the lake in their several boat craft, prepared for

THE START.

After backing and filling for some minutes to get bow and bow, they got placed in the following order:—The Tyne crew, first; Biglin crew, second; Taylor crew, third; Poughkeepsie crew, fourth; Mckee crew, fifth, and Ward crew, sixth. At the word "go" the Wards were first, and showed two or three feet ahead, when the Wards passed, and in five strokes were half a length ahead. Three hundred yards away they were a length before the Biglins, who led the Taylor crew a few feet in the lead, the latter crew being followed by the Tynes. The Tyne crew had to row through each grass for several hundred yards, and dropped two lengths behind the Taylor, but made up after getting into clear water. The Wards led two lengths and a half after pulling three quarters of a mile, and turned the stake-boat first, the latter crew being followed by the Biglins, Tynes and Taylor, simultaneously, the Biglins, straightening up after turning, a third length in front. The Wards maintained their lead home, the contest for second place being very close between the Biglins, Tyne and Taylor crews for a mile, when the latter drew in front, and maintained her water as they reached home, they spurted up to fairly within three strokes, but failed to catch the Wards, who won by a length and a half, the Biglins being beaten by a length in four per minute all through, the winning time being twenty-four minutes forty seconds. The Biglin and Taylor crews followed at regular intervals, the former crew—a quarter of a length ahead of the Poughkeepsie four, with a long interval behind, and the McKee last. Scharff and Denmarsh having broken sliding seats. Taylor claimed foul, saying that the Biglins twice crossed his bow, but decided not to protest, and the latter claimed that the bows of the boats were even at the finish, Morrissey, the referee, after deciding against the foul, ordered them to row over for the third money at two o'clock, or offered to add three hundred dollars to the second prize, which was declined and seventy-five, as Sadler, of the Taylor crew, refused to row unless the single scull race was postponed until Tuesday, and Kaye, of the Biglin crew, refused to pull at all, saying that they had won the money fairly, which they did.

In the pool betting before the start the Taylor crew were the favorites; the Ward's second; Tyne third and Biglin fourth. Committee on the course—Judge Ed. Hogeboom, and by Joseph J. Walton, of the Newcastle, Eng., Chronicle, for the English, and John Morrissey, referee.

The victory thus won by the Wards, showing that the Americans are able to contend successfully with counties on their own soil with the oar as with the canvas, of course elicited intense enthusiasm from their friends and the public generally, and numerous hurrahs went up on their account, although the Englishmen and Biglin crew also came in for a share of the former's cheers, as was given in last week's CLIPPER, except the Wards', it is superfluous to repeat them here. We here append, therefore, the history of the winners only:—

THE WARD BROTHERS.

JOSHUA, who occupies the midship-aft seat, demands our attention first, as he is the most renowned of the family, having held the championship of the United States for years and years, and is still unsurpassed in rowing a five mile race. He is a native of Newburgh, N. Y., where he was introduced to the world on the 11th of May, 1835, being now in his thirty-fourth year, while his height is six feet, and weight about 170 pounds. He first took to the art of rowing matches on the Hudson river, in the vicinity of his home, but the first single scull race of which there is any record of his being engaged in, occurred on the 5th of September, 1856, when he rowed against John Lawrence, two miles, and secured the victory. On the 20th of September, 1859, he appeared in a regatta at Newburgh, defeating Hanson and others, distance 4½ miles. Not long afterwards he appeared at a regatta at Poughkeepsie, five miles, for a champion belt. This was Ward's greatest achievement, he completing the distance in the unprecedentedly fast time of thirty-five minutes and ten seconds, which has never since been equalled. His competitors were Hanson, Wm. Elliott and John Hanson. On the 12th of October, 1860, Josh won a scullers' race at Albany, and soon afterwards his friends offered to match him against the then celebrated Bob Chambers, champ inninst, the Clevelands were put out in one, two, three order, at first base, through the good fielding of Reach and Radcliff, and the Athletics earned one run in the latter's absence. Sutton made a magnificent hit down in the left field fence for three bases in the fifth innings of the Cleveland, and Pratt followed with an equally as fine hit in the same direction for two bases, and two runs were scored, Reach giving one by a badly muffed grounder of Kimball's. The Athletics then went to the bat, and finished Pratt's pitching for four runs, three of which were earned, Johnson giving Tom Pratt a life in the sixth innings both clubs were again disposed of for blanks in one, two, three order, and the Clevelands cheered the same fate in the seventh innings, although Sutton had reached his third after Tom Pratt had given him a life, and he might have scored a run on Johnson's hit, which Pratt badly missed, but Johnson, thinking that he was sure to be caught out, neglected to run to first base, and in consequence was easily put out at that point. The Athletics made four runs in the seventh innings, Cuthbert inviting the only one earned, after getting to second on a fine left field hit. Sutton made a wild throw in this innings and Vale missed a catch that allowed Bechtel and Wisler to score. The game was now called by mutual consent, the victory remaining with the Athletics by a score of 13 to 9. The Athletics' batting was much superior to that of their opponents', the fielding being about equal, the most noticeable features being the fine play of Fisler at first base and John White as catcher. The following is the score of the game, which was impartially umpired by Mr. Ferguson.

Forest City.	AB.	R.	1B.	PO.	A.	Athletic.	AB.	R.	1B.	PO.	A.
J. White, c	4	1	2	4	0	Cuthbert, r. f	4	2	1	1	0
Fisler, 1st b	4	1	0	6	0	Bechtel, p	4	2	2	0	4
Allison, c. f	4	1	0	1	0	Radcliff, c. f	4	1	2	0	0
Darlton, 1st b	4	1	0	0	1	Malone, c	4	2	1	1	1
Sutton, 3d b	4	1	2	0	0	Fisler, 1st b	4	1	1	9	0
T. White, r. f	4	1	1	4	1	Reach, 2d b	4	0	2	3	4
Johnson, 2d b	4	1	1	4	1	Sensenderfer, c. f	4	1	2	0	0
Pratt, p	3	2	2	0	3	Pratt, 3d b	4	2	2	0	3
Kimball, s. s	3	0	0	2	1	Heubel, r. f	4	1	1	0	0
Total	34	9	8	21	9	Total	36	11	12	21	13

Innings.	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th
Runs Scored.	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th
Forest City	1	0	0	2	1	0	0	0	0—8
Athletic	0	2	0	1	4	0	0	4	0—11

Runs Earned.

Forest City	1	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	0—2
Athletic	0	2	0	1	2	0	0	2	0—7

Base on called balls—Allison, 1. Bases on errors—Forest City, 3 times; Athletic, 4 times. Umpire—R. Ferguson, of the Mutuals, of N. Y. City. Time of game—1 hour 50 minutes.

PUTNAM vs. NASSAU, OF BROOKLYN.

The first game of the series arranged to be played on the Capitoline ground this week, was played on Sept. 11th, the result being as follows:—

Putnam.	R.	1B.	P.O.	A.	Nassau.	R.	1B.	P.O.	A.
Stiron, 1st b	2	1	13	0	Smith, c	0	0	5	2
Bunting, c. f	1	0	2	0	Connelly, 2d b	0	0	4	3
Dakin, r. f	0	0	0	0	Travers, r. f	1	0	0	0
King, l. f	1	1	0	0	Roberts, s. s	0	1	0	2
Bowker, 2d b	2	1	4	1	Barnle, 1st b	0	0	6	0
Hardnut, c	1	1	1	2	Palmer, 3d b	0	0	0	1
Lenwey, p	3	3	3	5	Fish, l. f	1	1	6	0
Lawler, 3d b	2	1	2	0	West, c	0	1	3	0
Bowdoin, s. s	1	1	2	6	Brunell, p	1	1	0	0
Totals	13	9	27	14	Totals	3	3	27	9

Innings.	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th
Putnam	3	2	0	0	1	0	2	1	0—13
Nassau	0	1	2	0	1	0	0	1	0—7

First base by errors—Putnam, 7; Nassau 5. Runs earned—Putnam, 1; Nassau, 2. Total fielding errors—Putnam, 11; Nassau, 15. Umpire—Mr. A. Smith, of the Amity Club. Time of game—One hour and fifty minutes.

STAR vs. ATLANTIC.

These clubs played the first game of an exhibition series together on Sept. 9th on the Capitoline grounds, L. I., the result of which was the defeat of the Atlantics. The first two games of the regular series were won by the Atlantics. The score:—

Stars.	R.	1B.	P.O.	A.	Atlantic.	R.	1B.	P.O.	A.
Rogers, r. f	2	2	10	0	M. Donald, r. f	1	2	3	0
Worth, l. f	4	3	1	0	Remsen, l. f	2	1	2	0
Dollard, c	2	2	1	0	Murdock, c	2	2	7	1
Clyne, 1st b	3	3	1	0	Dehlman, 1st b	3	3	14	0
M. Rogers, 3d b	3	2	3	0	Boyd, 3d b	1	0	1	3
Bevans, c. f	3	3	4	3	Kenny, c. f	0	1	0	0
Jackson, p	1	3	4	2	Malone, p	1	0	1	2
Cumming, s. s	3	2	1	1	Mann, s. s	1	0	3	4
Barlow, 2d b	3	3	3	5	Clinton, 2d b	1	1	3	4
Totals	24	23	27	11	Totals	11	10	27	16

Innings.	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th
Stars	2	0	0	4	2	3	0	7	6—24
Atlantics	4	0	1	1	0	1	0	0	5—11

Runs earned—Stars, 4; Atlantic, 1. Umpire, Mr. Proctor, of the Athletic Club. Time of game—1 hour and 55 minutes.

VOLUNTEER vs. LONE STAR.

These clubs, the former of Poughkeepsie, and the latter of Catskill, N. Y., played their first match of a series for the championship of Hudson river, at Catskill, on Aug. 23th, which the Volunteers won by a score of 12 to 9. On Sept 7th they played the second at Poughkeepsie, of which we append the score:—

Volunteers.	O.	R.	Lone Stars.	O.	R.
Finch, s. s	3	4	Day, s. s	3	3
Dorland, r. f	5	2	Tolley, 1st b	0	0
Wier, 1st b	2	3	Pease, c. f	3	3
Stoddard, 2d b	3	2	Barlow, c	4	3
Conklin, 2d b	3	2	Layman, l. f	3	2
Kinnane, c. f	4	3	Burns, 2d b	3	2
Robson, c	1	1	Wilcox, r. f	3	1
Osborne, p	2	5	Cornwall, p	3	2
Schouten, l. f	4	3	Powers, 3d b	3	1
Total	34		Total	34

Innings.	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th
Volunteers	1	4	3	3	0	3	0	1	1—24
Lone Stars	4	1	0	2	3	0	1	0	0—24

Fly catches—Volunteers, 8; Lone Stars, 7. Fly misses—Volunteers, 4; Lone Stars, 8. First base hits—Volunteers, 37; Lone Stars, 18. Total base hits—Volunteers, 48; Lone Stars, 20. Double plays—Conklin, 1. Home runs—Volunteers, 6; Lone Stars, 3. Umpire—A. Linsley, Poughkeepsie. Scorers—Messrs. Van Keuren and Smith.

KENTUCKY vs. RIVERSIDE.

The latter club, of Louisville, Ky., and the former, of Evansville, Ind., played a match at Evansville, on the 4th inst., of which we regret having room only for the score:—

Kentuckys.	O.	R.	Riversides.	O.	R.
Richardson, c	2	4	Miller, 2d b	3	3
Rushbrook, c. f	2	3	Roach, s. s	6	1
Durning, r. f	5	2	Johnson, 1st b	6	3
Smith, s. s	1	0	Boicourt, l. f	4	2
W. Haldeman, 1st b	4	0	Hoffman, r. f	2	4
Boro 3d b	2	4	Eastham, p	3	2
Manair, 2d b	3	3	Booth, c	3	4
Johnston, p	1	4	Foster, c. f	4	2
J. Haldeman, l. f	5	0	Gwathmey, 3d b	2	3
Total	13		Total	7	25

Innings	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th
Kentuckys	0	0	4	1	1	6	3	0	3—18
Riversides	3	0	0	4	1	1	6	3	0—18

Put out on bases—Kentuckys, 10; Riversides, 9. Put out on three strikes—Kentuckys, 3; Riversides, 1. Put out on foul fly—Kentuckys, 2; Riversides, 5. Put out on fair fly—Kentuckys, 7; Riversides, 3. Put out on foul bound—Kentuckys, 4; Riversides, 3. Run out—Kentuckys, 1; Riversides, 0. Left on bases—Kentuckys, 4; Riversides, 3. Home runs—Richardson, 1; Miller, 1. Scorers—J. E. Root, K. B. B. C., and Will H. Hugo, R. B. B. C. Umpire—L. S. Saner, R. B. B. C. Time of game—3 hours.

BREVITIES.—The Oceans, of Brooklyn, defeated the Cambrias of Providence, at the latter place, on the 30th ult., by a score of 39 to 13.....The Riverside club, of Evansville, Ind., defeated the Kentucky nine of Louisville, at the former place, on Sept. 4th, by a score of 25 to 18. The two clubs had a grand supper at night.....The Volunteers, of Poughkeepsie, defeated the Lone Stars, of Catskill, at Poughkeepsie Sept. 7th, by a score of 33 to 20, thereby winning the Hudson River championship..... The Centrals, of Plainfield, N. J., visited the Capitoline grounds Sept. 8th, and won a ball from the New York Union Stars, by a score of 27 to 21. Fleet was roped in by the Stars under a false name.....The Tyrolean, of Harrisburg, defeated the Friendship, of Reading, lately, by a score of 18 to 15, at Harrisburg, Pa..... The second game of a series between the Amity and Riverside for the junior championship, played Sept. 4th, on the Capitoline grounds, resulted in favor of the Amity, by a score of 31 to 16..... The Monitks and Sphynxs, of New York, played a close and exciting game at Jersey City, Sept. 4th, which resulted in favor of the Monitks by a score of 9 to 7.....On August 31st, the Dauntless (juniors), of New York city, went to Haverstraw and defeated the Sparkill (amateurs), of that place, by a score of 26 to 2..... The Cincinnati Amateurs, on the 1st, defeated a picked nine at La Grange, Ky., 64 to 3 .....The Owls, composed of the printing telegraphers, succeeded in getting a ball from the Typo club, in Cincinnati, on the 6th, by the close score of 25 to 24..... The concluding game of the series between the Express and Hardware nines, of Cincinnati, resulted in favor of the former, by a score of 15 to 13, the Express thus winning the series..... The Uniques, of Chicago, defeated the Enterprise, of Baltimore, Sept. 5th, by 49 to 18.

THE GOLDIE BENEFIT GAME.—The prospect is that the series of contests arranged for the benefit of the widow and children of John Goldie, will prove of considerable pecuniary advantage to the family, as, from the arrangements made, two or three excellent contest will be played. Besides the match, Atlantic vs. Mutuals—nines of 1870—the game between the Mutual and Union nines of 1869 promises to be very attractive. Mr. Sweeny gives the following list of the Union players, all of whom will take part in the game of the 23d inst.:—Fabor, pitcher; Birdsall, catcher; Wright, short stop; Bellan, 3d base; Martin, 2d base; Shelly, left field; Austin, centre field; Beales right field; Smith, 1st base; with Reynolds and Gedney as substitutes.

THE RING.

O'BALDWIN'S TRAVELS AND FUTURE INTENTIONS.—From the subjoined letter from Ned O'Baldwin, the Waterford Giant, it will be seen that he is making hay while the sun shines and hasn't forgotten the old score with Mister Mace:—

ST. PAUL, MINN., August 29, 1871.

FRANK QUEEN, Esq.—DEAR SIR.—I have been traveling up the River from St. Louis in company with Jim Kelly. We showed in Hannibal, Mo., Keokuk, Burlington, and Dubuque, Iowa; Lacrosse, Wis.; Minneapolis, Stillwater, and St. Paul, Minn., and were treated very kindly and showed to good houses in all the above places. We intend starting from here for Sioux City, then overland to California, taking in all towns on our route. We wont stay a great while in California. We are coming back in time to see Mace and Coburn fight and I want to remind Mr. Mace not to forget me. I want to get into that 24-foot ring very bad with Mr. Mace; that is, after his affair with Joe Coburn is settled. I will talk to him.

Very respectfully, yours, EDWARD O'BALDWIN.

HARRY HILL'S.—The proprietor of this widely-known concert room, where fun galore can always be had, celebrated the enlargement of his establishment by a house warming on the afternoon and evening of Tuesday, Sept. 5th, when his patrons rallied 'round, joining in the festivities, and making sad havoc with the slam chowder there and then provided for hungry mortals, without money and without price. Harry's domain has certainly been improved by the additions made, while extra attractions have been provided for the entertainment of visitors. Besides the variety show, embracing minstrelsy, magic, burlesque, etc., there is a museum of living animals open to inspection. A matinee is given every Thursday afternoon, and on the 14th inst. the favorite bind vocalist, Mrs. Kerrigan, will be tendered a benefit.

CARR TO O'CONNOR.—Dan Carr writes to us under date of Aug. 29th, from Manistee, Mich., saying that he is running a variety show in that town and requesting Red-Handed Mike to draw up articles to fight at the same place they fought before.

WE HAVE LETTERS for Arthur Chambers, the Hon. John Morrissey, John Goulding, Ned O'Baldwin and Patrick Sheppard.

THE TRIGGER.

BOGARDUS VS. WARD.—The backer of Capt. A. H. Bogardus, the celebrated western pigeon shot, writes to us as follows:—

GENESEE, Ill., Aug. 30th, 1871.

MR. FRANK QUEEN.—DEAR SIR.—I will back A. H. Bogardus against James Ward, to shoot at 100 single black birds each, for $500 a side, in cold, and will allow Ward to Buffalo and shoot the match, if Ward will furnish the birds for the match, $50 trial birds for Bogardus. I will deposit $250 with Mr. R. Newell, as a forfeit for the match as soon as Ward wants to shoot a black bird match, the 20th of Sept., and he may name any day in Oct. to shoot the match by giving a reasonable notice. Yours truly,

NATHAN DERBY.

SPRINGFIELD RIFLE CLUB.—The annual meeting of this organization was held at their grounds, Springfield, Mass., on Sept. 5th and 6th. The gold medal for the best thirty shots was won by W. W. Wetmore, of that city. John Williamson, of New York, was re-elected president, and D. A. Brown, of Jamaica Plains, treasurer and secretary.

PEDESTRIANISM.

A MILE FOOT RACE came off at the Central Agricultural Grounds, Trenton, N. J., on Aug. 28th, the entries being Thomas Curran, John Bradley and W. S. Preston. The latter won, Bradley second. The prize was $35, and the time 5:17½. A one hundred yards spin followed, between Vanhorn and Sweatman, for $20, the former winning by twelve feet.

SHARLES VS. MAY.—These old opponents have been matched to jump for $1,000 a side, standing jump, level, ten feints each, at Titusville, Pa., on Sept. 14th. The match was made at Olean, and Chas. Knox, of that place, is stakeholder. The champion was to leave Wing Sing for Titusville on the 8th inst.

A BEAUTIFUL THOUGHT.—How often is our path through life crossed by some being whose spirit bright flashes o'er our minds a passing gladness, but whose course on life's uncertain stream tends down another current, never more to blend with ours. Yet her within the soul, 'mid the rushing tumult of a busy world, lives many a scene thought that loves to linger round that fair image passed away.—C. AMORY BRUCE.

BILLIARDS.

A BILLIARD MATCH has been made between Daley and Garnier, they having mutually agreed upon Mr. G. E. Reynolds for stakeholder. Maurice Daley, of this city, and Albert Garnier, of Chicago, have each deposited with the first named gentleman $200, to bind a home-and-home match for $500 a side, each game—6,000 ball, 1,500 points on a Phelan & Collender 6½x11 four pocket table. The first game is to be played in Chicago, the last of this month, and the second in this city, thirty days later.

GOOD CUE PRACTICE.—Mr. George F. Slosson, of Flint, Mich., made a run of 503 on the two reds, at the four-ball game, and one of 72 at the French, while playing match games quite recently.

AMUSEMENTS.

NIBLO'S GARDEN.
LAST WEEK
OF
MR. JOSEPH F. EMMET.
LAST WEEK
OF GAYLER'S GREAT DRAMA,
FRITZ,
OUR COUSIN GERMAN,
which must be withdrawn in the HEIGHT OF ITS SUCCESS
to give opportunity for the introduction
On MONDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 18TH, of Mr. Gaylor's New Drama, entitled
CARL THE FIDDLER,
in which Mr. Emmet will appear for the first time in an ENTIRELY NEW CHARACTER.
LAST NIGHTS OF FRITZ.
SATURDAY, Sept. 16th.
LAST FRITZ-EMMET MATINEE. 24-11

HARRY HILL'S
VARIETY THEATRE,
No. 20 EAST HOUSTON STREET.
STANDING ROOM
ONLY
TO-NIGHT BENEFIT
of
MISS KERRIGAN,
the
BLIND VOCALIST,
ON THURSDAY, SEPT. 14
AT 8 O'CLOCK.
HARRY HILL
in his GREAT INDIAN CLUB EXERCISES, WRESTLING BY THE ATHLETES,
HOMER LANE
and
MATT GRACE.
JEM MACE
and other prominent sports will be present.
ADMISSION, 25 CENTS. 24-11

EUREKA
DRAMATIC AND VARIETY AGENCY,
636 BROADWAY.
HARRY CUNNINGHAM,
PROPRIETOR. 24-11*

"BERTHA,
The Sewing Machine Girl;
OR,
Death at the Wheel."
CHARLES FOSTER,
DRAMATIST, hereby CAUTIONS all MANAGERS, LESSEES, and PROPRIETORS of Theatres or Halls against allowing "BERTHA" to be played in their establishments except by the following parties:—
MLLE. MARIE ZOE and MR. N. C. FORRESTER, who are duly authorized to produce it.

NOTICE.

TO CHARLES FOSTER, ESQ.—Dear Sir. This is to certify that YOU ARE THE ONLY PERSON IN THE UNITED STATES who has been authorized to dramatize my story entitled, "BERTHA, THE SEWING MACHINE GIRL, OR: DEATH AT THE WHEEL," recently published in the columns of the New York Weekly. 24-11* FRANCIS S. SMITH.

MISS ADELINE
FONTAINEBLEAU,
The Accomplished Gymnast,
AND CEILING WALKER,
will be at liberty to accept engagements about the MIDDLE OF NOVEMBER, for her gymnastic performance,
GROTESQUE DANCING,
A LA MAJILTONS.
AND THE COMIC SPINNING HATS.
Dresses and appurtenances all of the
MOST ELEGANT DESCRIPTION. 24-11*

MISS KATE BREVOORT
Is prepared to accept engagements from managers of first class theatres for her
SPECIALTY OF THE TUMBLERARIAN,
THE ONLY FEMALE
WHO CAN RIVAL PROF. O'REARDON
IN THIS SPECIALTY.
Address her only authorized agent, HARRY CUNNINGHAM, 24-11* 636 Broadway.

WANTED,
BY N. C. FORRESTER,
ONE CLARIONET,
To play brass.
ONE B FLAT CORNET, in orchestra.
ALTO, outside.
Address immediately,
HARRY CUNNINGHAM,
636 Broadway.
Must be sober, economical men. 24-11*

PEDANTO,
Ærial Gymnast,
Can be engaged through HARRY CUNNINGHAM,
24-11* 636 Broadway.

THOMPSON'S
OPERA HOUSE,
VICKSBURG, MISS.,
WILL OPEN ON THE 18TH OF SEPTEMBER WITH THE FOLLOWING ARTISTS:—
WALTER BRAY,
JOE CHILDS,
ADMIRAL VALE,
OAKS AND WINETT,
HURLEY AND MARR,
BOBBY STANTON,
G. B. OTTEN,
C. E NAVOO,
TOM. ALLEN,
MISS LIZZIE LAMEROUX,
LA PETITE HENSLY,
LILLY WILTON,
LIZZIE WARREN,
IDA WALLACE,
PAULINE HALL,
MAUDY BROWN,
LOTTIE SIMMONS,
MISS STEWART
AND LILIAN RICE. 24-31*tf

I'LL NEVER GO BACK ON THE BOYS—BY HENRY TUCKER.
NEW SONG FOR FIRST PART OR SINGLE ACT.
SEND 30 CENTS TO
D. N. GLEASON & CO., 135 Mercer street, N. Y.

TO CIRCUS MANAGERS.
HORACE F. NICHOLS,
now with Van Amburgh & Co., can be engaged after November 10th. Please address through N. Y. CLIPPER, H. F. NICHOLS. 24-31*

RIGGS & FITZGERALD,
DRAMATIC AGENTS,
636 BROADWAY.
WANTED IMMEDIATELY, SPECIALTIES FOR BLACK CROOK.
ALSO,
PREMIERE DANSEUSES AND LADIES FOR THE BALLET.
VARIETY STARS
Are respectfully informed that we have a
CIRCUIT OF VARIETY THEATRES,
And are prepared to negotiate engagements with managers of this circuit. Address RIGGS & FITZGERALD,
24-11* 636 Broadway.

PARSHALL OPERA HOUSE,
TITUSVILLE, PA.
GRAND COMPLIMENTARY BENEFIT TO MR. JOHN DENIER,
the World Renowned Aerial Gymnast,
FRIDAY EVENING, Sept. 15th, 1871, on which occasion he will introduce to the citizens of the Oil Regions for this night only,
THE WORLD'S CHAMPION,
MR. JAMES MACE.
Mr. Mace appearing before the public in Ring Costume in a Grand Assault at Arms with his Cousin, MR. POOLEY MACE.
MAJOR JAMES McLAUGHLIN, the Champion Wrestler of the World, will take an active part in the programme, together with the entire Company of DENIER'S NOVELTY THEATRE, and a host of Volunteers in a matchless programme.
SCALE OF PRICES FOR THIS OCCASION:
General Admission, $1; Reserved Seats, $1.50; Family Circle, $1.50; Gallery, $1. Reserved Seats at Hardy's Book Store.
24-11* E. H. BRINK, Business Manager.

MANAGERS, BEWARE.
J. S. DELANEY,
recently arrived from England, made an engagement with the undersigned for three weeks, commencing Sept. 4th, and afterwards made another with the "Wyndham Combination" conflicting with the above dates. J. V. MELTON signed a contract with me to appear for the ensuing season at the Tremont Opera House, Galveston, while under engagement to another manager. Managers are cautioned against engaging these TWO PROFESSIONAL RENEGADES.
It is but justice to the profession and protection to managers that such dishonorable acts should be discountenanced.
MORRIS SIMMONDS, Dramatic Agency,
24-11 639 Broadway, New York city.

MANAGERS SOUTH AND WEST, TAKE NOTICE.
COMING.
America's Champion, the artistic and scientific boxer, Mr.
JOE COBURN, ASSISTED BY THE PUBLIC'S MOST POPULAR SPARRER,
JOHNNY DWYER.
The above artists will visit
THE PROMINENT CITIES OF THE SOUTH AND WEST, FOR ONE NIGHT ONLY
IN EACH CITY,
Prior to the coming fight with
JAMES MACE
TIME FILLED TO SEPT. 27th.
Managers desiring to negotiate after them, may at once address my Agent, CHARLES H. RICH, 24-11 Brooklyn, N. Y.

IMMENSE HIT
OF BOBBY DALY,
AT THE
FRONT STREET THEATRE, BALTIMORE, in his great act,
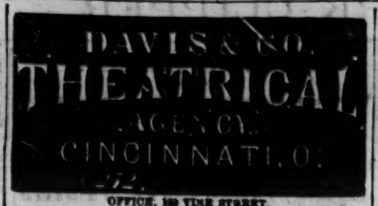
ELEPHANT TAMER;
OR, THE FAT MEN'S BALL."
Address RIGGS & FITZGERALD, 681 Broadway.



OFFICE, 169 VINE STREET.

WANTED, LEADING, JUVENILE and Old Men, Leading Lady, Soubrette and Ballet Ladies; also 2 first class Singing Ladies and 2 Dancers. State salary and enclose stamp; also photograph, if convenient. DAVIS & CO.,
24-11 Theatrical Agents, 169 Vine street, Cincinnati, O.

SPECIAL CARD.—LADIES and gentlemen without experience, who may desire to adopt the stage as a profession, or become in any way connected with the amusement business, are requested to write to us immediately. Enclose stamp for reply. DAVIS & CO., Theatrical Agents, 24-11 169 Vine st., Cincinnati, O.

TRIUMPHANT SUCCESS
OF THE
ORIGINAL GEORGIA MINSTRELS,
RETURNED FROM THEIR GREAT EUROPEAN TOUR.
CROWDED HOUSES
nightly greet the favorites, and on no occasion could STANDING ROOM
be had at eight o'clock, proving the superiority of the BLACKBIRDS.
CHAS. B. HICKS,
Business Manager.
WANTED,
TUBA PLAYER, who plays brass, and
TENOR BALLADIST.
Like to hear from
BILLY HARDY.
Address to Pittsburgh till Sept. 30th. 24-11*

GREAT WESTERN STAR
CIRCUIT.
Ladies and gentlemen will please assemble at the Opera House Kansas City, on Sept. 20th, prior to the opening of the season on Sept. 24. JOHN A. STEVENS, Manager.
WANTED,
A GENTLEMAN
COMPETENT TO PLAY LEADING JUVENILE BUSINESS.
Address the above, immediately. 24-21*

THE GREAT VICTORELLI
FAMILY—Henry, Annie, Oscar and Little Victo:—open at the Front Street Theatre, Baltimore, Nov. 6th; Alma, Pittsburgh, Dec. 11th. For vacant dates, address RIGGS & FITZGERALD, 681 Broadway, N. Y. 24-11*

GUSTAVE WILLIAMS,
MUSICIAN,
engaged with Charley Shay's Monster Quincuplexal Exposition, be on hand for rehearsal MONDAY, Sept. 18th, at 10 o'clock.
CHARLEY SHAY,
24-11 199 Bowery, N. Y.

J. S. BERRY
and
MISS BELLA GRAHAM
made a tremendous hit in their comic sensations at MANION'S VARIETY THEATRE, where they can be addressed 24-11*

SONGS, BURLESQUES,
Negro and Eccentric Character Acts, Lectures, Stump Speeches, &c., written to order. Address W. R. WATTS, 24-21* 143 Bleecker street, N. Y.

BIDWELL & WILKINSON'S
DRAMATIC COMPANY,
CHAS. E. BIDWELL, CHAS. WILKINSON,
MANAGERS AND PROPRIETORS.
THE OLDEST AND MOST SUCCESSFUL TRAVELING MANAGERS IN AMERICA, NOW ON THEIR
SIXTEENTH ANNUAL TOUR, WILL VISIT ALL THE PRINCIPAL CITIES AND TOWNS IN NEW ENGLAND.
HAS BEEN! IS NOW!! WILL BE THE RECOGNIZED STAR TROUPE!!
WHICH WE RISE TO EXPLAIN. 24-tf

LON CHAPIN'S
VARIETY THEATRE.
SCRANTON, PA.
LON CHAPIN.....Proprietor and Manager.
WONDERFUL SUCCESS.
A BETTER COMPANY, PRESENTING A BETTER BILL,
TO A LARGER BUSINESS
THAN ANY VARIETY THEATRE WEST OF NEW YORK.
HOUSES CROWDED NIGHTLY.
FIRST CLASS VARIETY TALENT
can secure engagements at all times. ARTISTS
SALARIES MUST BE REASONABLE.
NO FARES PAID. 24-21*

SHELBY'S COMIQUE,
BUFFALO,
PLAYS ALL THE BEST PEOPLE
IN THE PROFESSION.
24-21* Address DAN SHELBY.

TRIMBLE'S
VARIETIES,
PITTSBURGH, PA.
FRED. AIMS.....Manager.
FITZ SIMMONS.....tage Manager and Advertiser.
KEEP TRACK OF THIS.
No fares paid—and state lowest salary in writing, and address Manager as above at all times.
ANOTHER DRAFT OF NOVELTIES AND ATTRACTIONS,
Commencing all at the same time this week.
HILTON, THE MAN WITH THE THREE HEADS,
MILBURN, THE GREAT CHARACTER ARTIST,
MR. JOE COBURN,
PRIOR TO HIS CONTEST WITH JEM MACE.
JOHNNY DYER, WITH JOE COBURN.
Mlle Luzuardi, premiere; Lord and Waldron, sons and dance; Billy Gray, Ethiopian comedian; Tom Hampton, theatrical comedian; Emma Whiting, vocalist; Mlle Venturoni, premiere; Flora Benton, comedienne. Another new troupe next week. Write quick for time. 24-11*

G. W. JESTER.
VENTRILOQUIST,
Surnamed the "MAN WITH THE TALKING HAND," in conjunction with TONY PASTOR'S COMBINATION, at Columbus, Ohio. Perhaps the most astonishing part of the performance is the VENTRILOQUISM OF G. W. JESTER.
The art is rarely possessed to such a perfect degree.—Columbus Daily Dispatch, Aug. 26th, 1871. 24-11*

G. W. JESTER,
AT SYRACUSE.
WILD'S OPERA HOUSE.—Notwithstanding the inclement weather last evening, a large audience was in attendance at the above place, G. W. JESTER, "THE MAN WITH THE TALKING HAND," put in an appearance. To say he is a wonder, hardly expresses the term that could justly be applied to his marvelous performance.—Syracuse Daily Courier, Aug. 30th, 1871.
Four vacant date—Oct. 16th next. Address CLIPPER Office, New York. 24-11

UNSWORTH'S MINSTRELS,
AND BURLESQUE OPERA TROUPE.
Success unprecedented. No other Minstrel troupe will public favor in so short a time.
The ladies delighted with EUGENIE,
the brightest star upon the Minstrel Stage, possessing a wardrobe equal to any actress in the country.
UNSWORTH,
The Irresistable Orator, G. W. H. Griffin, Oscar Willis, W. P. Grier, J. Cook, D. S. Vernon, C. Nichols, Stiles and Phelps, and a full and complete orchestra. Concluding every performance with one of UNSWORTH'S & EUGENIE'S BURLESQUE OPERAS.
Tickets can be had during the week at the hotels and bookstores.
Prices as usual.
Newark, Tuesday, Sept. 12th. Bridgeport 13th
Yonkers, 14th, Elizabeth, 15th,
Paterson, Saturday 16th, Harlem, 18th. 24-11*

VICTORIAN BROTHERS
GREAT TRAPEZE ARTISTS.
Managers desiring to engage these wonderful gymnasts will address
24-11* RIGGS & FITZGERALD, 681 Broadway.

CARD.
In reference to a card in last week's Clipper, signed J. C. TROWBRIDGE & CO., we would respectfully intimate that
THE TITLE OF OUR FIRM IS
RIGGS & FITZGERALD, 681 Broadway.
24-11*

LONDON, ONT., CANADA.
Just Erected and now Ready for Occupation, a LARGE and MAGNIFICENT HALL, corner of Dundas and Clarence streets; seating capacity near 1,000. Companies wanting to Engage the Hall will address [24-13t] J. J. SPETTIGUE, Proprietor, London, Ont.

VILLA AND MINER'S COMIC OPERA
and
COMEDY TROUPE, with
SAM VILLA
and
AGNES WALLACE
As THE STARS,
supported by Aggie Wood, Minnie Florence, Sabra Dashon, Gertie Granville, Char es Webster, J. S. Buckley, J. D. Hall, C. B. Kemble, C. Vogelsburg, H. Shoesbrook, W. Babcock and Chas. Lewis, with the CELEBRATED NEWPORT SILVER CORNET BAND AND ORCHESTRA,
GEO. A. FLORENCE, LEADER,
will perform in Williamstic and Taunton this week; from thence they go to to the St. James Theatre, Boston, where they fulfil a two weeks engagement, after which they will visit the principal cities and towns of the east. [24-12*] HARRY MINER, Manager.

CARD FROM MANAGER SINN
AND
GEORGE R. EDESON, ESQ.,
Front Street Theatre, Baltimore,
PROF. CAMPBELL'S PERFORMANCE
PROF. JAMES CAMPBELL, Ventriloquist and Punch and Judy performer, has just concluded a two weeks' engagement at the Front Street Theatre Comique, Baltimore, where he has given great satisfaction to the large audiences that have witnessed his performance, His Punch and Judy act, called "THEATOREM," is NEW AND LAUGHABLE, and his VENTRILOQUISM MUCH SUPERIOR to the general performers in that line.
He is a Valuable Attraction in any Variety Theatre.
(Signed) WILLIAM E. SINN, Manager.
GEORGE R. EDESON, Stage Manager.
Address RIGGS & FITZGERALD,
24-11* 681 Broadway.

KING'S OPERA HOUSE,
Corner State and Adams streets,
CHICAGO, ILL.
JOHN C. KING.....MANAGER
This large and
ELEGANT THEATRE
Now being erected with a seating capacity for FIFTEEN HUNDRED PEOPLE, will open on MONDAY EVENING,
SEPTEMBER 18TH,
with a
VARIETY PERFORMANCE.
FIRST CLASS ARTISTS AND COMBINATIONS ONLY
Address as above. 24-11

COL. T. ALLSTON BROWN,
DRAMATIC AGENT,
718 AND 720 BROADWAY.
To Managers.
The undersigned will sail for Europe by the steamship Italy, on Saturday, October 7th, and will be absent about three months, during which time he will visit Liverpool, London, Paris, Berlin, Brussels, Antwerp, return to London, thence to Scotland and Ireland, expecting to return to America on or about the first of January. It is his intention to visit all places of public amusements and see what talent there may be abroad available for America, and what would please an American public. A great mistake made by many agents who have brought performers to this country has been that while they may be great favorites in London, their popularity has been purely local, for it has often been proved that equally as good, if not better, performers in the same line of business could be found "native and to the manner born." The long and extensive acquaintance that I have had in the amusement world of America, and more particularly the knowledge gained of what is required in America by my present business, warrants me in believing that I can conscientiously select from all Europe the best talent that will prove acceptable to an American audience. During my absence the business of the office will be promptly attended to by Mr. Robert E. Stevens, who is thoroughly posted in all its details. All telegrams and letters should be addressed, as heretofore, to
COL. T. ALLSTON BROWN.

ED. BANKER,
now playing a brilliant four weeks' engagement at TRIMBLE'S VARIETIES THEATRE, Pittsburgh, closes there on Sept. 9th and opens for two weeks at the CAPITOL THEATRE, Albany, on Sept. 11th, after which date he

CUPID'S FOI 'LES, FOLLIES AND FANCIES.

THE FIRST LESSON IN LOVE.

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER.

Down through the greenwood Cupid went,
Cheerfully tripping along,
The while he trolled with a merry voice,
A lively, rollicking song,
That echoed afar in the clear, crisp air,
And the grand old trees among.

The morn was fair, and the trembling leaves
And flowers with dew were wet,
The sun had hardly arisen, and
Very few were abroad as yet;
But coming to ward him, in the path,
A lovely young girl he met.

A charming creature, sweet and fair,
And pretty as she could be,
Yes might in a journey of many a mile
Not such another one see;
And still, with his clear and musical voice,
His pleasant song sang he.

"Young sir," said she, "I prithee tell
What is the song you sing?
'Tis a pretty air, and the words are strange,
But I like their pleasant ring."
Then Cupid paused and slyly took
An arrow from under his wing.

"I sing," he said, he, "sweet maid, of love—
Can it be you've never heard
Such songs before? have never such Your youthful pulses stirred?"
"Young sir," she replied, "of such a thing
I never have known a word."

"Ha! ha!" laughed he, 'tis passing strange,
Sirteen, and such things never!
Excuse me, please, but 'pon my word
Now this will never do!
Sweet maid, draw near, and lend your ear,
And I'll teach my song to you."

The maid approached the God of Love,
And her cheeks began to burn;
He sang to her a stanza or two,
And then she took her turn;
Not a word or a note she missed; said he,
"You are very quick to learn!"

An hour flew by—she was very apt,
And the God of Love his art
Disclosed to a patiently listening ear,
And she learned it all by heart;
She knew as much of such things as he
When he turned from her to part.

"Farewell for awhile, dear maid," said he,
"For I must go my way;"
And he pinched her ovely, blushing cheek,
As he took a kiss for his pay:
"What she never forgot—as long as she lived—
What she had learned that day! J. H. B.

FREE LOVE AND WOMAN'S RIGHTS.

Two cases of divorce of a very unusual and extraordinary character were some time ago commenced in the Fourth District court, and are now on trial before Judge Morrison in open court. As is the case in all divorce suits, the greater part of the testimony is unfit for publication; still the trial attracts considerable interest. The cases consist of Truman White vs. Bertha A. White, and Charles W. White against the same defendant. The first case is for a divorce and the other is for a decree declaring a pretended marriage between Charles W. White and Bertha A. White null and void. The evidence is singularly conflicting, and briefly as follows:—

Truman White testified that he was married to the defendant in Walden, Mass., on the 14th of May, 1868, and left the next day with his wife for California, that they arrived here about the middle of June of the same year, and lived together as man and wife for about ten or twelve months, when she was tired of him and left him. It appears from the evidence that their married life was anything else than a happy one, their quarrels being frequent and violent. The plaintiff sometimes passed the defendant off as his wife, and at other times introduced her by her former name—Bertha A. Glover. A marriage certificate was also offered as evidence of the alleged marriage, and other circumstances were shown in confirmation of plaintiff's story that he and the defendant were man and wife. A letter was also produced, written by defendant to plaintiff, in which she addressed him as her "dear husband," and signed herself "Your wife."

On the other hand, the defendant testified that she never was married to Truman White, and never lived with him as his wife; that she lived in the same town with him and sometimes occupied the same room, but she regarded him as a brother or a father, rather than in any other light. A letter was also produced in evidence, written by the plaintiff to the defendant some time after the parties came to California, in which he proposes matrimony, and does not speak of her as his wife. Several witnesses also testified on behalf of the defendant, all of whom related conversations and statements going to show that the parties were not married and did not pretend to be. Charles W. White, or "White No. 2," as he was called during the trial, was married to the defendant in San Francisco on the 30th of June, 1869, and lived with her until White No. 1 made his appearance and claimed Mrs. White as his wife. This brought about another separation, and White No. 2 now asks that the pretended marriage between defendant and himself may be declared null and void, on the ground that Bertha was a married woman and incapable of contracting with him. Bertha, it will be seen, is between two fires, and her only hope of retaining a husband is to prove that Truman White and her-self were not married. Sleeping in one room does not, she thinks, constitute marriage between them, but was merely an exhibition of fraternal feeling. When questioned closely on this point by counsel, Judge E. D. Sawyer, she replied by the following interrogatory:—"Can you hold up your hand and swear that you have not done the same?" It is unnecessary to say that counsel did not answer, but the question of Bertha caused a good deal of excitement. In the face of the conflicting testimony elicited during the trial, it is not an easy matter to determine the relation that the parties bear to each other.—San Francisco Alta, Aug. 31st.

TWELVE WIVES!

John Kelly, alias Nelson, alias Christie, alias Devere, a gay young man of 21, was accused in the Jefferson Market police court, yesterday, of bigamy. John dances with clogs, sings, plays and alternately acts the negro and Caucasian, the clown and the gentleman, in a traveling variety minstrel show. While sojourning in the various cities which the troupe visited, John paid his addresses to all good looking young maid servants whom he supposed to have bank books. John is a fair, open faced young man, of frank, engaging manners, and he was generally successful in getting into the good graces of the unsuspecting girls. It is said that he has one or three wives in Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, St. Louis, Pittsburgh and other cities. In New York two have turned up, and these, sympathizing with each other and wroth at the delinquent John, conspired to send him to Sing Sing. Both visited Jefferson Market on Tuesday and told their stories to Justice Scandley, who ordered the arrest of Kelly. The officer took John yesterday morning at Harry Hill's. To one of the women he was married on the 8th of May, 1869, at 14 Van Ness place. After living with her for some time he took her to Philadelphia and abandoned her, first securing $300, which she had. On the 17th of July, 1870, he married another maid servant, Ellen O'Connor, and having secured some money which she had in bank, he abandoned her. Kelly freely admitted the bigamy, and remarked, "I'm up at last." He was locked up.—N. Y. Sun, Sept. 7th.

ATTEMPTED ABDUCTION.—On Sept. 2d, as the steamer City of Galveston, bound for Galveston, Texas, from this city, had cast off her hawsers, a young girl named Minnie Freeman leaped from the after deck to the wharf, narrowly escaping a plunge into the water in the effort. Almost as soon as her feet touched the dock, a woman, who had just before left the steamer, sized, and with violent impetus threw her self on her and fairly bowled her over bodily. Officer Sullivan, who was on the spot, rescued the girl and placed both under arrest. At the station-house Minnie stated that the woman (whose name is Saidee C. Clelland, a procuress, living at No. 108 West Thirty-first street), had, under false and delusive promises, engaged her, with several other young girls, to go to Galveston to fill respectable situations, but just as the vessel started, by some means she learned the true character of the woman and her intention to send the girls to a disreputable house at Galveston. Nerved with despair and horror at this discovery, she made the "leap for life." The other girls were carried off by the steamer. There were nine altogether. The woman was locked up.

SAD RESULTS OF INSANITY.—The first wife of H. D. Newcombe, the Louisville millionaire, who caused something of a flutter there some time ago by inducing the Kentucky Legislature, as is alleged, to pass a bill making it lawful for a man having an insane wife to marry again, is still an inmate of a private asylum near Boston, without the least hope of recovery. She has been there for nearly twenty years, and first revealed her madness in Louisville by throwing her four children, one night, from the attic window of her residence into the yard below. Two of the little creatures were instantly killed. The others were almost miraculously saved from destruction, though they suffered for years from the severe injuries received. The unfortunate lady was passionately fond of her children, and the death of the eldest first deranged her naturally fine mind by causing a religious monomania, accompanied by the morbid phantasy that God wanted her offspring, and that she was sending them to Him by destroying their lives.

A LIFE TOO OLD.—An extraordinary divorce case is coming up in the Supreme Court. The plaintiff is a highly accomplished French woman, who married the proprietor of one of the largest and most popular hotels in this city. After ten years of wedded life her husband sold the hotel for $100,000, and also some real estate in Worth street, but on obtaining the money he refused to live with her. Finding all entreaty useless, the wife went to the home of her parents in France and was about to return, when her husband sent her several letters requesting her not to come, as he would not support her. Before her departure he prevailed on her to give him a power of attorney to sell the property, and her counsel is about to apply to the court to revoke that instrument. The husband complains that his wife "is too old for him," although they are of the same age.

A PHILOSOPHIC DIVORCE.—Mr. —— of Albany, took a dashing young man named Carter into his family to board some months since. The wife was very partial to the young man, but the husband paid little attention to their flirtations. Last week she received a letter from Carter, dated Omaha, inviting her to leave her husband and become his (Carter's) partner. Making her intentions known to her husband, he coolly gave her $300 or $400 and his "blessing," and allowed her to depart. Mr. —— is evidently a philosopher, wisely preferring a peaceful separation to the notoriety of a law suit, or a continual war of words at home.

VERDICT ON THE POST ABORTION CASE.—The investigation of Coroner Jones, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and a jury, into the circumstances attending the death of Emily A. Post, was concluded on Sept. 8th, when the jury rendered the following verdict:—

We find that the death of Emily A. Post was superinduced by the use of and inhuman treatment received at the hands of Dr. Perry and Madame Van Buskirk; and we further find that Peter C. Post, Jr., husband of Post and Peter K. Post, Jr., in placing their daughter and sister in the care of known abortionists, were guilty of an unnatural outrage, evincing depraved minds, utterly regardless of natural duty.

PENSIONED OFF.—Gail Hamilton tells of a married woman in New York city who held, independent of her husband's control, thirty thousand dollars. This money she received from him when he was in good business and in full health. He became paralysed, and she at once took a paramour and sailed to Europe, leaving her husband an annuity of three hundred dollars, and supporting her paramour out of the proceeds of the fortune which her husband had given her.

THE REMAINS of the unfortunate victim of abortion, Alice A. Bowlsby, of which details were given in our last issue, were removed from Potter's Field last week and taken to Paterson, N. J., for more decent burial, by her friends. Judge Cardozo refused to admit bail for Dr. Rosenzweig, charged with the foul crime, on the 7th inst.

A DESERVEDLY SEVERE SENTENCE.—Judge Webb last week sentenced Samuel Bixler, of Cherokee county, to twenty years eleven months and twenty-five days in the Penitentiary for outraging the person of his own child, a girl of fourteen. The prisoner is a man of fifty-two years of age.

A GLANCE AT EUROPE.

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER,
BY A TRAVELING SHOWMAN.

LONDON, WOOLWICH, BLACKWALL, GREENWICH, WINDSOR CASTLE, COVENTRY, KENILWORTH AND WARWICK CASTLE.

One of the most agreeable excursions around London is a trip down the Thames to Woolwich, Blackwall and Greenwich, with its splendid hospital, fine park and observatory. The picture gallery contains some fine paintings and statues, also some articles of wearing apparel belonging to Lord Nelson, enclosed in glass cases, including his coat, vest, watch and chain, etc. From thence we went to Blackheath, contiguous to Greenwich, noted for its donkey races, gipseys and horseback riding. Returning to London, we next went to Windsor Castle, the residence of Queen Victoria, which stands on an eminence overlooking the river Thames. It is associated with some of the most interesting events and persons in the history of England, and has witnessed all the pomp of chivalry, and its courts have rung with the feasts and tournaments of royalty. Kings were born and buried here, and, after innumerable changes, it is still the proudest residence of the sovereign of England, as it has been for the past seven hundred years. Entering through a gateway of two towers, the visitor finds himself within the great quadrangle of the palace. On the north are the state apartments, and on the east and south the private apartments of the Queen. Entering the palace we are shown St. George's banqueting hall, hung with paintings and escutcheons, and the names of the knights painted on the panels. The Queen's audience chamber, the ball room, the state drawing room, the grand vestibule and the guard room, in which is a portion of the mainmast of Nelson's flag-ship Victory, pierced through with a thirty-two pound cannon shot; two cannons presented by the Emperor of France; a bronze shield presented to King Henry VIII on the Field of the Cloth of Gold, and various other trophies. The Waterloo chamber and the Queen's presence chamber are all the apartments open to the public; but having a special permission from the Lord Chamberlain, we were admitted into the private apartments. First we entered a museum, containing a large quantity of jewelled swords and daggers, presents to royalty; the sword of Christopher Columbus, the golden throne and jewelled peacock of Tippo Saib, the armor worn by that chieftan when he was killed, the bullet that killed Lord Nelson, and many other articles. Next we went to the grand saloon, where, from the window, you have a splendid view up the long walk for three miles, then the other apartments of the royal family, in one of which was a splendid marble group of the queen and Prince Albert. Next came the round tower, a prominent part of the castle, once the prison of James I, of Scotland, but now used as an armory.

St. George's Chapel is also deserving of the attention of the stranger, for the exquisite proportions and rich yet solemn ornaments of the interior leave an effect on the mind that cannot be described. The richly decorated roof, supported on clustered columns; the painted windows, representing in glowing colors some remarkable subjects of Christian history; the banners and escutcheons of the Knights of the Garter, glittering in the choir above the carved stalls, which in their arms are affixed armorial bearings of each Knight Companion from the time of the founder, are also interesting relics. At the front of the altar is a subterranean passage that leads to the royal tomb, in which lay the present race of kings. There are several monuments of departed greatness within the chapel, and other interesting objects. A short walk from the castle brings you to the model dairy, royal stables, tomb of Prince Albert, Windsor forest, Herne's oak and Virginia water. The latter has a colossal equestrian statue of King George III at the end of it. Eton College, a world famous institute, is within sight of the castle. Leaving Windsor, our next stopping place was the old city of Coventry, in Warwickshire—population, 41,647—celebrated from its legend of Lady Godiva, and to this day an effigy of Peeping Tom is seen in the upper part of a house near the King's Head Tavern. We next went to the ruins of Kenilworth Castle, not far miles from Coventry, by rail. The town consists of one long, straggling street, and the castle stands on a gentle eminence on the west side of the town. The walls enclose seven acres, part of which are enclosed and occupied as stables and gardens, and the rest forms the outer courtyard of the castle. The great gate-house is now used as a dwelling, and the rest is a crumbling mass of ruin. Standing in the outer court the visitor has, on his right, Cæsar's tower, the keep of which were 16 feet thick, and on the left Leicester's buildings. The open space between was once occupied by Henry VIII, for lodgings, but are now entirely destroyed. At the farther end of the inner court are the ruins of the great banqueting hall. The great hall was once an apartment of magnificent dimensions, with its floor resting on stone arches, the vaulted apartment below being used as a storehouse. Its windows are of great height and exquisite in design, and the hall was occupied by Queen Elizabeth during her famous visit to Leicester. On the way to the castle the visitor may observe, on the left, the village stocks in good preservation, capable of accommodating three persons at a time.

Our next destination was Warwick Castle, on the Avon, one of the few remaining baronial residences still up and inhabited, and its ancient historical associations invest the place with the greatest interest. The approach to it is by a winding road, cut through the solid rock, at the termination of which the majestic structure bursts upon the view, and two lofty towers immediately arrest the eye. That on that left is Cæsar's tower, that on the right is Guy's, named in honor of the famous champion, Guy, Earl of Warwick. On entering the principal gateway you first visit the porter's lodge and inspect the imposing relics there, including Guy's sword, shield, breastplate, helmet and walking-staff, all of enormous weight and size, his horse armor, a large porridge pot and flesh fork, an immense rib of the dun cow he killed on Dunsmore heath, tusks and shoulder blades of a wild boar, his lady's iron stirrups and slippers, swords, spears, maces, daggers, chain-shot and a stone coffin. We next pass into the inner court, and are admitted into the great hall, the first of a suite of magnificent apartments, with ceiling adorned with armorial bearings of the earls and dukes of Warwick. The floor consists of white and red squares of polished marble, and over the fire place and doors are immense deer horns. The walls are decorated with a fine collection of armor and weapons, and from its windows a fine view is obtained. A hundred feet below flows the Avon, and the buildings can be seen for a considerable distance. The next apartment is the private dining-room, with its magnificent table of precious stones, tastefully fitted together, the Kenilworth buffet, and two large etruscan vases. Next is the red drawing room, containing many exquisite paintings and other objects of art. The cedar drawing room is exquisitely furnished. The state bed-room contains the bed of Queen Anne, in which Queen Elizabeth slept when on a visit to Warwick Castle. The gilt drawing room, Lady Warwick's boudoir, the compass room and the chapel passage, with a bust of the Black Prince and a plaster bust of Oliver Cromwell, came next in order. We then come to the private chapel, with windows of stained glass, then the green house, containing the famous Warwick vase, found in the ruins of ancient Rome. Beneath Cæsar's tower is a gloomy dungeon, with inscriptions on its walls by some of the poor wretches confined there. This was the prison of Piers Gaveston, Earl of Cornwall, previous to his execution. Guy's tower may be ascended to the very top, from which a beautiful view is obtained. The pleasure grounds are charmingly laid out, and here are to be seen the stately cedars of Lebanon. In the vicinity of Warwick is Blacklow hill, where Piers Gaveston was beheaded. A stone cross marks the spot, with this inscription:—"On the first of July, 1312, in the hollow of this rock was beheaded Piers Gaveston, Earl of Cornwall, the minion of a hateful king in life as in death, a striking instance of misrule." The town of Warwick is beautifully situated on the banks of the Avon and contains a population of 15,576. St. Mary's Church contains the tombs of the Earls of Warwick, who are represented by a full length figure, clad in complete armor lying on a sarcophagus. In the centre of the lady chapel is the tomb of Richard Beauchamp, the finest in the kingdom, except that of Henry VII in Westminster Abbey. It represents the earl in full armor. At the north side of the chapel is the tomb of Robert Dudley, Earl of Leicester, the favorite of Queen Elizabeth, a splendid monument, with the figure in armor and his wife by his side. The other buildings are St. Nicholas' Church, St. Paul's Church, Leicester's Hospital, the college school, the town gates, courthouse and county jail, the museum, market-house and public library. From here we go to Stratford on Avon, the birth place of Shakespeare, which will conclude these sketches. MONS. LA THORNE.

THE APPROACHING GRAND MILITARY FESTIVAL AND FETE CHAMPETRE.

Very general interest is being manifested in the projected Military Festival and Fete Champetre, in aid of the Union Home and School for the education and maintenance of the destitute and orphan children of soldiers and sailors, to be held at the Fashion Course, L. I., in October, commencing on the 3d and continuing two weeks. The festival will embrace military displays of a highly interesting character, trotting races, base ball matches, carnival sports, professional and amateur foot races, ladies' equestrian races, riding for a diamond ring, balloon ascensions, walking handicaps, billiard matches, prize dancing, roller skating match, tight rope walking, drumming contest, yacht race on land (a great novelty), slow race, velocipede competition, races between farmers,' expressmens,' tinkers,' tartmens' and bakers' wagons, mule and donkey races, etc. There will also be dancing during the day, and other attractions for the evening. The projectors are all men of standing in the community, which is a guarantee that everything will be conducted in a fair and honorable manner. Provisions will be made to ensure the comfort of all who attend, and as the object is a most deserving one, while great expense has been incurred in getting up the festival, it is to be hoped that the public will give the managers due encouragement. Those who desire to compete in any of the events upon the programme are requested to apply immediately to Benjamin W. Hitchcock, general manager, 20 Nassau street, this city. Messrs. Phelan & Collender have kindly tendered the use of one of their tables, free of charge, for the championship billiard match (for golden cue and $100); the secretary of the Mutual Base Ball Club has notified the manager that said club will play in any game or games during the festival, and Harry Leslie, the tight rope artist, has volunteered to perform during the first week.

STEAMERS' CONTEST.—MUSTER OF NEW ENGLAND FIREMEN.—The New England firemen mustered at Portsmouth, N. H., on Sept. 6th, when about sixty companies, numbering in the aggregate 3,500 men, formed a procession, with thirty bands of music. The parade was the most imposing affair ever witnessed in that city or vicinity, and Governor Western, with a portion of his staff, rode in the procession, which was two miles in length. A clam bake was participated in by the visitors later in the day. On Thursday, Sept. 7th, there was a mammoth band concert, and afterwards there were contests between the steamers for prizes, as follows:—For first class steamers only, prize $1,000, to the steamer City of Haverhill, No. 2, of Haverhill, Mass.; distance of stream, 186 feet 3 inches. Second class steamers—First prize, $150, to Eben Simpson, No. 2, of Biddeford, Maine; distance of stream, 188 feet 9 inches. Second prize, $100, to E. A. Straw, No. 4, of Methuen, Mass.; distance of stream, 185 feet 8 inches. For hand engines, prize $100, to Excelsior, No. 1, of Winchester, Mass.; distance of stream, 171 feet 7 inches. Second prize, $50, to Tiger, No. 4, of Lynn, Mass.; distance of stream, 170 feet 2½ inches. A strong northwest wind diverted the streams from the platforms, which were so placed that the engines were obliged to play against it. The Maverick Steamer Company, of Boston, entered a protest against giving the first prize to the Haverhill steamer, on the ground that the latter had been originally entered as a second class steamer. There were about 30,000 visitors in the city.

"DEAD AS A DOOR NAIL."—This proverbial expression is taken from the door nail; that is the nail on which, in old doors, the knocker strikes. It, is, therefore, used as a comparison to any one irrecoverably dead; one who has fallen (as Virgil says) multis moriis, i. e., with abundant death, such a reiteration of str kes upon the head would naturally produce:—Falstaff—'What! Is the old king dead?' Pistol—"As nail in door."

CLIPPER VARIETIES.

Comprising Sentimental Ballads, Songs and Dances, Comic Songs, Jokes, Old Bills, Reminiscences, etc.

WRITTEN AND COLLATED EXPRESSELY FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER

AMONG THE MINSTRELS.

BONES GOES AFTER CONSOLATION.

INTERLOCUTOR.—You all look very fresh to-night. Suppose I give you a few lessons in geography. When may a fast American be termed a subject of the Czar? Ans.—When he's a rushin' (Russian). When does water cease to be water? When it becomes a comet. What feature in a landscape resembles a prying debtor? A peak. When does a rustic house resemble a runaway debtor? When it is on the slope.

BONES.—I'm one of dem jeggraphers, too. Why is de stage of a theatre like a bird?

INT.—Why is the stage of a theatre like a bird?

TAMBO.—Why is the stage of a theatre like a bird?

BONES.—Yes. Why is it like dat?

BONES.—Give it up!

BONES.—Why, because it has "wings" and "flies."

INT.—Very good. Now, sir, be so good as to tell me why the principles of the female agitators are like the funeral ceremonies of our wives and daughters. Do you pass? They are women's rites.

BONES.—Dat calls to mind my first and last 'sperience at a revival. You see, after Dinah (dat's de gal I used to 'co cearta' after) had give me de mitten, I felt putty bad like, got lemoesholly, and old Deacon Jones said I want consolation. Dere was a camp meetin' comin' off on Long Island, and dere I went wid him to get dat consolation wha' de Deacon see. We laid in a few loads sandwiches, a jug of oh, be joyful, and a pile o' treats ana made tracks for de ground. When dere was a sort of pic nic goin' on and quite a lively trade in dry goods and jewelry, and it tellin' stories, creakin' jokes and laughin' was any sign of consolation. I come to de conclusion dat about five hundred had got it, shure. De exercises commence by drinkin' and smokin' and sparkin' de gals. I got in amongst de 'bacca and felt as happy as a kite's tail in a high wind. Brudder Jones exhorted, Deacon Lippit ex'orted, and I snorted. Den de music struck up; and de meetin' got 'citad, and Brudder Jones he enjined till dem dat wanted consolation to come up and git it. And dey all rush forward and take a horn of old rye (to make dem rysteous, I suppose) and de whose fell to dancin' as if dey'd been attacked by a colony of bumble bees. Den we all embrace, de brudders and sisters, and fell onto de ground and went in for a spell of rollin'. De 'citement culminated when Deacon Jones trew a box of firecrackers in amongst de faithful. Den each of de brudders told his 'sperience, and I told mine. And when any one got off a particularly outrageous thing, I went him one better, and told 'em all de 'bominable scrapes I had ober got into, until I believe if I wasn't de brackest darkey in de room, de Lawd won't make me. And when I got t'rough, den I seen a white hat and pink streamers comin' towards me, and shidder my wool if it wasn't Dinah! And she trow'd herself into my arms, and de whole dey crowded 'round me, and de band struck up and I was discovered on de platform in triumph. Never had such a time before and neber want to agen. Dey tole me afterwards dat it wasn't no camp meeting—dat dey was only foolin me.

INT.—That'll do for this time. And now, suppose, Mr. Primotenore, you were to favor the audience with a little music of your own.

AIN'T IT NICE TO HAVE A BEAU?

BY ARTHUR W. FRENCH.

As you out a walking go,
When the crowds are in the street,
Passing by you to and fro,
Or the one you meet;
Soon he's walking by your side,
With his arm in yours, put so,
Looking down on you in pride—
Ain't it nice to have a beau?

Chorus—Ain't it nice to have a beau,
One who loves you well, you know,
As you out a walking go—
Ain't it nice to have a beau?

Arm in arm you stray along,
Envied by each single lass,
Who to-day is the passing throng,
Jealous glances on you cast.
And the jewels that try to flirt,
Find that they have got no show,
Deeming you no proud capture—
Ain't it nice to have a beau?

Chorus—Ain't it nice to have a beau,

By and by you reach the door,
While, of course, just there and then,
Words of love he whispers o'er,
Saying he will come again.
Leaving you no more alone,
And you murmur softly, oh,
Don't you wish you knew the rest?
Ain't it nice to have a beau?

Chorus—Ain't it nice to have a beau, etc.

NATIONAL THEATRE, NEW YORK.

Positively the last engagement of MR. POWER, prior to his departure for Europe.

The public is respectfully informed that MR. POWER, having recovered from his late indisposition, will make his SECOND APPEARANCE this evening, in the popular comedy and farce of THE IRISH ATTORNEY, and

THE HAPPY MAN.

FRIDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 30TH, 1840, will be performed the comedy in 2 acts of
THE IRISH ATTORNEY; OR, GALWAY PRACTICE IN 1770.
Written by W. J. Barnard, Esq., and performed in London with universal applause.

PIERCE O'HARA, the Irish Attorney	MR. POWER
Jacob Wylie, a Yorkshire Attorney	Mr. Fisher
Hawk	Chapman
Collore	Poney
Charlcote, a young fox hunter)	Andrews

After which MRS. C. HALL will dance the PAS SYLPHIDE.
To which will be added (in 2 acts) in act of
THE HAPPY MAN.
Written by S. Lover, Esq.

PADDY MURPHY	MR. POWER
Ram Rusill, (the resolute)	Mr. Chapman
Foxi Fum, (the crafty)	Fisher
Ski Ili, (the saucer)	Nickinson

A PAS SEUL.....by.....MAD. ARRALINE

The Evening's Entertainments to conclude with the Farce of VENUS IN ARMS; OR, THE PETTICOAT COLONEL.

Sir Frederick Melville, (Colonel of the 7th Hussars, late of the 10th)	Mr. Wheatley
Captain Dashall	Hield
Lieutenant Captain Gorget	Mack'in
Cornet Standard	Gallout
Quarter Master Blank	Mirot
Dan, (Waiter at the Tiger Inn)	Nickinson
Arabella Beaumont, (the petticoat colonel)	Mrs Maeder
Lady Melville	Chippindale

SATURDAY—3d night of the engagement of MR. POWER,
Doors in future will open at half past 6; performance commences at 7 o'clock.
J. C. House, printer, 88 Barclay street.
Contributed by Mr. Asa Crandell, of "The Place," 16 Dutch st.

ROBERTSONIANA.

The late Thos. W. Roberts made such a decided "new departure" from old literary methods in his comedies, that he speedily won a name which may not die out so readily as some people suppose. He was not absolutely a Congreve or Sheridan; but he was undoubtedly a man of much more than ordinary cleverness and wit. In conversation he frequently uttered things even better than those famous bon mots which appear in his plays. His wit was unforced, and it requires a refined sense to perfectly appreciate it.

It was he who killed the effect of a certain London actress' blonde hair, when it first rose over the footlights and cast its beams beyond. Robertson sat in the front stalls with a Mr. Irish, a journalist.

"Lord, Tom!" cried the other; "what glorious hair!"

"It only costs a shilling a bucket—on 'at the price."

He had a playful habit of disturbing work by making puns out of them, after the Artemus Ward fashion, when the very impossibility of a pun was the final and only effect. For example, he once saw, when with the Younge Troupe superintending "Caste," one of the Wilmore girls—or, perhaps two. "How do you do you like the Wilmore?" asked Mr. Younge, who was skilled last year.

"Will—not to say a Wilmore."

This was an absurdity—a nothing, indeed; but in that fact lies its merit when we consider the circumstances.

Theatrical bores I have invariably found, with a large experience in other kinds, the worst. As soon as Robertson had made his fame he was beset. Some "poor dayvel" sought him one day, fresh and clayed from a country tramp, with an application for his influence. The man hummed and hawed, and was as long coming to Hecuba as Hamlet's actor.

"Well," said the actor, "Mr. Robertson, my story is short."

"Oh, I see," answered the dramatist, drily, "that, tall as you are, you can't reach it." This sounds like Lamb, I think; or at any rate like Sam Foote.

Mrs. Bancroft is well known to my dramatic readers as a most charming person—at least to those who have attended the London "Prince of Wales." Robertson used to chaff her and Bancroft constantly. Once there was a pic-nic, or luncheon, or some thing of the kind, in a wood, and Bancroft rallied his wife about her reserve in some matter.

"Oh," said she, "I assure you, I have no secrets, Sidney."

"No," answered Robertson; "I can personally guarantee that she never keeps anything of the sort."

"Caste," it may not be generally known, is simply the dramatisation of a story in real life. Yet the great objection to it, at first, was that a ballet girl could never be so good and true as was Esther. The original of the character was in the utilities at Birmingham.

"Play" was to have been originally produced in New York at Niblo's, but Mr. Daly somehow got ahead. The alterations by Mr. D. were anything but improvements. Various stupid critics wrote down Mr. Daly—Dupont's "Bruce Parqueheie." They began by saying his wig was a shabby take, etc. This showed their knowledge of what they were endeavoring to talk about; for the wig was made expressly to order after the directions which accompanied the Ms., and was perfect. And Davenport's acting was excellent. Nothing better in the way of quiet characterisation has been seen in New York than his portrayal of the prematurely old and used-up Bruce. But to most of the audience this type, being unknown, was not understood, and consequently condemned. I hope Davenport will try this part again. It is immeasurably superior to his Sir Harcourt Courtly, though, I believe, he does not think so himself. Strange, by the way, how many parts he has done in "London As urance." I have seen him in Dazzle, Charles and Sir Harcourt, and they were each distinct from the other, and all capital.

Robertson's writing reads so easy—(easy writing is hard reading, says somebody)—that the impression instantly is that anybody could write as well. But in truth there is no style so hard to copy. There is about it a refinement, a delicacy, a vivacity, a quaintness, a sparkle, a daintiness that smacks, not to speak it profanely, of Shakespeare's "Much Ado." For example, Mr. Gilbert has a love scene in his "Randell's Thumb" of the Robertsonian sort, where the lovers Buckthorpe and Edith find themselves shut in the pantry. Here is Robertson, but there is no more the real thing than bottled cider is shampagne. Yet the "Thumb" is not a bad piece. Some of the language is excellent and the dullest audience in the world couldn't miss the jokes. The characters, however, are all conventional. Joe Bangles, intended to be a Dickensy, goody, goody person, is, in fact, an ass. Randall is a decided scoundrel at least; but everybody has met him on the stage a thousand times. James Wallack, who was to have done the part in Boston, would have developed it amazingly. Buckthorpe is stiff and prosy; such a man reforming must inevitably sour into a hypocrite. The Scantleburys and the Flamboys—especially the former—might be thought impossible. And, as for the women, they are all bad. Edith is actually an idiot. Examine her absurd—internally absurd—speech in Act II:—"Who am I, Reginald, that I should set myself up as a judge," etc., etc. What lunatic could dream such rubbish?

Robertson was not much of a talker; he seldom shone. He considered himself a silent man and made no effort to become anything else. He was, indeed, grave naturally; wine itself seldom elevated his spirits, and in his earlier time, it is, I hope, nothing wrong to mention, that he drank a good deal. Some men are born to drink, some achieve the power and some have it as an infirmity thrust upon them. Thomas Robertson required stimulant, and made no secret of the fact that he took it. At one period he used to be cons dered a second Fred. Bayham, so devoted was he to his daily beer. But because thou art virtuous, O Knight of Temperance, think'st thou there shall be no more cakes and ale?

His fame came late, but he enjoyed it. Pity it is that upon him the disturbing shadow of two or three failures around his death bed. But he must have known he had done good work previously on which the most tumultuous might confidently rest a trust. He was never a violently popular, boisterously loved man; but he was admired and so esteemed, and now lies dead in his grave, with friends behind who often tenderly think of him.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

Weekly Record of the Decease of Prominent Individuals.

COMPILED EXPRESSLY FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER.

ALTHOUSE, William—Well known in Washington in connection with the Daily and Sunday Chronicle—died of consumption, Tremont, Pa., August 29th, aged 33.

ANDERSON, Col. T. J. H.—Grand Master of Masons in the State of Texas—Houston, Tex., August 29th.

BARNES, The Hon. Phineas—A leading lawyer of Portland; born at Rockport, graduated at Bowdoin in the class of 1829, and received his degree of M. A. in 1832; studied law, was afterward cashier of the Union Bank, of Brunswick, for a time, and also editor of the Bangor Whig. In 1838-4 he was tutor in Waterville College, now Colby University; from 1835 to '39 professor in some college; from 1841 to '49 editor of the Portland Advertiser; 1845, representative to the legislature; 1856, state senator; 1854 to '56, member of the School Committee; 1860 to '62, president of the Portland Savings Bank; 1866, president of the Portland Aldermen; was an overseer of Bowdoin College, had been a trustee of the Agricultural College in 1863, was especially identified with the Grand Trunk Railroad, having been one of its most ardent advocates and acting as its solicitor at the time of its defeat. He was city solicitor in 1859, and was elected this year one of the directors of the new Maine General Hospital—died of a long-continued illness, Portland, Me., Aug. 31st, aged 63.

BOARDMAN, William W.—Born in New Milford on the 10th of October, 1794; studied at Yale College, from which institution he graduated in 1812. He afterward read law at Litchfield and Cambridge, Mass., was admitted to the bar, and began practicing in politics, he was sent to the legislature of his native state and for years was a member of that body. For some time he was speaker of the house. He was subsequently elected to congress, and represented his district for many years 1841, '43 and '43—New Haven, Conn., Aug. 27th, aged 77.

BROWNING, Major George F.—City Marshal of Salem, reported to have died through excitement caused by the Eastern Railroad disaster, in which his brother was badly hurt—Salem, Mass., Aug. 29th, aged 34.

BUTLER, M. F.—The pioneer arch'eet of California, and a native of Massachusetts—San Francisco, Cal., August 22d.

BATES, John Adams—One of the oldest paymasters in the navy—Charleston, Mass., Aug. 26th.

BALDWIN, Harry—Comic vocalist. See foreign news column.

BANKS, David—Of the firm of Banks & Gould, law publishers; born in Newark, and began the study of the law in this city in 1806. In 1809 he began the law-publishing business with Stephen Gould, and the establishment of Banks & Gould was soon known as the most extensive of the kind in the country. For nearly ten years he held the offices of Alderman and Assistant-Alderman, being President of the Board of Aldermen part of that time. During the later years of his life he was president of the East River Bank—New York city, Sept 8th, aged 88.

BRAVO, Senor Gonzales—An ex-Prime Minister of Spain—died suddenly—Sirriz, Spain. Sept 8th.

BULL, Mrs. Alpheus—Widely known in California and Nevada—committed suicide by hanging herself, while laboring under a fit of temporary insanity, caused by long illness, San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 7th.

BARTON, Wm. } Two sisters who had always been together died
ELDRED, Mrs. } within two hours of each other, and buried in one grave—Sandwanerville, N. Y., about September 6th, aged 93 and 96.

COHEN, Isaac—Formerly a prominent merchant of Savannah—Savannah, Ga., Sept. 6th, aged 78.

CROCKRON, Robert—An old sailor who was on board the Orion at the battle of Trafalgar—Glasgow, Scotland, Aug 12th, aged 86.

DALE, Theron J.—A prominent Boston merchant, having been a partner in the house of Dale Brothers & Co., and was a brother of Surgeon General Dale—died suddenly of apoplexy, Boston, Mass., Aug. 24th.

DE HIME, Charles—The well known writer of French sensational novels—Paris, France, about Sept. 1st, aged 71.

DE ROSA—Tenor singer—Naples, Italy—about Aug. 27th, aged 90.

EDWARDS, Abraham Franklin—Of Beverly, Mass., graduated at Dartmouth College in 1839; adopted the profession of a civil engineer, was employed in surveying on the Boston Railroad and in constructing the Salem tunnel. Subsequently he was engaged in surveying the Fitchburg and the Vermont and Massachusetts Railroads, running lines over the Hoosic Tunnel, etc. For sixteen years he resided at Saratoga Springs, being employed on the projected road through the Adirondack mountains to Lake Ontario, visiting England three times. In 1856-7 he established schools at Marblehead and Gloucester—Concord, Mass., Aug. 24th, aged about 55.

ESSEX, Sr., George—Bass singer. Particulars in foreign news.

EURARDO, Signor—(Joseph Rowley) Cadiz, Spain. Further particulars in another department.

FAULKNER, Fanny—Actress. See elsewhere.

FORESCH, the Rev. Johann August—Pastor of the German Free Congregation, of which he was the founder; born in 1811, in Hanau, and in 1833 came to America. He was also an active country on account of his participation in a revolutionary demonstration, known as the Hambacher Festival. He first established himself as a minister in Pennsylvania, and subsequently in Baltimore, where he came to New York, where he became the founder of a free congregation. In 1861, when the war broke out, he went to the field as chaplain of the Eleventh Militia Regiment, and subsequently the Steuben Volunteer Regiment, and at a still later period the Fifteenth Heavy Artillery Regiment—died of disease of the lungs, which was contracted during BASE BALL.

CHICAGO vs. ECKFORD.

THE SIGNAL DEFEAT OF THE WHITES.

The fourth contest this season between the Eckford and Chicago nine took place on the Union Grounds, L. I., on Sept. 7th, in the presence of over a thousand spectators, the majority of whom were there in the full expectation of witnessing a cleverly contested and exciting game, their anticipations being based on the close games played by the Chicago nines in Philadelphia, Washington and Boston. The weather was fine, the field in excellent order, and both nines appeared to be in good trim for play. The Chicago nine in addition appeared to be in good condition as a playing club, as first appearances indicated, Meranus, a genuine Chicago player, has first appearances to-day, a metropolitan assembly. The contest opened well, but the five a metropolitan assembly. The contest opened well, but the five innings terminated with the totals of 14 to 1 only in favor of the fifth innings terminated with the totals of 14 to 1 only in favor of the Eckfords, the latter supporting their able pitcher in the most creditable style, while the Chicago players did quite the reverse.

THE GAME.

Mr. Rogers called play at 3.30 P. M., the Chicago nine going to the bat. By easy chances in the field the strikers were retired in the bat. By easy chances in the field the strikers were retired in the first inning, when they came to the bat, Nelson fielding two men out in order in which they came to the bat, Nelson fielding two men out in order in which the 3 came in good style. On the other side Nelson had a life given him by a throw of Stearns', after which Chapman and Hicks hit well for three of Stearns', after which Chapman and Hicks hit well for three bases, and sent in Nelson. A bad muff of Wood's, however, saved Stearns, and sent in Nelson. A bad muff of Wood's, however, saved Stearns, and sent in Nelson. Nelson's one getting a base hit, the others hitting these long high balls which country village crowds call "splendid hits." On the Eckford side in this innings, a'ter Wood and Duffy had thrown out the two first strikers in good style, Gedney and Duffy had thrown out the two first strikers in good style, Gedney got second first base, and, getting his second by Hodes' high throw, he came in on Swandell's hit to Duffy, the latter slightly muffing the ball. By a muff of Stearns' Martin had a life given him, and Nelson then hit for earned runs, Swandell coming in on the and Nelson then hit for earned runs, Swandell coming in on the hit. By a high throw of Treacy's to Hodes the bases were cleared, Nelson getting to third by the error. Chapman then e ded the innings, the score leaving Eckford in the van by the totals of 6 to 1.

In the fourth innings the Whites again drew a blank, Treacy alone earning a base. On the Eckford side no less than seven runs were scored on four first base hits, only one run being earned, Stearns throwing wild to first, Duffy muffing a ball, as did Hodes and Simmons in their positions. After four runs had been scored, Hodes was sent to third and Foley went behind, but the change did not prevent errors, and when the innings closed the Eckfords had run their score up to 13, while the Chicagos had to remain content with a single.

In the fifth innings the Chicagos again drew a blank, Martin's strategic delivery being altogether too much for the limited amount of "head work" the majority of the Whites can bring to bear in handling the ash against first-class pitching. On the Eckford side one run was scored on two base hits, a muff by Duffy and passed balls allowing the run to be scored. Wood had to rebuke Foley for walking after a passed ball instead of trying his best to affect his error by active fielding.

The score now stood at 14 to 1 in favor of the Eckfords with a discreditable defeat staring them in the face. Settletn ted off with a safe hit, and in the sixth innings McAtee followed suit, but Wood was well disposed of by Gedney on a foul bound. Treacy, Duffy and Simmons then punished Martin for three base hits, the former coming in on the latter's hit, two runs being earn d, and as Gedney let the ball go by him Simmons made two bases. Before the innings closed Chicago had scored four runs. On the other side the Eckfords were whitewashed, despite of two glaring muffs by Duffy, and a wild throw by Foley, both playing their positions poorly, though Foley partly redeemed his errors by two good catches.

Jimmy Wood now went in to the seventh innings for another rally, hoping to put the Eckfords grumbling, in which case they would be sure to muff. In this he partly succeeded, for by a dropped ball by Nelson, a very bad muff by Shelly and a wild throw by Hicks, four runs were scored on three first base hits. This left the totals at 14 to 9, and Chicago began to feel hopeful of pulling up. But in the Eckford innings the Whites again went into the muffin business and thereby allowed the Eckfords to add 3 to their score, leaving the totals at 17 to 9.

In the eighth innings the Chicagos drew a blank, and again allowing the Eckfords to score 3 more runs by miserable fielding, they closed the eighth innings with the totals at 20 to 9 against them. In the last innings they rallied for 3 runs and whitewashed the Eckfords, but the game ended with a score of 20 to 12 in favor of the Eckfords. The game was well umpired and the victory was earned by good play by the Eckfords in a majority of the innings. The score:—

CHICAGO.	R.	1B.	PO.	A.	ECKFORD.	R.	1B.	PO.	A.
McAtee, 1st b...	1	0	13	0	Nelson, 3d b....	3	2	4	1
Wood, 2d b.....	2	1	2	3	Chapman, r f....	1	2	1	0
Treacy, 1f.....	3	4	4	0	Hicks, c.....	1	2	5	0
Duffy, s s.....	2	1	0	4	Holdsworth, s s.	2	1	2	5
Simmons, r f...	1	3	0	0	Shelly, c f.....	1	1	4	0
Foley, c.....	0	1	6	2	Gedney, 1f.....	2	1	5	0
Stearns, c.....	0	0	0	2	Swandell, 2d b...	1	0	4	1
Hodes, 3d b.....	1	0	2	2	Martin, p.....	2	1	0	1
Zettlein, p.....	2	2	0	3	Allison, 1st b...	2	2	7	1
Totals.....	12	12	27	14	Totals.....	20	20	27	8

INNINGS. Runs Scored.	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th
Chicago.....	1	0	0	0	0	4	4	3	0—12
Eckford.....	6	3	0	0	0	7	1	3	0—20

Runs earned—Chicago, 2; Eckford, 2. Bases earned—Chicago, 14; Eckford, 20. First base on errors—Chicago, 5; Eckford, 13. Fielding errors—Chicago, 29; Eckford, 8. Base on balls—Chicago, 16; Eckford, 7. Fites caught—Chicago, 8; Eckford, 12. Foul bounds—Chicago, 3; Eckford, 6. On three strikes—Eckford, 1. Run out—Eckford, 1. Umpire—Mort Rogers, Star Base Ball Club. Time of game—2 hours and 10 minutes.

BOSTON vs. CHICAGO.

THE RED ABOVE THE WHITE.

The most important defeat sustained by the White Stocking nine on their second eastern tour, was that they received at Boston on Sept. 5th, the third game of the championship series between the two nines. In describing it the Boston Advertiser says:—"The first game of this series, played in this city, was won by the White Stockings, 16 to 4, and the second, in Chicago, by the same nine, 7 to 1. Thus the Reds were in imminent danger of losing the series on the 5th. There was an unusually large number of spectators, the estimate being four thousand, most of them rather apathetic relative of the defeat of the Bostons. Mr. Nicholas Young, of the Olympic club, of Washington, was selected as umpire, and at half past three George Wright stepped to the home plate, bat in hand. He hit to Wood, who fielded him out at first. Barnes after sending up a foul fly, which McAtee muffed, hit a fair fly, which Simmons muffed, but he was forced out at second by Birdsall's grounder to Wood. McVey went out as George Wright had done, leaving Birdsall. McAtee hit to George and retired. Wood earned first and on two loose plays got home. Treacy had first given him and was left on second, Duffy going out on a fly to McVey and Simmons by George in left field. In the second innings Spaulding was captured by Pinkham on a foul fly, and Gould by Duffy and McAtee. Schafer earned first, but was neat y cut off in trying to steal second by Hodes' throw to Wood. The Whites then proceeded to muff Foley, who earned first, being the lucky man. Pinkham, who got first on called balls, was put out at the home plate, trying to get in on a two-baser by Hodes. The latter was left on third and Foley on second, as Zettlein flew out to Barnes and Wood was captured by Schafer and Gould. Barrows opened the third innings by giving Wood and McAtee an easy chance. Harry earned first but was forced out at sec nd by George, who was in fielding a whole to Wood and Birdsall to Barnes. The Whites then made one more run. Treacy earning first and scoring by the aid of a safe hit by Simmons. Duffy sent up a fly to George, Foley a foul fly to Schafer, and Pinkham a foul fly to McVey, who had just gone to bat. Simmons was left on first. On the four h innings the Reds had the ill fortune to be blanked when the bases were full. Birdsall and McVey made safe hits and were left on third and second respectively. Spaulding flew out to Foley, and Gould to McAtee. Schafer was left on first, which he got by an error. Barrows sending up an easy fly to Wood. Then the Whites were blanked, only one man (Zettlein) reaching first base, and he by an error. The game was decided in the fifth innings. Harry hit for first and George went there on an error. Barnes then flew out to Wood, but Birdsall got first on an error and Harry scored the first run for Boston amid hilarious applause. McVey and Spaulding made safe hits, filling the bases, making the situation tense and exciting. Gould was the next striker, and thousands of pairs of eyes were fixed upon him in almost painful expectancy. Suddenly his powerful arms made a tremendous sweep and the ball was sent flying high over the field into the foul line. Thousands of spectators sprang to their feet with yells of encouragement as the striker sped around; when he crossed the home plate the friends of the Reds went into ecstacies. Their extravagance was pardonable, for one blow the latter had made clear and four runs scored, putting their favorites well in the van, and giving the game a decidedly new turn. The next two strikers, Schafer and Barrows, were captured, but the game was won, for not another run was recorded for either side. The play subsequently was very sharp. The Whites worked earnestly for victory, but the Reds gave them tit for tat every time. Schafer distinguished himself by holding two extremely hot flies over the left field fence beautifully captured. George Wright and Gould played in the Cincinnati style, the latter clinging to some very swiftly thrown balls. It is a remarkable fact that George did not care a base during the game. Indeed, the game is usually made up of remarkable hits, as the following score will show:—

BOSTON.	A.B.	R.	1B.	T.B.	P.O.	A.	WHT. STO'KS.	AB.	R.	1B.	T.	P.O.	A.
G. Wright, s s...	5	1	0	0	2	5	McAtee, 1st b...	5	0	0	0	10	0
Barnes, 2d b.....	6	0	0	0	1	3	Wood, 2d b.....	5	0	1	1	1	4
Birdsall, c.....	5	0	0	0	7	1	Treacy, l f.....	4	1	3	4	2	1
McVey, r f.....	4	1	2	3	3	0	Duffy, s s.....	4	0	0	0	3	3
Spaulding, p.....	4	1	1	1	0	6	Simmons, r f....	4	0	1	1	2	0
Gould, 1st b.....	4	1	1	3	13	0	Foley, c.....	4	0	1	1	5	2
Schafer, 3d b....	4	0	1	1	3	4	Pinkham, 3d b...	4	0	0	0	3	2
Barrows, l f.....	4	0	0	0	1	0	Hodes, c.....	4	0	1	3	0	1
H. Wright, c f....	4	1	3	3	2	0	Zettlein, p.....	4	0	1	3	0	1
Totals.....	40	6	9	12	27	8	Totals.....	38	1	6	9	27	13

INNINGS—Runs Scored...	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th
White Stockings.....	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0—1
Boston.....	4	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	1—6

Base play—Put out by Boston—Gould, 9; Birdsall, 1. Chicago—McAtee, 9; Wood, 3; Duffy, 2. Fly catches—Chicago—McAtee, 1; Wood, 1; Duffy, 1; Simmons, 3; Foley, 1.—10. Boston—G. Wright, 2; Barnes, 1; Birdsall, 1; McVey, 1; Spalding, 2; Gould, 1; Schafer, 2; Barrows, 1; H. Wright, 2—13. First bound catches—Chicago—Pinkham, 1. Out on foul balls—Chicago 4 times, Boston 3 times. Umpire—Mr. W. E. Young, of the Olympic Club, of Washington.

CHICAGO vs. MUTUAL.

ANOTHER LUCKY DAY FOR THE WHITES

The Chicago Club closed their second Western tour on Sept. 8th, with the Mutuals, on the Union grounds, L. I., and had the Mutes played with any skill in the field they would have recorded a victory; but as it was, they muffed worse than the White Stockings did, and thereby lost the game. The contest completed their championship series, the Chicagos winning four out of the five games played, the following is a record of the club tour:—

Monday, Aug. 28th, Mutuals, * New York.....	6
Wednesday, Aug. 30th, Athletics, * Philadelphia.....	10
Thursday, Aug. 31st, Olympic, Baltimore.....	15
Friday, Sept. 1st, Athletics, * Washington.....	10
Saturday, Sept. 2d, Olympics, Washington.....	15
Tuesday, Sept. 5th, Bostons, * Boston.....	3
Thursday, Sept. 7th, Eckfords, Brooklyn.....	20
Friday, Sept 8th, Mutuals.....	15
Total.....	76

*Championship games.

The match of Friday was quite unedifying of a detailed description, consequently we give only the score:—

MUTUAL.	R.	1B.	PO.	A.	CHICAGO.	R.	1B.	PO.	A.
Hatfield, 1 f.....	3	1	1	2	McAtee, 1st b.....	2	1	9	0
Patterson, 2d b.....	3	1	2	3	Wood, 2d b.....	3	1	2	3
Start, 1st b.....	1	2	8	0	Treacy, l f.....	4	2	3	0
Wolters, p.....	1	1	0	0	Duffy, s s.....	0	1	1	0
Kepler, c f.....	1	1	1	0	Simmons, r f.....	1	1	1	0
Mills, c.....	0	1	4	0	Foley, c f.....	0	1	1	0
Ferguson, 3d b.....	1	0	3	3	Pinkham, 3d b.....	0	0	1	1
Higham, r f.....	0	0	3	0	Zettlein, p.....	0	1	1	1
Totals.....	10	7	27	9	Totals.....	7	7	27	7

INNINGS—Runs Scored.	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th
Mutual.....	1	0	0	0	7	0	0	0	2—10
Chicago.....	1	0	4	3	1	1	0	0	1—11

Runs earned—Mutual, 3; Chicago, 6. First base on errors—Mutual, 6; Chicago, 10. Total fielding error—Mutual, 19; Chicago, 14. Umpire—A. Martin, of the Eckford Club. Time of game—3 hours.

BOSTON vs. HAYMAKER.

The return game of the "exhibition" series between these clubs was played in Troy, Sept. 7th, and it being Fair week, the receipts were considerable. The game did not redound to the credit of either nine, consequently we give but the score:—

BOSTON.	A.B.	R.	1B.	P.O.	A.	HAYMAKER.	A.B.	R.	1B.	P.O.	A.
G. Wright, s s...	7	3	3	0	3	McGeary, c.....	7	4	3	1	0
Barnes, 2d b.....	7	3	3	3	3	York, c f.....	7	3	3	1	0
Birdsall, r f.....	7	3	3	3	1	Flowers, 2d b....	7	1	1	1	3
McVey, 3.....	7	3	4	1	0	Flynn, 3d b.....	7	3	3	1	2
Spaulding, p.....	7	3	4	0	0	King, l f.....	7	3	4	2	0
Gould, 1st b.....	7	3	4	12	0	McMullin, p.....	7	1	1	0	5
Schafer, 2d b....	7	3	3	3	2	Pike, r f.....	7	2	2	2	0
Barrows, l f.....	6	1	1	1	0	Bellan, s s.....	7	3	3	3	3
H. Wright, c f....	6	1	2	1	0	Connor, 1st b....	7	1	1	9	0
Totals.....	69	26	29	27	12	Totals.....	61	26	26	27	10

INNINGS.	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th
Haymaker.....	1	12	3	0	0	0	1	9	0—26
Boston.....	4	3	0	0	0	0	0	0	1—28

Fly catches—Barnes, 3; Birdsall, 3; Spalding, 2; Barrows, 1—9. Foul, 1; Flowers, 1; King, 1; Pike, 1; Bellan, 1—4. Double plays—Haymakers, 2. Passed balls—McGeary, 1; Bonnell, 1. Left on base—Boston, 7; Forest City, 6. Scorers—Jackson and Sandell. Time of game—3 hours.

CENTRAL vs. UNION STAR.

The Centrals, of Plainfield, N. J., amateur, played a practice game with the Union Stars, junior, on the Capitoline Grounds, L. I., on the 5th inst. The Stars were short their third baseman and change pitcher, and Fleet, of the Mutuals, being an old member of the Union Star Club, was put in the game with the consent of the Centrals, it being a practice game only. The score:—

Union Stars.	O.	R.	P.O.	A.	Centrals.	O.	R.	P.O.	A.
Stephens, c s.....	3	1	1	1	Smith, 2d b.....	3	1	1	1
Fleet, 2d b.....	3	1	3	1	Jobs, p.....	3	1	1	1
Lannigan, c.....	3	1	3	0	Crandell, c f.....	3	1	1	0
Mahoney, l f.....	3	1	1	0	Cooper, 1st b.....	3	1	9	0
Mahoney, r f.....	3	1	1	0	Collier, r f.....	3	1	1	0
McGee, c f.....	3	1	0	0	Merrell, s s.....	3	1	1	1
Bowles, 1st b.....	3	1	9	0	Gue, c.....	3	1	11	0
Coyle, 3d b.....	3	1	1	1	Lind, 3d b.....	3	1	1	2
Baltzovan, 1st b..	3	0	11	0	Lamon, l f.....	3	0	3	2
Totals.....	27	11	27	11	Totals.....	27	11	27	6

Innings.	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th
Centrals.....	4	0	1	0	0	1	3	2	0—11
Union Stars.....	0	1	0	3	2	4	1	1	0—11

Umpire—Mr. Ross, Concord Club. Time of game—3 hours and 30 minutes.

HAYMAKERS vs. ROCKFORD.

On Sept. 5th, the Rockford Club visited Troy to play two games with the Haymakers' nine during the fair week. The first match was played on Tuesday, in the presence of about a thousand spectators, and the result was the signal defeat of the Haymakers, the Rockfords outpitching their new-rmarks by a score of 5 to 1 of earned runs; outfielding them by a score of 7 to 5 of first base by errors, and out-batting them by the score of 19 to 8 of first base hits. The score:—

HAYMAKERS...	R.	1B.	PO.	A.	ROCKFORD....	R.	1B.	PO.	A.
McGeary, c.....	0	0	1	3	Mack, 1st b.....	3	5	16	0
Wheeler, p.....	0	1	2	0	Anson, 2d b.....	1	1	0	7
York, c f.....	0	1	2	0	Piper, p.....	1	1	0	4
Flowers, s s.....	0	0	0	2	Has lings, c.....	0	1	7	1
Flynn, 1st b.....	0	0	14	1	Addy, 3d b.....	1	1	1	4
King, l f.....	1	3	3	0	Hunt, l f.....	1	2	0	0
McMullin, p.....	1	1	0	4	Birdsall, r f.....	0	1	1	0
Bellan, 3d b.....	0	0	0	4	Fulmer, s s.....	1	1	1	1
Craver, 2d b.....	0	0	4	1	Bird, c f.....	1	1	1	1
Totals.....	2	6	27	15	Totals.....	10	19	27	17

INNINGS. Runs Scored.	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th
Haymakers.....	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	1	0—2
Rockford.....	3	0	5	1	0	0	0	0	1—10

Runs earned—Haymakers, 1; Rockford, 13. Umpire—Thos. Bomeisler, Eureka Club. Time of game—2 hours and 45 minutes. Double plays by Pike and Flynn, 1; Flowers, Craver and Flynn, 1; McMullen, Craver and Flynn, 1. Total, 3. Passed balls—Haymakers, 10; Rockford, 27. First base on errors—Haymakers, 5; Rockford, 7.

The Troy papers comment on the umpiring of Mr. Bomeisler as excellent.

On Sept. 6th the two nines played their third game, and, as the contest would decide whether the Haymakers would lose the series or have another chance given them to win, considerable interest was taken in the game. This time the Haymakers left Flowers out, put Connors at first base, Flynn to third base, and Bellan at short field, and as they fielded splendidly and supported McMullen well, that pitcher sent in balls with more effect. In fact, the Haymakers entirely covered the display of the day before, and beat their record in a well earned victory by a score of 5 to 4. Not a run was earned on either side, the game being won by superior fielding, as the score of first base by errors shows. This leaves the Haymakers another chance to win the series. The score:—

ROCKFORD.	R.	1B.	PO.	A.	HAYMAKERS.	R.	1B.	PO.	A.
Mack, 1st b.....	1	0	11	0	McGeary, c f....	3	1	0	1
Anson, 2d b.....	1	1	1	2	York, c f.....	0	1	1	0
Fisher, p.....	1	1	1	1	Connors, 1st b..	1	1	12	0
Hastings, c.....	0	1	1	1	Flynn, 2d b.....	1	0	3	4
Addy, 3d b.....	0	2	3	4	King, l f.....	0	1	2	0
Birds, r f.....	0	0	3	0	McMullen, p.....	0	1	0	3
Hunt, l f.....	0	1	3	0	Pike, r f.....	0	1	3	0
Fulmer, s s.....	1	0	2	3	Bellan, s s.....	0	1	0	4
Bird, c f.....	1	0	0	0	Craver, 3d b.....	0	1	2	1
Totals.....	4	6	27	15	Totals.....	5	9	27	15

INNINGS—Runs Scored.	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th
Rockford.....	0	0	1	1	0	0	0	2	0—4
Haymakers.....	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	4—5

Total base-s earned—Rockford, 6; Haymakers, 2. First base by errors—Rockford, 4, Haymakers, 7. Umpire—Thos. Daubney, of Union Base Ball Club, of Cohoes. Time of game—2 hours and 15 minutes.

RESOLUTE vs. EXCELSIOR.

On Sept. 5th the Resolute Club, of Elizabeth, N. J., visited the Capitoline grounds, L. I., to play their first game with the Excelsior amateurs, of Brooklyn, and the weather being favorable and the field in good order, a good game was expected, especially as the Resolutes presented a new and apparently a very strong nine, including three old Morrisania players, Austin, Sammy Collins and Reynolds, together with a new man at second base. The Excelsiors were unable to present their full nine. After waiting an hour for absent players, the Brooklynites had to take the field without Packer, their fine first baseman, Reynolds, their efficient left fielder, and Jewell, their champion base runner, and under the circumstances it looked as if defeat was in store for the Excelsiors. The game did not begin until after 4 P. M., and the consequence was that it was nearly dark before the eighth innings terminated. The first innings opened with the Excelsiors at the bat, and they gave their opponents easy chances to whitewash them. By fielding errors, however, they were allowed to score a run, the Excelsiors, from a similar cause, allowing the Jerseymen to score three. This looked bad for Brooklyn, but in the next three innings the Excelsiors added 14 runs to their score on twelve first base hits, Pell and the two Chauncys batting with effect, Collins pitching fast instead of slow, there by just suiting the Excelsiors. But three of the fourteen runs were earned. On the other side, the Resolutes added eleven to their score on nine first base hits, five of the runs being earned, Foers not being on his pitching in this game. In the ensuing four innings the Excelsiors added fifteen runs to their score on thirteen first base hits, not a run being earned; the Resolutes, on the other side, adding but seven to their score on ten first base hits, they, too, not earning a run.

By this time there was too little light to field by, and the umpire properly called the game, the result being the success of the Excelsiors by a score of 30 to 21.

The ball was far too lively for good fielding and, moreover, Collins, by not tossing in the "slows," when he can deliver with pretty good effect, allowed the Excelsiors the best chance of punishing. The display on the part of the Excelsiors was far below what they can do, but some good fielding was shown, especially by the two Chaunceys, Dohrman, Pell and Frank. Wells was a failure and Fanly proved conclusively that he has seen his best days on the ball field. On the part of the Resolutes, it was the worst display we have yet seen at their hands. There was muffing all round, if we except M. Campbell and Beardsley, Reynolds' display being the worst of all, for he not only muffed balls, but got sulky, and would not make any effort to redeem his errors by promptly returning the ball when he had muffed it. Pearce imparially umpired the game, but was very lax in his observance of the rule of calling balls and strikes. The score:—

EXCELSIOR.	R.	1B.	P.O.	A.	RESOLUTE.	R.	1B.	P.O.	A.
Chauncey, c.....	3	3	4	2	Austin, l f.....	1	2	2	0
Wells, l f.....	4	2	0	0	Reardley, c f....	1	0	1	0
Dohrman, s s.....	3	1	3	5	Morrison, 3d b...	3	1	5	0
Frank, 3d b.....	3	4	2	5	"Brown," 2d b...	4	3	3	3
G. Chauncey, r f..	4	2	2	1	M. Campbell, s s.	2	3	2	0
Pell, 1st b.....	4	3	9	0	Reynolds, r f....	3	2	2	0
Lockett, c f.....	3	2	0	0	Farrow, c.....	3	3	5	2
Peters, p.....	4	3	0	1	Collins, p.....	3	0	0	1
Flan ey, 3d b....	2	3	2	1	M. Campbell, 1st b	3	0	4	1
Totals.....	30	27	24	16	Totals.....	21	22	24	9

INNINGS.	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th
Excelsior.....	1	4	6	4	6	4	5	0	0—30
Resolute.....	1	0	0	7	4	1	5	1	0—21

First base on errors—Excelsior, 17; Resolute, 9. Total fielding errors—Excelsior, 23; Resolute, 33. Umpire—R. Pearce, of the Mutual Club. Time of game—3 hours and 45 minutes.

MUTUAL vs. CLEVELAND.

MUTUAL STOCK LOOKING UP.

Very recently Captain Ferguson has been enabled to obtain more control over his nine in the field, and the result has been a marked improvement in their play. Following the well earned victory over the Athletics, the Mutuals next played the Forest City nine, of Cleveland, the game taking place on the Union Grounds, L. I., on Sept. 6th, in the presence of about a thousand spectators, the improved fielding by the Mutuals, of course, making their games more attractive. The game opened with the Clevelands at the bat, and they were put out in one, two, three order by the infielders. The Mutuals then went in at the bat, but did no better, their three first strikers giving easy chances to the field. In the second innings the Clevelands made two good base hits and scored as many runs, chiefly by errors, but this lead the Mutuals offset with a score of 3, obtained mainly by good batting, a double play being noteworthy on the part of Carleton and Pratt. In the third innings the Clevelands were retired for a single, and as the Mutuals added 3 to their score, by errors, they closed the innings with the totals at 6 to 5 in their favor. In the next three the Clevelands made five runs, and disposing of the Mutuals for two, left the score at 8 to 7, the game at the end of the sixth innings. The next three innings, however, were unproductive of runs for the Forest City nine, and as the Mutuals rallied well at the bat for the last two innings, by 10 to 8, to be credited to their superior fielding and effective batting, Wolters out-pitching Pratt by a score of 3 to 1 of earned runs. The score:—

FOREST CITY.	R.	1B.	PO.	A.	MUTUAL.	R.	1B.	PO.	A.
J. White, c.....	1	1	4	2	Hatfield, 2d b....	0	3	3	3
Fabor, l f.....	1	1	3	0	Patterson, l f....	3	2	3	0
Allison, c f.....	1	1	0	0	Start, 1st b.....	2	2	13	0
Carleton, 1st b...	1	0	9	0	Wolters, p.....	2	3	0	1
Sutton, 3d b.....	1	1	1	2	Kepler, c f.....	1	1	1	1
E. White, r f.....	0	1	1	0	Mills, c.....	1	1	4	1
Johnson, 2d b.....	0	0	1	2	Ferguson, 3d b..	0	2	0	4
Pratt, p.....	2	1	0	3	Higham, r f.....	1	1	2	0
Kimball, s s.....	0	0	2	3
Totals.....	8	8	27	10	Totals.....	11	14	27	11

INNINGS.	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th
Forest City.....	0	2	1	1	3	1	0	0	0—8
Mutual.....	0	3	0	0	2	0	0	3	3—11

Runs earned—Forest City, 1; Mutual, 8. Total bases earned—Forest City, 11; Mutual, 18. First base on errors—Forest City, 5; Mutual, 8. Total fielding errors—Forest City, 17; Mutual, 9. Umpire—Mort. Rogers, Star Base Ball Club. Time of game—1 hour and 50 minutes.

BASE BALL IN BALTIMORE.

On Saturday, Sept. 2d, the Pastimes, with a newly re-organized nine, played their first game with the Nationals, of Washington. The score:—

NATIONALS...	AB.	R.	1B.	TB.	PO.	A.	PASTIME.	AB.	R.	1B.	TB.	PO.	A.
Coughlin, c.....	5	0	1	1	5	1	Williams, 1st b..	5	2	2	2	9	0
Holly, 2d b.....	5	1	1	1	3	0	Matthews, p.....	5	4	5	6	0	1
Bielaski, r f.....	5	0	0	0	2	0	Carey, 2d b.....	5	5	5	9	4	1
Norton, c f.....	5	2	4	7	1	0	Hall, s s.....	5	3	3	3	2	2
Hurley, 1st b.....	5	0	1	1	13	0	Henry, c.....	5	3	3	3	3	2
Doyle, s s.....	5	0	1	1	5	4	Mincher, l f.....	5	2	3	5	3	0
Helms, l f.....	5	1	1	1	0	0	Barrett, r f.....	5	4	3	5	2	0
Stearns, p.....	5	1	1	1	0	3	Popplein, 3d b..	5	4	3	3	0	2
White, 3d b.....	5	1	1	1	4	5	Doyle, c f.....	5	2	3	3	1	0
Totals.....	45	5	11	16	27	11	Totals.....	46	29	29	41	27	9

INNINGS—Runs scored..	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th	8th	9th
Nationals.....	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	4—5
Pastime.....	6	3	1	4	0	0	8	4	3—29

Base Earned, PIKE18.

National.....	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	0—1
Pastime.....	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	4	2—8

Umpire—Mr. Brennan, of the Swann Base Ball Club, Baltimore. Time of game—2 hours and 30 minutes.

On the 4th inst. the Pastimes met the Swann and defea'ed them, as per appended score:—

SWANN.	AB.	R.	1B.	TB.	PO.	A.	PASTIME.	AB.	R.	1B.	TB.	PO.	A.
Hooper, r f.....	4	0	1	1	0	0	Williams, 1st b..

THEATRICAL RECORD.

Memoranda, Business, and Incidents of the Theatrical, Circus, Musical and Minstrel Profession.

☞ We have no travelling agents, either general or otherwise, and any persons so representing themselves are acting fraudulently. All our regular correspondents are supplied with credentials, and we particularly request that no attention be paid to persons presenting their private cards with the words "Correspondent of the New York Clipper" attached, as they have no authority therefor.

Clipper Post Office.

☞ A stamped envelope, plainly addressed, must be enclosed for each and every letter sent for. Where there are two or more persons of the same name in the profession, the line of business followed by the party addressed should be given, in order to prevent mistakes.

LADIES' LIST.

Adams, Lucy
Aldean, Lizzie A. M.
Berry, Celia
Beaudlet, Mrs. Lou
Bally, Mrs. Harry
Brunell, Ada
Bridges, Eloise
Bliss
Boyd, Nellie
Conway, Mrs. F. B.
Chapman, Julia
Clark, Dot
Cavender, Leona
Darcy, Ann
Duncan, Emma Daly, Polly
Devere, Nelly
Ellis, Lizzie
Estelle, Katy
Freeman, Susie D. (2)
Floyd, Marion D.
Greenfield, Ida
Gibbons, Annie
Harland, Ada (2)
Howson, Ella
Howard, Vic Jr.
Howe, Emoline
Harroid, Margie
Howard, Jessie
Hallean, Mad.
Howard, Lulu
Hayden, Pauline
Herring, Fanny
Irma, Mlle
Jester, Bessie W.
Murray, Jennie
May, Georgie
Mann, Grace C.
Nagle, Malinda
Neville, Emma J.
Nelson, Bonnie
Pinnarat, Viola
Rowell, Bessy
Reed, Mrs. Charles
Ryan, Rose
Rogers, Agnes
Sprague, Addie (2)
Stevens, May Sinnean, Mad.
Safford, Lizzie
Tyson, Annie
Turnour, Louise
Tracy, Imogene
Troy, Cassie (2)
Turner, Mrs. W. C.
Turnour, Millie
Taylor, Millie
Talbot, Violet
Wood, Ada
Western, Lucille
Wallace, Etta

GENTLEMEN'S LIST.

Austin, Chas. (2)
Allen, John
Abbott, John W.
Arizona, Chas. (2)
Antonio, Wash
Atkins, Charley
Becardo, F. M.
Baker, E. B. (2)
Brown, Ben P.
Brown & Sanford
Burnham, Charley
Brown, J. B.
Bell, Frank
Benoit, C.
Burton, W. C.
Butler, C. W.
Barclay, Fred
Bray, Walter
Bailey, Harry
Bidwell, Charles
Butler, Charles W.
C. W. (4)
Cole, Charley
Coup & Fulton
Cook, J. I.
Clair, Charlie
Clark, Kit
Curtis, Frank
Carner, J. W.
Colesli, Pet
Clarendon, G. F
Dobson, Frank P. (2)
Dupree, Charles
De Mar, Charles
Dunspaugh, H. F.
De Thier, M.
Devenport Bros.
Dumont, Frank
Dale, Willie O.
Datallie, Mons. (2) 3c.
Day, Charles H.
Ernst, Phillip 3c.
Eades, Harry Everton, Harry
Edwards, James S.
Fox, Ned
Foster, J. W.
Fechter, M.
Fox, Wm. B.
Foster, J. J.
Fortesque, G. E.
Fillis, Charles
Franks, Sidney
Franckum, Geo. (2)
Forepaugh, Jackson
Fisher, Harry F.
Ganess, Sam (2)
Gorman, Dick
Gilroy, James
Gibbs, C. M.
Graham, Sam
Gullbaums, Justin
Hughes, D. W.
Hudson, Alfred (3)
Hall, A. W.
Heinrick, F.
Holmes, Charles W.
Hall, Alexis
Hall, Emery
Harrison, W. B.
Howard, Jessie
Howard, Lulu
Hayden, Pauline
Herring, Fanny
Irma, Mlle
Jester, Bessie W.
Jordan, George (2)
Jester, G. W.
Jukes, Mr.
Keller, Harry
Kirg, Corney
Kidder, F. S. (2) 3c
King, Geo. W.
Kingsley, W.
Leech, Ike
Long, Joe
Lent, L. B.
La Vake, Wm.
Lawrence, Amos E. (2)
Lee, J. S.
Leopold, Geo. (3)
Leslie, John
Leslie, Harry
La Thorne, M.
Lansiler, W. M. (2)
Leavitt, M. B.
Leavitt, N. W.
Lavantine, Edw.
Leslie, E. M.
McCarty, Wm.
McGill & Strong
Murray, John H.
Mack, Theodore
Morris, Miles
McGloin, P. (2)
Milson, Frank
Morrissey, John
Manning, Wm.
McAllister, Tony
Morris, D. L.
Minnick, John L.
Macart, Fred
Marsden, Fred
Maddion, Charley
Mordaunt, Frank
Naylor, J. W.
Nichols, H. F. (2)
O'Neill, Mr.
Printz, A.
Pastor, Frank (7)
Primrose, George
Purcell, A. W.
Perth, S. S.
Paul, Wm. M.
Quigley, Charles
Roberts, N. D. (2)
Rubini, Sig. (2)
Rendle, H. A.
Ridley, J.
Rostetter, W. J.
Rose, Allen
Rutledge, P.
Rose, Charlie
Sands, Dick
Steele, Geo. K.
Shultz, Charles
Snow, E. S.
Smith, Edwin M. (3)
St. Leon, Harry
Snyder, Ike
Swift, Dion
Steele, Frank
St. Leon, Harry
Shuman, J.
Sharpp & Whitney
Sedden, Geo. W.
Seeley, Charles (2)
Shay, Tiney
Stout, Johnny
Taylor, James (2)
Todd, Wm.
Thompson, J. W. (3)
Thompson, Chas. J.
Unsworth & Eugene
Villa & Miner
Victor, H.
Victorelli, John
Villa, J. B.
Vincent, Jervis
Vilson, Charles
Williams, Sam (2)
White, Jos.
Williams, Sidney
Welch, Fayette
Wilson, Johnny
Wallington, Wm.
Wilson, John
Westgate, Barney
Walters, Chas.
Washburn, Leon W.
Wheeler, Ben

Introductory Overture.

MONDAY, Sept. 11th, '71.

The city is itself again; the absentees have returned; tourists in Europe are "on deck" once more, and Broadway is all alive. The ladies, who seem delighted to once more breathe the impure air of the metropolis, are out in their full strength, and the way they go for the dry goods and milliners' shops is a terrible caution to impecunious husbands and fathers. Already, premonitory symptoms of the fall fashions are to be seen on the street, but the things are so complicated, so mixed, so mysterious in their general "get up," that really we are at a loss how to describe them, or to make known their sphere of usefulness. Remnants of watering place jimcrackery are also to be seen upon the Rialto; but they look faded, flimsy, and otherwise maltreated by being over-exposed to the debilitating action of the salt sea waves.....We feel it to be our duty as Christians in a Christian land, to state, most explicitly, that Mrs. E. C. Stanton indignantly denies that she traveled in California "with one leg each side of a mule." The degraded monster who made such a charge against a lady should be consigned to a felon's cell. Any one of the least sense will see at a glance that the thing is impossible; no, not by any means, get one leg on each side of a mule at the same time; it requires two legs to perform the feat successfully.....And, talking about women, we are told that Mrs. John Wood, the favorite burlesque actress, who of late years has been running a London Theatre, has occasionally to let out on some of her employees who seek to take in the lady; and notwithstanding usually sweet temper, she occasionally waxes wrathy. This was the case a short time ago, when one of her stage drivers sought to intimidate her; in a moment she was in a fine frenzy rolling, as the late lamented poet expressed it; the unruly man thought "the whole strength of the company" was upon him, and the rebellious person was shocked like he had been stricken by a stroke of lightning. It reminds us very forcibly of that passage in "Richard III" where the bloody-minded Duke of Gloster says, says he:—

"Was ever woman in this humor Wood?
Was ever woman in this humor one?"

.....What are the wild waves saying?" dear friends, when they assure us that the great tenor, Herr Ferensy, has been engaged for life at the Grand Ducal Theatre, Weimar. We should think that this life-long infliction on Weimar would make her Jessied before the engagement is over. This is intended for a harmless little bit of pleasantry, the object being to diffuse a spirit of cheerful mirthfulness among our dear readers.—Ed.]......"Our Jim," having, by seeing "Nick of the Woods," "Across the Continent," and other reliable productions of a similar character, acquired the knowledge that gravity is a characteristic of "the noble red man of the forest," has made the ingenious discovery that in California there is a whole race of grave "Diggers."..... And whether, having of McCloskey's successful play, the said James thinks "Across the Continent" in three hours is the greatest thing of this fast age; and wonders whether, while going at this speed, anybody will run "Across the In-continent." We inform the boy that it wouldn't be hard..... It has been one aim of our life to encourage young beginners, be they aspirants for histrionic fame, or gathered to their fathers among the nigger singers, champion pie biters, the rising supernumerary, or the embryo poet; yet we sometimes become discouraged, as it were, by some of the productions sent in to us by our youthful, poetic, mal-practical friends. Distressing as some of these cases are, sad as many of the rhymes leave us, and hardened as our callous nature has become by constant perusal of the juvenile poetic indiscretions sent to us, we nevertheless try to oblige all who seek our aid and connivance in foisting these diabolical inventions upon a too-confiding and generous public. One of the latest poems "written expressly for the New York Clipper" we were placed in possession of during the past week, and though we give place to it, yet we must enter our most protest against the liberty taken by the author on the score of poetic license; having no time to make the corrections necessary, and Jim's machine being inadequate to the task of re-grinding it, we present the document just as it came from the hands of the writer, with all its imperfections on its head. Here is a true simile of the poem. We do not give the author's name, out of regard for his parents' standing in society. We have appended a few notes where the exigencies of the case seem to require them:—

THEM DAYS I'LL SEE NO MORE.

oft times I think of days gone By,
them days that where Blest with glore *
But them days have fled a way,
them days I.l see no more.

But still I think and linger yet, for them Bright days I Cant for get.
for them I had frends By the score
But them Bright days I.l see no more.

In them Bright days I had full and Plenty,
my dollars swung from tens two twenty's
But now I Breathe on a homeies shore. † for them Bright days I.l see no more.

at night when I lay me down two Rest.
Beneath the Rood that god's has Blest.
and in my dreames I seem two Roar.‡
of them Bright days I.l see more.

* We are somewhat in doubt as to the eligibility of this word; glory may be intended, but we do not insist on the substitution; there may be a hidden point that the casual eye fails to detect; therefore, in justice to the author, we give him instead of our readers the benefit of the doubt.

† The painful result, probably, of unfortunate investments in coal oil speculations, or theatrical management; loaded on a ice shore, as it were; hence, "them bright days he'll see no more."

‡ We enter our solemn, earnest protest against the use of the small g in this case; it is a violation of all rule, contrary to all precedent, and if permitted in one case would soon undermine the entire foundation of poetic superstructure. We call upon our fellow citizens to join us in a mass meeting at Cooper Institute to express our indignation at this high handed outrage.

‖ We are also in doubt as to the feasibility of this word; it may be proper in the composition, but "more" would seem to be the more appropriate word here. However, we leave it to the impartial adjudication of our "constant readers" and "admirers."

.....We have repeatedly given instances of extraordinary feats of strength, throwing the caber, holding a hundred and tenner dumb bell, lifting fabulous numbers of pounds, but it remained for the softer sex to cap-ball such trifling performances in the shade; for one of our evening papers makes the astonishing disclosure that Mrs. Field, the female lecturer, "held her audience for three-quarters of an hour"! When even a small audience this is a mighty feat for even a strong-minded woman, but as large assemblages attest the popularity of the fair lecturer, the performance becomes simply miraculous. Here, then, is a new field for the women's rights advocates to operate in.

.....Our Boston friends are always surprising us. At one time they astonish us with a "big organ;" at another they bewilder us with a gigantic "jubilee;" then they knock the double baby; anon, they raise mammoth infantile specimens for a baby show. And now, one of the "biggest" attractions is a two-year old dog, imported from Japan, which is only seven inches high, and nine inches long. This Japan ware is exciting quite a little flutter among the dear creatures of limited stature, and since this new arrival in fashionable society of course has come into existence.....Degraded friends, by Jove, we had indulgent permission, we will now proceed to favor you with one of those scientific problems presented in your every-day existence, or some other outlandish game, which will no doubt hold you much lively sport, as well as be the means of showing your most important powers of mental calculation. There is no way a stranger can get introduced to the society of New York, and who, in his earlier moments of arrival, before his friends have had due cognizance of his presence, or talents he has had time to become universally known as an independent and self-reposing voter, and consequently as an independent and self-reposing citizen, and therefore all stayed under the care and protection of our humble theatrical societies in due season, who would, no doubt, have initiated him in the wicked ways of our cosmopolitan population, which is ever on the alert to take the weary stranger in, to his great disgust and discomfort, no doubt; why as much a Hamburg person—after he has been fleeced and otherwise skinned by one of those professional sharpers with which this city abounds—like the principal character in Mr. Charles Gaylor's drama of "Frisk?" Because he is a cosened German, we believe.....Our boy, Jim, thinks that there is a Lotta devil in a certain piquant actress, who shall, of course, be nameless.....An actor of Philadelphia remarked to a New York professional, a short time ago, that another water famine threatened the Quaker City. "Is that so?" queried the Yorker; "well, in such an event, come to New York for your supplies, as we always have plenty of water here." "Yes," responded the disastrous and ungrateful Brotherly Love-er, "that's because you use so little of it."

.....Miss Nilsson, who was supposed to have lost her diamonds at the commencement of her former engagements, is finding them at the opening of her second season, and in this way she gets free advertising; but some of the papers see the little game, and cut her and her diamonds at the same time.

Fanny Fern Expl—Mum's the word.

City Summary.

The Fall and Winter Season at the Fifth Avenue Theatre was inaugurated on Tuesday evening, Sept. 5th, with "an original comedy of contemporaneous interest," entitled "Divorce," from the pen of the manager, Augustin Daly, which was acted with the following cast:—

Alfred Adrianse	D. H. Harkins
Capt. Lynde	Louis James
Rev. Harry Duncan	H. Crisp
De Wolf De Witt	Wm. Davidge
Templeton Jitt	Jos. Lewis
Mr. Burritt	W. J. Lemoine
Pam	John Burnett
Judge Kemp	D. Whiting
Dr. Lang	Geo. De Vere
Jim	Owen Fawcett
Richard	G. Godfrey
Christmas	J. Chopman

The comedy is in five acts and a portion of its plot was undoubtedly suggested by Trollope's novel of "He Knew he was Right." It is a picture of society and points a good moral, teaching mutual forbearance and self-sacrifice. Notwithstanding the great danger, in treating such a delicate subject, of verging on dangerous ground, the author has been cautious and conservative. The story may be told as follows:—Mrs. Ten Eyck, a lady in fashionable society, has two daughters—Fanny and Louise—and a niece named Grace. In the first scene Louise is about to be married to a rich, elderly widower—De Wolf De Witt, and Fanny is bethrothed to Alfred Adrianse, a young, impulsive, and wealthy gentleman, who has just returned from a two years' cruise in his yacht. Alfred had previously been a suitor for Fanny's hand, which, with her mother's consent, is now promised him. The niece, Grace, a portionless beauty, is reserved for some other wealthy husband, although we see that she is in love with the young clergyman, Harry Duncan, who has come to perform the ceremony of marriage between Louise and De Witt. We are also introduced to a handsome, indolent captain, an exquisite of the first water, who is on a pecuniary tack, and who is willing to content himself with being considered a very intimate friend of all the marriageable young ladies and newly wedded wives. And this Captain Lynde takes especial pains to display his intimacy and familiarity with them when their husbands are about. The first act closes with the departure of the bride, groom, and wedding guests for the marriage ceremony. In the second act we are transferred to Alfred Adrianse's summer residence on Long Island where we find the owner and his bride Fanny comfortably domiciled. Captain Lynde is their guest, and by his familiarity with Fanny he has already excited the jealousy of her husband and caused a breach between them. Adrianse forbids Fanny to speak to him, which she, conscious of her own innocence, refuses to comply with. Mrs. Kemp, a cheerful, honest old lady, counsels Fanny to heed her husband's request, but she, in a spirit of independence, declines, and just at the moment that Fanny is running after Captain Lynde, the husband re-appears, and in a fit of passionate jealousy orders his wife and mother to leave the house. Fanny goes, taking with her their child. Act third shows us the husband fully persuaded of his wife's coquetry, if not actual guilt, and goaded almost to madness by the bogus discoveries of a detective whom he has employed to watch Fanny, who still associates with Captain Lynde. Fanny and her mother having learned from the unfaithful detective the whereabouts of Adrianse's retreat follow him thither, the mother having in the meantime devised a scheme to regain the child by accusing the father of insanity and taking him by force. Fanny is the first to gain her husband's retreat, and working upon his better feelings, is about to achieve the best results when her mother, the mad-house doctor and the detective enter, seize the child and take the house, believing his wife to be treacherous, and the author of the plot of which he is the victim, falls into a paroxysm of rage, which is mistaken for insanity, and he is overpowered and borne to an asylum. The last act brings us again to New York. Fanny, who will not believe in the insanity of her husband, seeks his release; but ere she exerts herself in that direction, Adrianse has freed himself by convincing the doctor of his sanity and the plot against him. He comes to her to say farewell, by sign to her the child. Fanny beseeches him to forgive the past and that they may in future live in reconciliation; but the old estrangement in his heart darkens the future, and he sees no way in which they can be re-united, when the child rushes in to welcome his papa, exclaiming that "Mamma will never be alone now." The voice of nature prevails and the husband and wife rush into each other's arms. Such is the main story running through the comedy. The lighter portions embrace the somewhat ludicrous attempts of Lu to obtain a divorce from her husband, De Witt; and the scene with Templeton Jitt, a lawyer who "procures divorces without publicity," and his detective, Burritt, are very amusing. It was mounted throughout with freshly painted scenery, some of which was very beautiful, particularly the ruins of the Convent at St. Augustine, Florida. The characters were elegantly costumed, and the ladies had ample opportunity to display a number of rich and varied toilets—a change being made each act. The comedy is too long, having little to relieve it, and nearly all the characters are mere sketches, and to those who had failed to peruse the fragment of the novel it must seem incoherent. Mr. Bandmann's impersonation of John Jasper may, as a whole, be termed effective, although great scope for acting was not afforded. In the scene of his confession of his love to Rosa his acting was electrical, and his portrayal of the mesmeric influence he was supposed to hold over the lady was quite effective. Again, when the public announcement of the murder of Edwin Drood was made, his powers of dissimulation were finely displayed. In the later portions of the drama, in his delineation of the effects of opium smoking, he was quite successful. Mark Smith gave an artistic and effective rendition of Durdles, investing it with much individualization of character, both as regards costume, make-up and acting. E. F. Thorne did much to wipe out the unfavorable impression he created on the opening night by his quiet and natural acting of Edwin Drood, for which he deserves much praise. His assumption of old age, in the disguise of Dick Datchery, in the last act, was highly creditable. C. W. Barry invested the somewhat sketchy part of Sapsea with character and acted it naturally. Harry Eytinge as Crisparkle was easy, unaffected, and more colloquial in style than on the occasion of his first appearance, and his acting deserves commendation. T. J. Hind, as Grewgious, the "angular man," was a close copy of the character as described by Dickens. W. H. Pope acted Neville Landless with much vigor. George Pope as Johnson gave character to Honeythunder. Miss Marion Fiske acted the Deputy with much vivacity and displayed a considerable intuition of character. This young lady, though but a brief time upon the stage, gives evidence of much latent dramatic ability, which, under proper development, will, we think, make her an excellent soubrette actress. Rose Bud, which in theatrical parlance is a walking lady, was effectively acted by Mrs. Bandmann, although no great opportunity for the display of histrionic ability was afforded her. She successfully portrayed the mysterious influence exerted over her by Jasper, and her love scenes with Edwin Drood were girlish and natural. In the last scene, when denouncing Jasper as the murderer of Edwin Drood, she evinced considerable power. Miss Edith Challis deserves commendation for her impersonation of Helena Landless. Miss Emma Cline was highly successful as the opium crone, it being a strongly-marked individualization. Miss Frances Jackson as the spinster, Miss Twinkleton, of uncertain age, acted with effect, and Miss Keough's impersonation of Mrs. Crisparkle was commendable. The attendance was good the early part of the week, but fell off during the latter.

"Humpty Dumpty," one of the most popular pantomimes that has ever been produced upon Broadway, was presented in a reconstructed form at the Olympic Theatre on Thursday evening, Aug. 31st, on which date the fall and winter season was commenced. It was originally produced at this theatre March 10th, 1868, and was withdrawn after the performance of May 15th, 1869, 483 representations having been given. In the present version the characters in the opening burlesque are cast as follows:—

Tragedy	Mrs. Yeamans
Burlesque	Miss Lulu Prior
America	Miss Flora Lee
Europe	Miss K. Melnotte
TRANSFORMATION OF CHARACTERS.
Clown	G. L. Fox
Pantaloon	G. K. Fox
Harlequins	Imre & B. Kiraly
Africa	Mr. De Rosny
Asia	Miss H. Naylor
New Jersey	Geo. A. Beane
Others	Messrs. Tyson & Atkins
Columbines	Haniola & Emilie
Sprite	Herr Willio

The pantomime was presented in three acts, the first being devoted to the burlesque opening, the transformation of characters and three scenes of pantomime. The second act is devoted entirely to the incidental attractions, and in the third act the pantomime is again resumed and finished. The incidental attractions were as follows:—A grand ballet with Miles. Adele Pagliori, Marietta Moriondo, Clemence Alexandrowa, premieres; Mlle. Derpa, the Misses Howe, F. Beane, Richards, Moritz, Mayer, Bohme and Flora Lee, coryphees, and a corps de ballet; the Marten family, Mons., Mme. Martin and Mlle. Gretchen, Tyrolean vocalists; Signor Cassoli, performer on the invisible wire; E. M. Brunaux, Maire, Robert and Rojade, Parisian grotesques; Young Adonis and little Venus, bicycle performers; little Jeannie Yeamans, character vocalist, and the Kiraly ballet troupe, consisting of Miles. Haniola, Katie, Emilie, M. M. Imre and Boiosny Kiraly. The pantomime was mounted with freshly painted sceneries from the pencil of James E. Hayes, assisted by J. A. Johnson. The first three scenes—the Retreat of Romance, the Vale of Fertility and a Subterranean Grotto, together with an Oriental Palace in the second act, and the closing scene being marvels of scenic art. The music had been especially arranged by F. Strebinger, who deserves much commendation for the success he achieved; the machinery and mechanical effects were under the personal supervision of J. Tait; the tricks, properties and appointments were manufactured by R. Cutler, and the calcium lights, of which there were a great number, were skillfully handled by Messrs. Caffery and Wilson. For the admirable disposition of these various elements, and the general superintendence of the en ire production too much praise cannot be awarded to John H. Selwyn, the commodious theatre, situated on the southerly side of Union square, midway of the block between Broadway and Fourth avenue. The company and officers are as follows:—Messrs. Felix Rogers, George H. Coes, Scawdardi, Kelly, Morgan, Waddleton, Hurley, the Misses Emma Grattan, Lizzie Wilmore, and Belle Howitt, burlesque artists; M'lles Marie Bonfanti, and Bertha, premiere danseuses; the Misses Alexandrina, Carrie Haines, Caroline, Gabrielle and Amelia Schrotter, Fannie Lucille, Ida Ross, Ida Greenfield, Viro Farrand, Lizzie Dark, Louisa Le Comte, Alberton and Nellie Blanwood constitute the corps de ballet; Miss Annie Adams, serio-comic vocalist, from the principal music halls of London, Eng., who will make her American debut; Fred Foster, comic vocalist and female impersonator, also from the London Music Hall, will likewise make his American debut; Hughey Dougherty, Ethiopian comedian; the Matthews family, from the principal London music halls, who will make their American debut; Manola, Ethiopian comedian and banjo performer; Monroe and Mack, song and dance performers: M'lle Geraldine and George Leopold, aerial gymnasts; Lew Rattler and J. Myers, Ethiopian performers; Miss Madelaine Hardy, actress; the Martinetti-Ravel pantomime troupe, consisting of the following artists:—Alfred, Julien, Albert and Paul Martinetti; Mons. Justin, M'lle Desire, la petite Adele, M'lle Adele Martinetti and M'lle Louisa Le Comte; manager, Robert W. Butler; stage manager, George H. Coes; treasurer, E. H. Gouge; machinist, William W. De Mitt; ballet master, Signor Grossi; properties, H. Southerton, and an efficient orchestra, under the direction of D. Braham. At a private rehearsal given at this theatre last evening we had the pleasure of hearing Miss Annie Adams and Mr. Fred Foster sing a number of songs. Miss Adams has a figure somewhat inclined to embonpoint, a pleasing, expressive face, a powerful, flexible voice, and much vivacity of manner. Nearly all the selections she sang were new, the airs are popular and catching and her dramatic powers are highly meritorious. Mr. Foster is young, has a lithe, supple figure and a sympathetic tenor voice, of wonderful purity of tone. His method is good and his enunciation remarkably distinct. So far as we could judge, in the absence of character costume and make-up, his delineations of the Swells and Dudes of the Period will prove very successful. His manners are pleasing and he possesses a peculiar power of ingratiating himself at once into the favor of the audiences. Such scenery as was displayed was bright, cheery and artistically painted. The auditorium, when lighted, has an elegant appearance, and it may be pronounced one of the handsomest theatres in the city. Matinees will be given Wednesdays and Saturdays, at half-past two o'clock.

At Tony Pastor's the fall and winter season is announced to be inaugurated this evening, Sept. 11th, with the following company:—Frank Kerns, Sam Devere, Johnny Queen, H. W. Egan, Chas. Walters, J. W. Collier, Miss Kitty O'Neil, Miss Jennie Gilmer, Miss Josie Farran, Miss Adele Farran, William Carleton, Turner and Lester, Frank Girard, Charles F. Seabert, J. A. Grover, Joseph Braham, Jennie Kerr, Miss Marie Gorendo, Miss Amelia Gorendo, Miss Nellie Ayling and Tony Pastor. During the recess the auditorium has been freshly painted and decorated. Matinees are announced to be given twice a week, on Tuesdays, instead of Wednesdays, as heretofore, and Saturdays.

Dan Shelby, the manager of Shelby's Comique, Buffalo, N. Y., is in the city on a brief visit. He reports business at his theatre as excellent. He is a hustling energy and is not afraid to engage the highest salaried performers in the business, for by so doing he has made his theatre one of the most popular resorts in Buffalo.

Col. T. A. Brown, dramatic agent, 718 and 720 Broadway, states, through his card elsewhere, that during his absence in Europe Mr. Robt. H. Stevens will attend to his business. The following are extracts from letters received by Mr. Brown:—Louis Gumpert, leader of orchestra; Frank S. Currier, pianist and lecturer, and Ed. Banker, variety performer. The Louisville Opera House and Wall's Opera House, Washington, D. C., can be rented through him.

Miss Fleesy Mordaunt, recently of the Olympic Theatre, London, Eng., will be the leading lady at Wallack's Theatre the present season.

Among the arrivals from Europe during the past week were the artists composing the Vienna Lady Orchestra, and the manager, Fred Rullman; Tom Kari, one of the tenors of the Parepa Rosa Opera Troupe; MM. Capoul and Samait, of the Nilsson Opera Troupe; Wachtel, the German tenor, and George Dolby, agent of the Santly company.

Miss Matilda Heron is about to resume her profession, and will, it is said, appear during the present season at the Grand Opera House, Brooklyn.

At the Bowery Theatre G. Swaine Buckley acted during the past week in "On the Track," which was preceded by the comedietta entitled "My Neighbor's Wife." This evening, Sept. 11th, T. G. Riggs will commence an engagement, when Poole's Irish drama entitled "Shin Fane" will be re-produced. The drama has been almost entirely re-constructed and an underplot added.

Up to date of Sept. 2d, from our regular correspondent, as follows:—"At the California Theatre the beautiful scenery and startling incidents of 'Ready' have continued to attract large audiences. Manager J. C. Williamson, by the quality and number of his favorites.....The programme was high, bright and entertaining, embracing the specialties of Billy Emerson, Charley Howard, Charley Vivian, S. S. Purdy, Master Eugenia, Gustave Bideaux, Sheridan and Mack. S. S. Purdy, who has for a long time acted as bone-player in the first part to the satisfaction of patrons in general, finishes his engagement this evening, and takes his departure overland for New York at the earliest opportunity.....The Royal Tycoon Japanese Troupe have been performing with success in Platt's Hall, the principal attraction being Gangero, who is by far the most clever performer that has appeared in America. In Australia, Gangero won an enormous reputation, and there is every likelihood of his achieving a similar distinction in this country. The troupe close their engagement to-night.....At Woodward's Gardens, in addition to a floral and zoological museum, there are on exhibition three Fiji cannibals, hideously painted, addicted to demoniac yowling and dancing. They are said to be the first of their race that have been introduced to America.....At the Great Oxford, Dan Lowrey and Miss Lizzie Worrell made their first appearance Sept 2d. The production of a burlesque on 'Ready' is announced.....At the Bon Ton Union and Comique affairs remain materially unchanged.....Mrs. Conroy Pastor, Mme. Lopez and pupils, and Miss Clara Starr left on the steamer for Portland, Sept. 1st, under engagement to appear at the Theatre Comique.....Mrs. F. M. Bates, who has lately been starring through Los Angeles, has been engaged to lead the business at the Metropolitan during the season.....Louis Braham, tenor singer, and late of Emerson's minstrels, with whom he has sung with success for many months, has left, overland, for Chicago, where he has an an engagement."

The programme presented last week at Fox's American Theatre, Philadelphia, was highly relished by the large audiences nightly in attendance. The new faces to be seen were Wm. P. Roy, Duton Vocalist; the Richeda Family, four in number, in a musical melange; Alex Zanfretta, pantomimist, and Harry Brown, comic vocalist, the latter being extensively billed as the "Whistling Thief," and he created some little sensation by the novelty of his performance. He appeared on the stage in full evening dress, and proceeded to astonish the preparatory to singing the rattling Irish song known as the "Whistling Thief," with what success may better be imagined than described. He indulged in several imitations which were exceedingly ludicrous. Some of the boys in the gallery hissed on Wednesday evening, and Brown made a speech, saying that "his treatment by the 'gods' was truly disgraceful, but that he was bound to do his duty under all circumstances." Having thus excited the sympathies of the audience he was rewarded with one or two encores, although a great many persons left the house. Wm. P. Roy made quite a hit in his Dutch vocalism, and the Richedas created a perfect furore by their excellent violin and guitar playing, receiving several encores. Alex Zanfretta was heartily welcomed on making his reappearance in "Robert Macaire." The new ballet entitled "Au Fees Ches Eux," has proved a great success, and the lively and graceful dancing of M'lle De Rosa and Miss Lucie Clinetop, in conjunction with the corps de ballet, received considerable applause, the groupings and scenic appendages being excellent. Andy Hughes continues in his club-swinging act, and M'lle de King and Mons. de King repeated their daring act on the trapeze, the lady also doing the flying leap from the gallery with great success. Bob Harrison, Charles Young, John Forbes, and Lew and Frank Collins continue to please in their Ethiopian sketches and burlesques. Prof. John Ritter, for a long time leader of the orchestra, has resigned that position, which is now filled by Mr. Frederick Perkins. Mr. John Underhill now acts as treasurer of this establishment.

The romantic drama of "Amy Robsart" attracted large audiences at the Walnut Street Theatre, Philadelphia, last week, and is announced on the bills for repetition this week.

At the Museum, Philadelphia, the dramatic company attracted a much better attendance than heretofore, and the first week of the fall and winter season may be said to have been successfully commenced. The dramatic portion of the entertainment here presented included "Still Waters Run Deep," "The Ticket of Leave Man" and "The Cricket on the Hearth." On the 11th inst., "The Sea of Ice" is announced for production. On the 18th inst., Blanche De Bar will commence an engagement in "Bertha."

The 'Old Reliable Theatre" company are announced to commence a brief season at Brownsville, Pa., on Sept. 16th.

Marie Zoe publishes a card in another column in which she states that she has purchased of Chas. Foster the sole right to play "Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl," in several states, and warns parties that they will be prosecuted if they infringe upon her right.

Miss Lillie Eldridge performed her new play of "Alma" during the past week at Montreal, C. E., meeting with much success. She commences an engagement in St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 18th.

Cincinnati Theatricals are detailed by our correspondent, on the 8th, as follows:—"Wood's Theatre opened for the regular fall and winter season on Monday last, 4th inst., to a large and appreciative audience, with C. W. Couldock as star, in the play of the 'Willow Copse.' The cast was published in full in last week's Clipper. Mr. Couldock's Luke Fielding was the same natural rendition of the plain, honest farmer as of yore, the dialect of the Yorkshireman seeming to come natural to him. Mrs. Rachel Johnson Macauley made her first appearance on the stage in two years as Rose Fielding, and certainly carried off the honors of the evening. A little nervousness was at first perceptible in her reading and action, but as she warmed up to the part, and entered into the impassioned scenes, she excited great enthusiasm, being called out at the close of the first act. Mr. Whiting, who was here season before last, played Sir Richard Vaughn, and received a warm welcome at his entree. He was dressed in good taste, read well and was correct generally, but hardly worked up to the fervor requisite at times. He also was honored with a call. Mr. Macauley appeared as Augustus, and gave his auditors a very funny bit of low comedy, which they seemed to relish vastly well. Miss Fanny Prestige personated Meg, and, on the whole, not very successfully, though she carried out her conception very well. But she made it too much of a shrieking chimney-sweep and too little of an honest, eccentric character, not unlike that of Luke Fielding. She was a prime favorite here in the company at the old Pike's Opera House, during its last season, and is a valuable acquisition. The role of Duck Hulks had been assigned to H. A. Wentworth, but that gentleman was unable to reach the city owing to illness, and R. Russell replaced him. He did not do the part justice. Mary Vaughan was assigned to Miss Emma Salisbury, a rising young actress, modest and pretty, who rendered it very effectively. John Marble took Bill Staggers with good effect, inclining, perhaps, a little too much to broad humor, but that is a fault generally rather relished. The balance of the cast was filled by members of last season's company and none of the characters gave much chance for display. On the whole, the opening was a very decided success. On Wednesday the 'Chimney Corner' was substituted, together with the comedietta of 'A Duchess or Nothing.' H. H. Wood appeared as John Probity, and rendered the part well. He has been here several seasons in former times. Mary Davenport made her first appearance in this city as Grace Emery, and created a very agreeable impression. Couldock's Peter Probity needs no notice. Church gave an effective rendition of old Solomon Probity, as did Charlotte Crampton of Patty. In the second piece Mrs. Macauley was charming as Susanne, and Macauley was excellent in the difficult character of Duke de Boissec. To-night (Friday) and to-morrow, Boucicault's comedy, 'Old Heads and Young Hearts' is to be the bill, with Couldock as Jesse Rural, Whiting as Littleton Coke, Macauley as Tom Coke, and Mrs. Macauley as Lady Alice. On Monday next, 4th inst., to a large and appreciative audience, with C. W. Couldock as star, in the play of the 'Willow Copse.' The cast was published in full in last week's Clipper. Mr. Couldock's Luke Fielding was the same natural rendition of the plain, honest farmer as of yore, the dialect of the Yorkshireman seeming to come natural to him. Mrs. Rachel Johnson Macauley made her first appearance on the stage in two years as Rose Fielding, and certainly carried off the honors of the evening. A little nervousness was at first perceptible in her reading and action, but as she warmed up to the part, and entered into the impassioned scenes, she excited great enthusiasm, being called out at the close of the first act. Mr. Whiting, who was here season before last, played Sir Richard Vaughn, and received a warm welcome at his entree. He was dressed in good taste, read well and was correct generally, but hardly worked up to the fervor requisite at times. He also was honored with a call. Mr. Macauley appeared as Augustus, and gave his auditors a very funny bit of low comedy, which they seemed to relish vastly well. Miss Fanny Prestige personated Meg, and, on the whole, not very successfully, though she carried out her conception very well. But she made it too much of a shrieking chimney-sweep and too little of an honest, eccentric character, not unlike that of Luke Fielding. She was a prime favorite here in the company at the old Pike's Opera House, during its last season, and is a valuable acquisition. The role of Duck Hulks had been assigned to H. A. Wentworth, but that gentleman was unable to reach the city owing to illness, and R. Russell replaced him. He did not do the part justice. Mary Vaughan was assigned to Miss Emma Salisbury, a rising young actress, modest and pretty, who rendered it very effectively. John Marble took Bill Staggers with good effect, inclining, perhaps, a little too much to broad humor, but that is a fault generally rather relished. The balance of the cast was filled by members of last season's company and none of the characters gave much chance for display. On the whole, the opening was a very decided success. On Wednesday the 'Chimney Corner' was substituted, together with the comedietta of 'A Duchess or Nothing.' H. H. Wood appeared as John Probity, and rendered the part well. He has been here several seasons in former times. Mary Davenport made her first appearance in this city as Grace Emery, and created a very agreeable impression. Couldock's Peter Probity needs no notice. Church gave an effective rendition of old Solomon Probity, as did Charlotte Crampton of Patty. In the second piece Mrs. Macauley was charming as Susanne, and Macauley was excellent in the difficult character of Duke de Boissec. To-night (Friday) and to-morrow, Boucicault's comedy, 'Old Heads and Young Hearts' is to be the bill, with Couldock as Jesse Rural, Whiting as Littleton Coke, Macauley as Tom Coke, and Mrs. Macauley as Lady Alice. On Monday next, 4th inst., to a large and appreciative audience, with C. W. Couldock as star, in the play of the 'Willow Copse.' The cast was published in full in last week's Clipper. Mr. Couldock's Luke Fielding was the same natural rendition of the plain, honest farmer as of yore, the dialect of the Yorkshireman seeming to come natural to him. Mrs. Rachel Johnson Macauley made her first appearance on the stage in two years as Rose Fielding, and cert cellent manner, and elicited hearty applause. The orchestra, which was a piano, manipulated by Mrs. Pyne Galton, was only fair, and was placed upon the stage in such position as to hide many of the performers from the audience. Great dissatisfaction was expressed concerning the programme."

SHERRY'S NEW YORK THEATRE COMPANY performed at Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 7th, 8th and 9th, producing "Lottery of Life," the "Red Light" and "Leah, the Forsaken." Our correspondent, writing on the 9th, says:—"Business was good throughout, and on Saturday night the receipts amounted to over $400, while nearly two hundred people were turned from the doors. Manager Sherry has every reason to be proud of his brilliant success thus far in his campaign, and the universal regret among the play-going portion of our community was that the stay of this popular troupe could not be prolonged. They opened in Allentown on the 11th."

IN HARTFORD, CONN., "New York After Dark" was performed by W. C. Hober's Dramatic Company, Sept. 4th.

.....Edwin Adams, under Henderson & Lowell's management, performed Sept. 5th and 6th.....Oliver Doud Byron is announced to play in "Across the Continent," under H. G. Clarke's management, Sept. 15th and 16th.

MISS DOLLIE BIDWELL, a very popular actress in the New England circuit, commences a star engagement at Albany, N. Y., Sept. 18th.

AT BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Edwin Adams, supported by a dramatic company under the management of Messrs. Henderson and Lowell, played Rover in "Wild Oats" and William in "Black Eyed Susan," Sept. 4th.....W. Horace Lingard and his company performed "Naval Engagements," Lingard's Sketches, and "Marriage at any Price," Sept. 7th. The auditorium was crowded in every part.

.....Albert W. Aiken and his company performed the "Witches of New York" on the 8th, and is announced to return there October 9th.....Mlle. Zoe commenced an engagement of three nights Sept. 9th, under the management of Glassford and Meeker. "Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl," and "Kita; or, Woman's Constancy," were the attractions announced.....E. T. Stetson is announced to play in "Neck and Neck" Sept. 15th, under the management of T. E. Furbush. So wrote our correspondent on Sept. 8th.

MISS FANNY B. PRICE, supported by a dramatic company under the management of D. Hanchett, is billed to play during the fair at Mansfield, O., commencing Sept. 18th.

THE OLYMPIC THEATRE, St. Louis, Mo., under the management of Spaulding and Pope, was opened for the season on Sept. 4th, with the comedy of "Money," cast as follows:—Alfred Evelyn, Charles Pope; Sir John Vesey, W. D. Shiels; Captain Dudley Smooth, J. W. Hill; Sir Frederick Blount, H. A. Ellis; Stout, J. F. Pike; Lord Glossmore, Geo. Morton; Graves, W. R. Lloyard; Sharpe, J. Moen; Evelyn's servant, F. Watson; Sir John's servant, S. Norton; Clara Douglas, Louise Hawthorne; Lady Franklin, Miss E. J. Phillips; Georgina Vesey, Kate Browning. "Foul Play" was produced on the 5th and held the boards three nights, and "the Streets of New York" was acted the balance of the week. Miss Lillie Eldridge commences an engagement on Tuesday, Sept. 12th, appearing in "Alma." During the recess the entire building has been freshly painted, and the auditorium has been re-decorated, white and gold being the prevailing colors. A new drop curtain—a copy of Church's great picture, the "Heart of the Andes"—has been painted by Thomas B. Gleseing, of Indianapolis, Ind., and a large illuminated gas sign has been added to the front of the theatre.

DAVIS & CO., theatrical agents, Cincinnati, O., who advertise, want a leading, juvenile and old man, a leading lady and other people.

THE COMPANY engaged by John A. Stevens for the Great Western Star Circuit is requested to assemble for rehearsal at Kansas City on Sept. 20th. A leading juvenile man is wanted. See advertisement.

DE BAR'S OPERA HOUSE, St. Louis, Mo., was opened for the regular season on Sept. 4th, when the Chapman Sisters—Blanche and Ella—assisted by E. A. Locke, comedian, commenced an engagement, acting in a new play written by E. A. Locke entitled "True." The attendance is said to have been large, and the company met with much favor. Considerable new scenery had been painted for the piece and new music arranged therefor by Augustus Waldauer, the leader of the orchestra.

THE DRAMATIC SEASON IN BROOKLYN was inaugurated for 1871 and '72 on Sept. 4th, when Joe Jefferson commenced a week's engagement at the Brooklyn Academy of Music under the management of his son Charles. The opening attendance was moderately good only on the opening night, but afterwards business improved mightily, and on Friday the house was crowded, the matinee on Saturday being also well attended.....On Monday, Sept. 11th, the Park Theatre is to be opened under the control of Messrs. Carroll and McCloskey, the former also being acting manager, and the latter stage manager, with Mr. J. Connolly as treasurer. The season will be opened by Joe Murphy, who commences a week's engagement in Master's sensational play entitled "Help," the cast embracing Mrs. Jennie Carroll, Miss Dolie Pike, Mrs. D. B. Vanderen, Miss Lizzie Campbell, and Messrs. J. Z. Little, F. Hight and D. Fitzpatrick.

THE SALT LAKE THEATRE, Salt Lake City, Utah, will be re-opened for the fall and winter season on or about Sept. 18th. The company will consist of David McKenzie, John C. Graham, Phil Margetts, W. T. Harris, A. Thorne, C. H. Mathews, John Madden, John W. Dunne, Mark Wilton, M. Forster, J. B. Kelly, Harry Horsley, S. W. Drake, Miss A. Adams, Mrs. Carrie Carter, Mrs. Alice Clawson, Miss E. Bowring, Miss Dellie Clawson, Miss Edith Clawson, Mrs. Griest and Miss Susie Spencer. Mrs. Lander will be the first star, opening on the 25th.

CLIFFORD'S DRAMATIC COMPANY is billed to play one week at Fond Du Lac, commencing Sept. 11th; Upon six nights, commencing the 18th; Berlin, 25th and 26th; Appleton, 27th 28th, 29th and 30th; Oshkosh, one week, commencing Oct. 2d.

BIDWELL AND WILKINSON'S DRAMATIC COMPANY closed a week's engagement at Lowell, Mass., Sept. 9th. The company is as follows:—C. E. Bidwell, C. Wilkinson, T. N. Edwards, H. Reese Davis, C. W. Holmes, J. W. Reynolds, C. E. Ashton, G. E. Churchill, H. Whipple, the Misses Dollie Bidwell, Lizzie Wilkinson, Jane Parker, Ida Ashton and Fanny Whipple. J. Billings is musical director and G. H. Convers agent. They are billed to perform next at Manchester, N. H.

THE ACADEMY OF MUSIC, Cleveland, O., was opened for the fall and winter season Sept. 9th, with "Writing on the Wall."

THE WORRELL SISTERS' DRAMATIC COMPANY are billed to play at Brainard's Hall, Cleveland, O., during the present week.

"THE PRINCESS OF TREBIZONDE," done into English by Mr. Toole, of the Gaiety Theatre, London, Eng., with the cuts, gags, &c., is advertised for sale by Col. T. A. Brown.

THE FREEMAN SISTERS, who have been for some time in the variety profession, will make their debut on the dramatic stage at the Theatre Royal, Montreal, Canada, on Sept. 18th, in a new five act drama, written expressly for them. C. Amory Bruce, who is at present in this city, will act as their agent.

A NEW VERSION of "Bertha," entitled "Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl of New York; or, Jack Ryerson in Texas," with several new sensations, is ready for production, and managers are referred to P. Connolly's card in another column.

JOE MURPHY commences an engagement at Martin's Hall, Albany, N. Y., acting in "Help," under the management of F. G. Maeder.

CHARLES ABBOTT'S Pantomime Troupe performed at the Academy of Music, Buffalo, N. Y., during the past week in the "Three Hunchbacks." This evening, Sept. 11th, Mrs. James A. Oates' Burlesque Troupe commence a week's engagement, opening in "The Fair One with the Blonde Wig."

DRAMATIC AFFAIRS in Albany, N. Y., are thus written about by our correspondent under date of Sept. 9th:—"The Comic Opera season, which closed to-night, has been a brilliant one. The 'Daughter of the Regiment' was produced for one night, the 4th; 'King's Secret' on the 5th. The feature of the week, 'Fortunio,' was brought out on the 6th to an immense house. This piece, which has been in preparation some time, was placed on the stage with new scenery, costumes and appointments. It is undoubtedly the company's best effort. Mrs. Oates as Hon. Miss Myrtina, assuming the name and arms of Fortunio, showed to fine advantage. Mr. H. T. Allen as Vindicta, and W. H. Crane as King Allfourite were appreciated. That young and promising actor, Mr. Chas. Drew, who has become a decided favorite during his stay in this city, in the character of Prince Elfa, was especially good. H. W. Pratt as King Foo-Foo and J. B. Nugent as Gormand were very funny. The other characters were well sustained. The foot race and dragon caused considerable mirth.....Mrs. Jane Coombs and company opens in the 'School for Scandal' on the 11th. During the week 'Love's Sacrifice,' 'Honeymoon,' 'Love Chase' and 'Romeo and Juliet' will be presented."

THE VILLA AND MINER COMIC OPERA AND COMEDY TROUPE, who are making a tour of the New England states, are reported as doing an excellent business. The Valley Index, of Waterbury, Conn, speaks of their recent performances in that city as follows:—

"The company is talented beyond the common herd, and we do not exaggerate when we class the troupe as far superior to any which has visited our town since Maggie Mitchell dropped down upon us. Those who like to patronize a good show will be gratified with delighted with the—Miner troupe. The performances from the heart, as we never received a mercenary cent for it.)

This week they perform in Williamantic, Conn., and Taunton, Mass., and open at the St. James Theatre, Boston, Sept. 18th, for two weeks.

AT BOSTON, Mass., during the past week, Joe Murphy played quite a successful engagement at the Boston Theatre, acting in "Help." This week "Elfie; or, The Cherry Tree Inn," with a portion of Wallack's company in the cast, will be acted.....At the Museum, "My Uncle's Will" was the attraction of the past week, and Henry J. Byron's drama entitled "Wait and Hope," together with "A Regular Fix," forms the programme for the present week.....At the Globe, John E. Owens acted in the "Victims" and "Forty Winks," the first three evenings of the past week. On Tuesday, "Married Life" and "Turning the Tables," were performed, and on Friday, the "Heir at Law," was acted. The announcements for the present week are:—Monday, the "Heir at Law;" Tuesday and Wednesday, "Everybody's Friend" and "Forty Winks;" Thursday, "Grimaldi." "Solon Shingle" is announced as being in active preparation.

Variety Halls.

To Managers, Agents, Doorkeepers and Others.

Every regularly authorized correspondent of the NEW YORK CLIPPER is supplied with the necessary credentials, in the shape of a card, with an engraving of the CLIPPER Building on one side, and on the other the name of the correspondent, city, etc., signed by the proprietor of the paper, with the stamp of the office, and date of Sept. 1st, 1871, affixed thereto, each card running for six months, when new ones will be issued on the return of the old, but one representative being recognized in each place. We particularly request that managers of entertainments will decline extending favors to any person representing himself as correspondent of this paper who cannot produce the card referred to. By acceding to this request, managers will not be imposed on by irresponsible parties.

FROM CINCINNATI we have the following variety intelligence, through our correspondent, up to Sept. 8th:—"At the Race Street Varieties this week Master Frank Rivers, contortionist, has been added to the company, which otherwise remains the same. The burlesta of 'Oh Hush!' and a new act by McAVOY entitled, 'Who Dood,' are the main attractions, besides the usual pot pourris of songs, dances and witticisms. Mr. and Mrs. McAvoy close their season in this city on the 16th, and on the 25th they are to open at Tony Pastor's, New York. The company now has four lady balladists in Belle Williams, Carrie Austin, Nellie Halloway and Mrs. McAvoy, and not a single dancer. This is well. On Monday next, 11th, Alex. Nichols, pan'omimist and comedian, makes his first appearance. Business has continued to improve and may now be styled good.....The company at the Pacific Garden has been materially strengthened. Besides some German artists, it embraces J. P. Hill and Jim Hayes, Ethiopian comedians; the Gregory Brothers, gymnasts and Indian club performers, and P. Grady, clown and comic vocalist.

.....A number of new faces have appeared at Olympic Hall this week. Master Willie and M. A. Griffin, comedians and song and dance men; Mlle. Augusta, balladist and danseuse, and Miss Jennie Walters are their names. A burlesque on the industrial exposition just opened is one of the main features of the programme. Under the management of Charley Sullivan this hall is doing an excellent business. Harry Wilkinson has retired, having a regular engagement with Wood's theatre company."

OTTO BURBANK, Dick Parker, Julie Kees, J. N. Egan, Miss Amy De Brent, Miss Sallie Bonner, and the Leon Sisters are the principal attractions at the Alhambra, Philadelphia. The prices of admission at this house now are 15, 25 and 35 cents.

THOMPSON'S OPERA HOUSE, Vicksburg, Miss., is announced to be opened for the regular season, Sept. 18th, with the following company:—Walter Bray, Joe Chates, Admiral Tate, Oaks and Winnett, Hurley and Marr, Bobby Saunton, G. S. Otten, C. B. Navco, Tom Allen, Miss Lizzie Lamereoux, la petite Hensly, Lilly Wilton, Lizzie Warren, Ida Wallace, Pauline Hall, Maud Brown, Lottie Simmons, Fanny Stewart and Lillian Rice.

AT LON CHAPIN'S VARIETIES, Scranton, Pa., the business is said to have been good ever since the opening. The programme is changed every three nights. Alf. Miles and Frank Carlton are favorites. Mlle. Henrietta and Vic Ross are popular. Harry Heward, having made a good impression, has been re-engaged for two weeks. Jake Berry and Belle Graham have become favorites. James Mack, clog dancer; J. Rodgers, B. Foster and Miss Jackson, are well spoken of.

TALENT is wanted for the Odeon Music Hall, Baltimore, Md. See advertisement.

A COMPANY is wanted for the Richmond Opera House, Richmond, Va. Address as per advertisement.

SIDNEY FRANKS, comic vocalist, and Emma Alford, serio-comic vocalist and dancer, open at the Capitol Theatre, Albany, N. Y., on Sept. 18th, and they can be engaged after Oct. 16th.

THE MAMMOTH HALL VARIETIES, Mobile, Ala., was opened for the season on Sept. 4th, with the following company:—Johnny Fisher, comedian and stage manager; Dora Dawron, vocalist; Mollie de Vose, song and dance, also serio-comic; Maggie Loraine, jig dancer; Frank Cauuleigh, interlocutor, and Milt. G. Barlow, Dutch and negro comedian. Wiley Hamilton, song and dance, joined the company on the 7th.

JAMES SAWBORN, banjoist; Luke Martin, comedian; Sadie Rogers, dancer; Lena Clarke, vocalist, and Mlle Josie were the new attractions at Squiers' Opera House, Grand Rapids, Mich., during the past week.

THE THEATRE COMIQUE, New Haven, Conn., was opened for the season Sept. 9th. A list of the company was published in a past issue. Lew R. Pike & Co. are the managers.

THE WALNUT STREET THEATRE, Kansas City, Mo., is doing an excellent business with the new troupe. Miss Marie Roscelle, a charming vocalist, has been added to the company and was very well received. An excellent bill was presented during the past week, comprising comedy, farce, singing by Miss Eva Brent, banjo solos by the favorite, Geo. Burgess. Sprague and Mack have made a great hit with their finely rendered songs and dances. Prof. Max is still pleasing the audience with his very clever tricks in legerdemain, and there is no lack of fun during the whole performance. New faces are expected each week. So wrote our correspondent Sept. 7th.

AT THE THEATRE COMIQUE, Milwaukee, Wis., now under the management of Tom May, with James Sanford, stage manager, and James Devlin, leader of orchestra, the following ladies and gentlemen compose the company: Miss Frank Drew, protean actress; Claude de Ville, vocalist; Ettie Miller, dancer; Mlle Celeste; Miss Cecile, song and dance; Billy Wild, James Gilroy, John R. Gregg and James Nelan.

M'LLE SELINA, Ida Melville, Ada Freeman, Sam Orme, George Armstrong and Harry Jefferson are at the Varieties, Norfolk, Va.

THE PHILADELPHIA VARIETIES presented a capital programme last week, including the Female Minstrels, Jas. Quinn, a new accession to the troupe; and Charley Reynolds, being the end men. The Morest Brothers gave an acrobatic act and afterwards performed on the tight in the trapeze. The Daley Brothers made their first appearance here in some well executed songs and dances, and another new face—Miss Lillie Howard—was seen in a piquant character change act. The Freeman Sisters received great applause for the spiritted manner in which they sang their lively and characteristic duets, and their fare well benefit on the evening of Thursday, the 7th inst., was well attended. A new ballet by Mons. Bignian, entitled "Diane Chaseres," served to introduce Mlle. Mezeri and Brunetta in some spiritted and well executed dances, in which they were ably seconded by the corps de ballet. James Quinn appeared in his Dutch specialties, in addition to a banjo solo, which was well received. Miss Sallie Swift gave a neat club swinging act, and the Ethiopian concert was opened by the Female Minstrels in "Darpel Bagger" and "My Big Brother." The programme concluded with a sensational drama entitled "The Ways of the World," in which the entire company appeared.

PEDANTO, gymnast and ceiling walker, is at present performing at the St. James Theatre, Boston, Mass., where he can be addressed in relation to engagements after Sept. 16th.

SEVERAL ARTICLES from the Boston press commenting favorably on the Mamit and Bartholomew Pantomime Troupe, at present performing at the Howard Athenæum, are published in another column.

OF THE ST. JAMES THEATRE, Boston, Mass., the Gazette of Sept. 3d, says:—

The St. James Theatre has been finely attended, and appears to increase each week in popularity. It seemed scarcely possible that Boston would support two variety entertainments, but it has been settled beyond all doubt that it will.

THE NEW COMERS at the Varieties Theatre, Pittsburgh, Pa., the past week, were Miss Eva Costello and Fred. Costello, gymnasts, and Mlle Venturoli, danseuse. The Costellos do clever middle act performances. Venturoli dances neatly and artistically, and the Majiltons continue attractive cards. A good show is given, and business is remunerative. Nearly all of the old company depart next week. Hen Mason goes to Wild's Opera House, Syracuse, N. Y., for four weeks, commencing on the 11th inst., and afterwards goes to Tony Denier's Capitol Theatre, Albany. Ed. Banker opens at the Capitol Theatre, Albany, on the 11th, as also does Mlle Leah. Johnny Queen appears at Pastor's, New York, on the 11th inst. Celia Ilerd opens at Wild's Opera House, Syracuse, on the 11th inst., for four weeks. Among the new people next week will be Milburn, comique; Miss Emma Whiting, vocalist; Lord and Waldron, song and dance artists; Mlle Luxardi, danseuse; Billy Gray, Ethiopian comedian; Tom Hamp'on, comedian and Hilton, with his three headless men. So wrote our correspondent, on Sept. 8th.

AT THE OLYMPIC THEATRE, Chicago, Ill., there seems to be no diminution in the attendance. Peasely and Fitzgerald—late of the Dearborn Minstrels—appeared on the ends and did a double song and dance. They have been well received thus far. Their song and dance taking finely and their negro acts ditto, Viola Clifton's character ballads are as popular as ever. Nellie Clifford's ballads are pleasingly sung, and Eunice Annie Dunlap's re-appearance was greeted with great applause. Labelle Helene is dancing herself into favor. Otto Burbank is firmly established. The balance of the company are good in their respective lines.....Sterns' Tivoli Varieties is meeting with success. Among the company engaged may be mentioned:—Sam. Coe, Eddie Gibbons, Billy St. George, Dora Bishop and Mlle. Sallie. So wrote our correspondent on Sept. 8th.

AT THE VARIETIES, Peoria, Ill., there seems to be no falling off in the patronage. Since Mr. Wells took charge of the stage he has adopted the very good idea, we think, of changing the programme tri-weekly, thereby giving a freshness to the entire performances. During the past week the following artists have appeared:—Miss Sophie Gordon, song and dance and versatile actress; Mme. Cecile, song and dance, and Nellie Anderson, change vocalist, all of which were well received, and are good in their respective lines. This week (Sept. 11th), Miss Emma Miller, vocalist, danseuse and protean actress, and Mr. John Nelan, clog dancer and comedian, make their first appearance. Miss Emma Morton and La Belle Pauline have closed their engagement and gone to St. Louis; also, Miss Florence. So wrote our correspondent, Sept. 9th.

THE VOKES FAMILY state through a card in another column that they will appear at the Union Square Theatre, in this city, next year, and produce the following pieces:—"The Belles of the Kitchen," "Phœbus' Fix," and "The Wrong Man in the Right Place," which were written and arranged for them.

AT WILD'S OPERA HOUSE, Syracuse, N. Y., during the past week, the attendance has been rather limited, owing to an unusual number of other amusements in town. N. B. Shimer, Charles Kimic, Carrie Avery and Nellie Whitney have been the chief attractions. Tots week Hen Mason, banjoist; Agnes Sutherland, vocalist, and Miss Celia Seifred, serio-comic singer, are to appear, and will, probably, attract larger audiences. So wrote our correspondent on Sept. 9th.

AT THE FRONT STREET THEATRE COMIQUE, Baltimore, Md., the attendance during the past week has been excellent. The programme embraces Mons. Cardella's new ballet, "The Children of Fire" and the "Dance of the French Students." The ballet troupe is composed of twenty young ladies, led by M'lle Rosina Pagani, Miss Bettie Remelsburg and Miss Helene Smith. The Leslie Brothers, gymnasts, put in an appearance on Sept. 4th; also, Mons. Clemens Alvin, sensational drummer, who performed on sixteen drums at one time. Miss Sallie Mason gave a new budget of serio-comic songs. Rollin Howard, Charley Sturges, Bobby Daly and T. A. Gardner, in new acts, songs and dances. Prof. Campbell gave some clever imitations of animals, &c.; also exhibited his "Punch and Judy show." Miss Helene Smith has created a favorable impression by her songs and dances. The new burlesque of the "Naiad Queen" was presented, with George R. Edeson as Laring and Miss Sallie Mason as Sir Rupert. This week Miss Nellie Taylor, vocalist; Billy Carter, banjoist; the Leslie Brothers, gymnastic performers, and Mr. Samuel K. Chester, who has been engaged for the production of the "French Spy," will appear. So wrote our correspondent on Sept. 9th.

ELLA WESNER, character vocalist, leaves San Francisco on Sept. 23d, and opens at St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 2d, for three weeks.

THE VICTORELLI FAMILY, Henry, Annie, Oscar and Little Victor, gymnasts, &c., open at the Front Street Theatre, Baltimore, Md., on Nov. 6th, and they can be engaged for vacant dates through their agents, Messrs. Riggs & Fitzgerald.

AMUSEMENTS IN CLEVELAND, O., writes our correspondent on Sept. 8th, for the past week, have been at a low ebb, the Theatre Comique being the only one open, and has been crowded nightly. The Clair Sisters have made a decided hit in their dances and contortion acts. Fred and Emile Siegel still captivate with their ballet "L'Espanola." The other faces remain about as last mentioned. The comique carries a large company, excelled by few variety boards.

AT JOHN DENIER'S NOVELTY THEATRE, Titusville, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Brink made their first appearance Sept. 9th. On the 11th, Maggie Willet's Female Minstrels and Tommy Ryan commence a week's engagement. John Denier is announced to take a benefit at the Opera House, Sept. 15th, when Jim and Pooley Mace, pugilists, and Major McLaughlin, champion wrestler, are announced to appear.

G. H. JESTER, ventriloquist, who can be addressed care of this office, is very favorably noticed by the Columbus, O., and Syracuse, N. Y., press, as will be seen by extracts in another column.

AT THE CAPITOL THEATRE, Albany, N. Y., business has been very good the past week. Tony Denier has presented novelties to the public for favor in rapid succession. Frank Dillon, the London comique, who opened on the 4th, cannot be called a brilliant star. However, he does very well. Little Vic, also a new candidate, is very fair in her protean sketches. Hughey Haggerty, in his Dutch specialties, is a success. Milburn does well enough. George and Willie Guy, in their songs and dances, are good. Miss Maggie McDonald, in her Scotch ballads, is well liked. Jennie Benson and la petite Benson, who closed on the 6th, were great favorites. John Kelly, in his Irish characters, takes well. On the 4th, 5th and 6th the performance commenced with "Irish Help," W. T. Melville in the principal character. The "Prussians' Return," with Geo. Learock as Rousiano, W. T. Melville as Carlis, Miss Charlsee Weidman as Christine, finished the bill. In addition to these, on the 7th, the pantomime of "Three Blind Mice" was brought out. Tony Denier, on his first appearance, met with a most hearty welcome. As clown he is one of the best, being comical but free from vulgarity. He has good support from Joseph M. Sloan as pantaloon. Master Willie Guy did well as harlequin, although he is but a novice in the business. Miss Linda de Rhodes made an acceptable columbine. The small parts were well filled. The pantomime, which has been cut short, is excellent, everything working in good order. The house has been crowded every night since the pantomime has been put on. On Monday, the 11th, "Ambition" will be presented, with Miss Mary Hill as Catharine Howard and Walter Keeble as Duke of Durham, supported by a full dramatic company. In addition M'lle Leah, Murphy and Roberts, Master Geo. Hunter and Ed. Banker put in an appearance. On the 14th the drama of "Nick of the Woods" will be enacted. This place will, I have no doubt, be run as a legitimate theatre before many weeks. So wrote our correspondent, Sept. 9th.

GUSTAVE WILLIAMS, musician, who has been engaged by Charley Shay for his Quincuplexal Exposition, is requested to be on hand for rehearsal on Sept. 18th. See advertisement.

J. S. REESE and Miss Bella Graham, vocalists, &c., are at present performing at the Variety Theatre, Scranton, Pa., where they can be addressed.

THE BROOKLYN OPERA HOUSE did a fair business only during the week ending Sept. 9th, a minstrel novelty bill and a burlesque of "Ernani" being the attractions.

THE GLOBE VARIETIES, in Brooklyn, present a bill for the week which includes the sensational drama "Day and Night."

THE OLYMPIC THEATRE, Brooklyn, did a very fair business last week. The performances of the ballet troupe are the best ever seen in Brooklyn. Archie Hughes was also well received last week. The burlesque troupe completed the bill of fair. This week Sam Ryan, the female minstrels and John Murphy are to be stars at the Olympic.

AT SHELBY'S COMIQUE, Buffalo, N. Y., the usual number of new attractions have been presented. On Sept. 4th Miss Lucy Adams, Madame Mahretta and Leon Whetiony made their first appearance. The programme for this week commenced as usual, with Melinda Nagle's Female Minstrels, with Dan Shelby and Harry Miller on the ends. The new finale of "Can't See the Point" was well received. The second part opened with a double clog and horpe by Mahretta Thompson and Willie. The Irish eccentricities by Jimmy Clarke were rapturously applauded and encored, as they deserved. Mr. Leon Whetiony gave representations of the elephant and monkey in the sketch entitled the "U. and P. Elephant," and in the somewhat time-worn afterpiece of "The Weary Traveler." One of the greatest attractions this week has been the beautiful statues of Mlle Mahretta, some of whose most pleasing of her representations are—"The Flower Girl of Paris," "Fighting Gladiator," "Dying Gladiator," "Apollo Belvedere" and "Autumn, or The Little Reaper." On Friday evening, James Mace, assisted by his cousin, Pooley, and his trainer, Chas. Perkins, of Rochester, appeared in a fistic display. The party left Buffalo on the 11.20 train for Saratoga. So wrote a correspondent, Sept. 9th.

KING'S OPERA HOUSE, Chicago, Ill., will be opened on Sept. 18th. First class artists and combinations are advertised for.

JOE COBURN and Johnny Dwyer will spar at Trimble's Varieties, Pittsburgh, Pa., on Sept. 14th and 15th, and on the 18th they commence a week's engagement with John Denier's company, to travel. Coburn can be engaged after 25th. Address his agent as per advertisement.

N. C. HUDSON has leased and fitted up Lyceum Hall corner of Main and Beaver streets, Bridgeport, Conn., for a variety hall, to be known as Hudson's Varieties, which he proposes opening Sept. 11th.

TALENT IS WANTED at Lon Chapin's Variety Theatre, Scranton, Pa. See advertisement.

AT THE ST. JAMES THEATRE, BOSTON, MASS., the following artists are announced for the present week:—Miss Lisa Weber, Annie Hindle, Leamgwell, Cool Burgess, jester; Sidney Franks, pedanto, and Miss Emma Alford.

.....Ed. Howard and Jennie Benham be chief features for the present week are Ben Wheeler, Master Bennie, Little Vic. Gen. Grant, Jr., C. Burton, Miss Minnie Rainforth, Celeste and Henry de King, N. D. Jones, Miss Lillie Hall, George Atkins and Billy Huntley.

TONY PASTOR and his variety company performed at the Opera House, Newark, N. J., Sept. 8th, to a large audience.

Musical.

To Managers, Agents, Doorkeepers and Others.

Every regularly authorized correspondent of the NEW YORK CLIPPER is supplied with the necessary credentials, in the shape of a card, with an engraving of the CLIPPER Building on one side, and on the other the name of the correspondent, city, etc., signed by the proprietor of the paper, with the stamp of the office, and date of Sept. 1st, 1871, affixed thereto, each card running for six months, when new ones will be issued on the return of the old, but one representative being recognized in each place. We particularly request that managers of entertainments will decline extending favors to any person representing himself as correspondent of this paper who cannot produce the card referred to. By acceding to this request, managers will not be imposed on by irresponsible parties.

SEVERAL MUSICIANS are wanted by C. B. Hicks, who advertises.

TWO NEW SONGS, "Katy Don't Leave Us" and "Plant a Few Little Flowers," have just been published and are advertised in another column.

THEO. THOMAS' ORCHESTRA will perform at Wieting Opera House, Syracuse, N. Y., October 3d, assisted by Mlle Marie Krebs. Their route for the ensuing season is as follows:—Opening at Troy, N. Y., Oct. 2d; Buffalo, 4th and 5th; Cleveland, O., 6th and 7th; Chicago, 9th, where they will re-open Crosby's Opera House, and perform there ten days; next at St. Louis, for one week, commencing Oct. 19th; Louisville, Ky., for three nights, commencing Oct. 26th; Cincinnati, O., one week, commencing Oct. 30th; Columbus, Nov. 6th and 7th; Pittsburgh, from Nov. 8th to 11th.

THE HYER SISTERS, colored vocalists, gave concerts in Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 1st and 2d. They are under the management of C. L. Grgess, for many years stage manager of Maguire's Opera House, San Francisco, Cal.

OLE BULL, it is said, has recovered from his illness, and will fulfil his intended engagements.

A LADY, with a good voice for ballad singing, is wanted by H. G. Edwards, who advertises.

THE ALLEGHANIANS, vocalists and Swiss bell ringers, sail for Europe on Oct. 7th, to fill engagements in Great Britain and Germany.

Negro Minstrelsy.

To Managers, Agents, Doorkeepers and Others.

Every regularly authorized correspondent of the NEW YORK CLIPPER is supplied with the necessary credentials, in the shape of a card, with an engraving of the CLIPPER Building on one side, and on the other the name of the correspondent, city, etc., signed by the proprietor of the paper, with the stamp of the office, and date of Sept. 1st, 1871, affixed thereto, each card running for six months, when new ones will be issued on the return of the old, but one representative being recognized in each place. We particularly request that managers of entertainments will decline extending favors to any person representing himself as correspondent of this paper who cannot produce the card referred to. By acceding to this request, managers will not be imposed on by irresponsible parties.

THE ATTENDANCE during the second week of Simmons and Slocum's fall and winter season at the Arch Street Opera House, Philadelphia, was fully as large and respectable as that which greeted them on their re-appearance. The management presented an attractive programme. The ballads "Under the Snow," "Don't be Angry with Me, Darling" and "The Mariner's Daughter," were rendered in an effective manner by Harry Norman, John Crosher and W. Hamilton. In the olio, Eddie Fox appeared in his violin solo with imitations and was rewarded with loud applause. The laughable act of "The Leap for Life" was the other principal feature of the olio.

AT SAM. SANFORD'S SECOND STREET OPERA HOUSE, Philadelphia, an attractive programme was rendered last week to very good audiences. In the first part, Eph Horn, Jr., and Sam. Sanford convulsed their auditors with numerous conundrums, and the ballad singing of J. Mitchell, S. Barquin and P. Berger received its share of applause. The olio embraced a variety of acts, prominent among which were the song and dances of Miss Ella and Miss Lea, the grotesque dances of J. W. Sanford and Ethiopian acts in which Sanford, Dougherty and Berger appeared.

THE DEARBORN MINSTRELS, Chicago, Ill., now in their third week, are meeting with a succession of large and thoroughly delighted audiences. The programme offered is even more replete with novelties than any they have given us this season. The first part is made particularly enjoyable, as it introduces the quintet in a new opening chorus, Lamont, Markham and Fredericks in finely rendered ballads. Ben Cotton and Luke Schoolcraft in a fresh budget of jokes and comic ditties, and the orchestra in national airs. J. H. Sudworth opens the second part with one of his specialities, styled "Lord Lovell," followed by Schoolcraft in a Dutch song and dance, which he executes in excellent style. "The Veteran," a language act by Kemble and Sudworth, follows in turn. J. W. Lamont renders the ballad of "The Heart Bowed Down" with great effect. Ben Cotton's "Love Among the Roses" is finely executed and is greatly admired. "The Last of the Mohicans" is very laughably acted by Kemble, Schoolcraft, Kent and Harry Talbot. The entertainment concludes with the old but funny sketch of "Sophia's Supper," in which Kemble, Cotton, Schoolcraft, Talbot and Kent, appear to pleasing advantage. Several novelties, including a first part finale, are in preparation and will shortly be produced.....Billy Manning received a telegram on the 5th, to the effect that his mother was on her death-bed, and he left for Piqua, O., the same evening. Con. T. Murphy has been engaged as interlocutor and stage-manager for Manning's Minstrels. He is at present playing a two weeks' engagement with the Katie Putnam troupe. J. J. Kely, W. B. Sandolph, Fred H. Kingston, Al. Scheardi and Con. T. Murphy will comprise the quintet with Manning's Minstrels. Billy Rice and Billy Manning will occupy the ends. So wrote our correspondent on Sept. 8th.

UNSWORTH'S MINSTRELS gave a very satisfactory entertainment at the Opera House, Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 6th. Unsworth and Oscar Willis occupy the ends, and G. W. Wilson, Al. Scheardi and Con. T. Murphy will contribute part of the entertainment deserves especial mention. Eugene in burlesque ballads, is immense. Styles and Phelps did their character songs and dances well; they also do a double clog. Unsworth made a very funny stump speech, and J. G. Withers' flute solo received a deserved encore. The entertainment concluded with the burlesque opera "Fifty-two Dads." They are announced to appear in Bridgeport every Wednesday evening during the season. So wrote our correspondent on Sept. 9th.

AN END MAN, a tenor singer and a leader of orchestra, are wanted for Burt & Ridgway's Minstrels. Address as per advertisement.

MME. RENTZ'S FEMALE MINSTRELS are announced to commence their fall and winter season at Taunton, Mass., Sept. 18th. The company is as follows:—The Misses Hattie Forrest, Leo Gordon, Blanche Duvere, Marie Stella, the Stevens Sisters, Lillie and Moyloe, Laura Bell, Lottie Packard, and the versatile artiste Nellie, Signor A. Casselletti, Billy Wild, Johnny Purdy, Frank Bono, and George Reynolds. Manager, M. B. Leavitt; treasurer, A. M. Leavitt; agent, W. Read.

WHITMORE AND CLARK'S Minstrels performed in East Wallingford, Vt., Sept. 4th; Wallingford, 5th; East Dorset, 6th; Manchester, N. H., 7th; Arlington, Vt., 8th, and North Bennington, 9th. The following is a list of the company:—Hank White, Charley Austin, Eddie Lincoln, Tom Wixley, Jack Mix, Jerry Wyatt, George Rae, A. S. Pyron, Hermann Miller, O. B. Holden and G. H. Bishop.

HART, BARNEY AND RYMAN'S MINSTRELS are announced to perform in Louisville, Ky., Sept. 11th; Cincinnati, O., 18th.

W. B. REYNOLDS' Female Minstrels, performing under canvass, exhibited in Norfolk, Va., Sept. 4th, 6th and 7th. The company is as follows:—Emerita Palmyra, the Misses Minnie Wells, Rosetta, Emma Harrison, Ella Harrison, Lola Howard, Senor Ximines, Billy Reese, Ned West, Dick Berthelon, Frank Allison, Alex. Moser, E. G. Duffy, leader of the cornet band, and F. J. Duffy, leader of orchestra. They exhibited in Portsmouth, 8th and 9th, and from there they are announced to go South, traveling by wagons, having twenty horses and six wagons.

HUMPHREY BENNETT'S MINSTRELS performed at Hamilton, Canada, Sept. 9th, and are billed ahead as follows:—Lockport, N. Y., 11th; Toronto, Ont., 12th and 13th; Kingston, 14th; Ogdensburg, N. Y., 20th; Montreal, C. E., 21st, 23d and 23d.

HOLTON'S QUADRUPLE Exposition and Brass Band are to start from Decatur, Ill., Oct. 1st. The performances will be given under a 100-foot round tent, and they say will have a band chariot drawn by twelve horses. They will travel by railroad through the south. The company is as follows:—E. D. Holton, proprietor; J. Lem Howard, manager of amusements; Charles Farth, business manager; C. C. Smith, treasurer; Ben Wood, leader of brass band; R. Jackson, leader of string band; W. Saunders, agent; C. Alcott, D. D. Brown, W. D. Mehlmrat, Happy Cal Towers, Johnny Miller, Harry Miller, Ed. Wilson, C. A. Butler, C. Holt, J. Houghton, W. Turner, W. Dixon, W. Fobor, A. Huff, E. La Rue, the Misses Carrie Knight, Maggie Williams, Ruth Scott, Carrie Howard, Hattie Swan and Annie Maxwell. They will perform in Louisville, Ky., Oct. 4th, for one week, and Nashville, Tenn., 12th, one week.

THE GEORGIA MINSTRELS are billed to perform at Shamokin, Pa.,

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

FOR THEATRICALS, or other Advertisements coming under the head of AMUSEMENTS, fifteen cents per line for each and every insertion.

FOR MISCELLANEOUS AND BUSINESS Advertisements, twenty cents per line for each and every insertion.

FOR NOTICES—to be incorporated in our News Departments—such as extracts from other papers, etc., thirty cents per line, the same also not to be inserted more than once.

OUR TERMS ARE CASH. Advertisements to be paid for at the time of insertion.

A LIBERAL DISCOUNT from these rates will be made for Advertisements when paid for three months or longer in advance.

ALL BUSINESS LETTERS or communications must be addressed to the undersigned.

FRANK QUEEN,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR NEW YORK CLIPPER,
Corner Centre and Leonard streets, New York.

AMUSEMENTS.

KLEIN'S OPERA HOUSE,
Scranton, Pa.

ONLY SIX HOURS BY RAILROAD FROM NEW YORK OR PHILADELPHIA.

This house excels all others in beauty of design and grandeur of finish outside the large cities. Has full stock of scenery, and two handsome drop curtains, by R. S. Smith: full set of traps and machinery, plenty of dressing rooms, &c. Scranton has 45,000 population. Managers can arrange on liberal terms.
JOS. WALKER, Agent, P. O. Box 83. 22-13t

BANCROFT HALL,
EMPORIA, KANSAS.

Seats 700 persons, well lighted, warmed and ventilated; large stage, dressing rooms, new scenery, footlights, private entrance, and balcony for outside band. Emporia has 4,000 inhabitants, and is reached from four directions by rail. First class entertainments are well attended. Address, for terms and open dates,
E. P. BANCROFT. 22-13t*

CLARRY & REILLEY,
PRINTERS AND ENGRAVERS,
15, 14 AND 16 SPRUCE STREET, NEW YORK.

THE LARGEST SHOW BILL PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT IN THE WORLD.

THIS FIRM Pays particular attention to getting up all kinds of FANCY SHOW BILLS

For traveling companies, and have on hand a large and splendid assortment of large and small WOOD CUTS

Suitable for Circuses, Menageries, Ethiopian Performers, Gymnasts, Magicians &c., &c., which can be printed in one or more colors, in monochrome.

A liberal reward on all work ordered 14-tf

JOHN FOSTER,
THE CELEBRATED CLOWN, AND FAMILY,
now with VAN AMBURGH'S MENAGERIE AND CIRCUS, can be engaged, after the 10th of November, for the winter season. EMMA AVILLA, PRINCIPAL CHILD RIDER, LADY CENTRE RIDER, CHILD VOCALIST AND DANSEUSE. Address
JOHN FOSTER, 134 St. Marks Place,
22-3t* New York city.

TO GYMNASTS.

C. H. HAWKINS, No. 113 East Thirteenth street, N. Y., the only maker of Gymnastic Apparatus in the United States. Leaping Bars and Boards made of ash and dance wood. Public and private Gymnasiums fitted up at short notice. 22-13t*

RICHMOND THEATRE,
RICHMOND, VA.

This large and popular Temple of the Drama, one of the most ELEGANT AND CONVENIENT in the south, seating 1,600 to 1,800 people, with 9 private boxes, can be secured by the night or week. Combinations and Stars wishing time for the season of '71 and '72 address 14-tf COL. T. ALLSTON BROWN.

NOTICE.
PROPRIETORS OF CIRCUSES, MENAGERIES AND CANVAS SHOWS, who intend visiting PHILADELPHIA during the Fall Season, would do well to secure an enclosed lot in the most central part of the city for their exhibitions, on reasonable terms. Depth of Lot, 347 feet; width, 121 feet, being perfectly level, and accessible to all the city Passenger Railways. For further information apply to or address SAM'L P. CORNWELL, No. 3 Fayette st., Phila., Pa. 22-4t*

NEW HALL,
MOMENCE, ILLINOIS,
WORCESTER & LANE, Proprietors.

The above hall is located in the flourishing town of Momence, having a population of two thousand, 50 miles south of Chicago, on the Chicago, Danville and Vincennes Railroad. The hall is 60 feet deep, 42 feet wide, and 14 feet high, with comfortable seaters; a commodious restrum, with dressing-rooms attached. Can be rented on reasonable terms by addressing J. B. WORCESTER, Agt. 22-3t

TO CIRCUS AND SIDE SHOW MANAGERS.

JAMES MARTIN & SON, manufacturers of Circus and Show Canvases, Bunting, Flags, &c. 314 Commercial street, Boston.
15-13t* PRICE LIST SENT FREE.

ANOTHER SENSATION
BY HOWARD,
ENTITLED
"GOOD ENOUGH!!!"

Far excelling his famous songs of "Shoo Fly," and "Let Me Be." What suggested this great song and dance:—

"Howard, you've written 'Shoo Fly' and 'Let Me Be,' two of the greatest sensations ever known; call your next 'Good Enough,' after my old saying, and with your music it will be good enough for any body. EPH HORN"

Ask simply for the song and dance,
GOOD ENOUGH,
Written and composed by ROLLIN HOWARD. Price 30 cents.
LYON & HEALY, Publishers,
15-13t* Chicago.

CIRCUS TALENT WANTED.
FIRST CLASS EQUESTRIANS, BOTH MALE AND FEMALE.
GYMNASTS,
A GOOD DEN OF PERFORMING ANIMALS
PERFORMING ELEPHANT, and curiosities of all kinds wishing engagement for the winter and to travel south, will be treated with on liberal terms. None but the best need apply. Please address
C. W. NOYES, Manager C. C. & T. Circus Richmond, Texas.
N. B.—The Side Show and other privileges for sale, for cash. 20-tf

ROUTE OF THE ATLANTIC AND PACIFIC CIRCUS.

Salt City, Neb., Sept. 6th; Hiawatha, Kansas, Sept 7th; Seneca, Kansas, Sept. 8th; Marville, Kansas, Sept. 11th; Waterville, Kansas, Sept. 12th; Clay Centre, Kansas, Sept. 13 h; Junction City, Kansas, Sept. 14th; Empire, Kansas, Sept. 15th; Burlington, Kansas, Sept. 16th; Neosho Falls, Kansas, Sept. 18th; Humboldt—Kansas, Sept. 19th; Fort Scott, Kansas, Sept. 20th and 21st; Girard, Kansas, Sept. 22d; Columbus, Kansas, Sept. 23d; Baxter Springs, Kansas, Sept. 25th; Fort Gibson, Indian Nation, Sept. 26th. 23-3t*

ALLYN HALL,
HARTFORD, CONN.

This elegant establishment, by far the most complete and best arranged of any in this country, is open for LECTURES CONCERTS, DRAMATIC, and first class entertainments only. The house
CONTAINS ALL THE MODERN IMPROVEMENTS,
has a large and commodious stage, 35 by 60 feet, with fine scenery and drop curtains complete. The parquet floor is 70 by 80 feet; has seats for 1,000 persons. The dress circle has seats for 400 persons, making in all 1,400.

TERMS OF CONTRACT, WHEN NOT OPENED BY SPECIAL AGREEMENT:—

The rent of house, gas heating ticket seller, night hands usher for single night, for ordinary lecture, $40; for ordinary minstrel concert, $45; for operatic or theatrical exhibition, $45.

A LIBERAL DISCOUNT MADE for all extra or additional nights. For particulars or business, address

T. M. ALLYN,
21-10t* Proprietor of Allyn Hall, Hartford, Conn.

TERRE HAUTE
OPERA HOUSE.

This elegant house is unsurpassed for beauty and convenience by any other in the west. It will seat 1,500 persons, has two galleries, and is furnished with luxuriously upholstered opera chairs of the Eddis, Cooper Institute, and Pike patterns.

The stage is 43x80 feet, with all late improvements; has 3 sets stage furniture, 35 sets new scenery, and a full stock of set pieces Proscenium arch is 34x40 feet. For rent apply to
U. E. ROSFORD,
Secretary Opera House Company,
20-26t Terre Haute, Ind.

LATEST SONG AND DANCE,
"ROWING ON THE LAKE."
MUSIC BY JOHN BRAHAM.

Sung with great success by W. M. Asheroft, Miss Emily Wiseman and others.

With fine lithograph of Miss Wiseman.
PRICE 40 CENTS.

Sent postpaid on receipt of price.
WHITE & GOULLAND,
23-tf* 86 Tremont street, Boston, Mass.

FOR SALE OR TO LET,
ROUND TOP CANVAS, 70 FEET ORLONG CANVAS, 36x66
20 ft SMITH, 611 Broadway, cor. Bleecker street.

OPERA HOUSE,
NEWCASTLE, LAWRENCE CO., PA.

THIS IS THE ONLY OPERA HOUSE IN THE CITY, and the only hall having Dress Circle, Gallery and Orchestra separate, and troupes performing have no city License to pay. It has front and back entrances, is well lighted and heated, has foot and border lights, has been newly fitted up with Drop Curtain, Scenery and Dressing Rooms. Four Private Boxes. Seating capacity, 1,000. Standing room, 300. Best facilities for Bill Posting.
For terms address R. M. ALLEN, Manager. 16-13t*

ODEON HALL,
BOWLING GREEN, KENTUCKY.

HACKNEY & GUNKLE.....Lessees and Managers.

Seats 1,000; Stage, 40x30 feet, fully stocked with scenery; has drop curtain; three Large Dressing Rooms; License, Fuel and Gas included in the Rent. Population, 7,000. Companies wishing to rent Odeon Hall, or to play on shares, address
JAMES F. HACKNEY,
20-13t* Lock Box 81. Bowling Green, Ky.

BALTIMORE, CINCINNATI AND THE SOUTHERN THEATRES.

A number of engagements will be made for four months from Oct. 30, and for four months from Nov. 6th, for the places named above, UNDER
MR. FORD'S MANAGEMENT, of competent and useful people. Address, without enclosing stamps,
MR. FREDERICK WILLIAMS,
Stage Manager,
Holliday street Theatre, Balto.

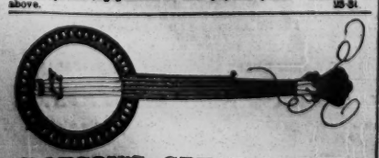
The engagements may be extended beyond the limit named, but they will only be made for the time mentioned or a less period. Traveling expenses paid by the management, and in addition to the salary made for all engagements away from Baltimore. 23-3t

PEORIA, ILL.,
VARIETY THEATRE,

E. METZELFIELD.....Sole Proprietor
J. CLARK WELLS.....Stage Manager

NOW IS THE ZENITH OF ITS GLORY.
UNPRECEDENTED SUCCESS OF THIS MODEL THEATRE.
NOTHING OLD! EVERYTHING NEW! FUN WITHOUT VULGARITY.
FIRST CLASS TALENT

can always find engagements at this popular place. Address as above. 16-3t



DOBSON'S GREAT PATENT

PARLOR AND STAGE BANJOS have no equal in the world for Loud, Clear and Brilliant Tone. So complete is the construction of these instruments that they far Excel the Harp or Guitar, being the result of twenty years study of the DOBSON BROS., who are acknowledged to be the most Wonderful Performers on the Banjo in the World. No. 1, $24; No. 2, $30; No. 3, $36; No. 4, $40; Fancy Banjos, $48, $60 and $100. My new Banjo Instruction Book will teach you to play perfectly without a master; price, $5. Book and Banjo sent C. O. D. to all parts of the United States—separate if desired. Also, largest dealer in all kinds of Musical Instruments.
HENRY C. DOBSON,
Sole Agent for Messrs. Dobson Bros.
23-4t* 343 Bowery, N. York City.

BANJO AND GUITAR INSTRUCTOR by HENRY C. DOBSON, 343 Bowery, N. Y., the teacher of Louis J. K. Ransom, and hundreds of others. 21-tf

TO THE PROFESSION.
Professor WIRZ and WARDROBE for sale at
HALLAM'S, 829 Bowery, N. Y.

SEASON, 1871-2.

CALHOUN
PRINTING WORKS,
HARTFORD, CONN.,

ALEX.
CALHOUN,
PROPRIETOR AND DIRECTOR.
WM. H. HIGGS, MANAGER.
THE FIXED STAR OF THE EAST!

THE GREAT
HEADQUARTERS FOR SHOW PRINTING.

Increased Facilities!
Increased Attractions!
STYLE OF EXECUTION!
Speed of Production!
Promptness of Delivery!
UNSURPASSED BY ANY CONCERN IN THE WORLD.

The experience and knowledge gained by 20 years close attention to the wants of Customers is a sure guarantee that we can produce
BETTER WORK FOR LESS MONEY than possible by any Morning Glory aspirants or bungling pretenders, who only flourish to "wither and decay" as the light appears.

STREAMERS. 15 New Styles, printed in an endless variety of colors, from $3 per 100 sheets upwards.
POSTERS. Plain, or of the most attractive and showy designs, all shades and prices, which for excellence are truly unequalled.
PROGRAMMES. Our facilities, capable of producing over 100,000 daily, which for taste, neatness and effect, defy competition.
WOOD CUTS. Printed in the finest and most brilliant colors, and all tints and shades.

DESIGNING AND ENGRAVING
BY EMINENT ARTISTS,
ALL AT LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICES.

In fact, all that experience can suggest or the wants of customers require will be immediately adopted, and every exertion put forth to maintain our established reputation. Fully confident of our ability, we assure all that at no other concern can they secure

BETTER PRINTING!
BETTER TREATMENT!
Or BETTER TERMS!
'TIS ALL THAT CAN BE DESIRED.

ALX. CALHOUN,
PROPRIETOR.
WM. H. HIGGS, Manager. 23 3t

TO MY FRIENDS.

I am happy to announce myself alive and in good health. Have traveled far and near since last we met, but find no better spot to live or die in than America, our land of the free. I shall now return to my profession with renewed life and energy. Trusting you will give me ever the same kind welcome as you so generously have done in days gone by. Your Humble Servant,

MISS MAJOR
PAULINE CUSHMAN,
SENSATIONAL ACTRESS,
KNOWN IN THE WAR OF THE REBELLION AS THE SCOUT OF THE CUMBERLAND.

Having just returned from Europe, is now ready to negotiate for Star Engagements with first-class managers from Oct. 1st, 1871, for the ensuing season. She has in her repertoire many attractive pieces of the sensational order, including several new specialities written expressly for her, and a Wardrobe surpassing anything upon the American stage. Attention is called to a new and original five act sensational drama, entitled,
"AS A BRAND OF FIRE."
Address all business communications to
SOL TWELL, JR.,
Agent PAULINE CUSHMAN,
Care of COL. T. ALLSTON BROWN, Dramatic Agent,
18-13t* 718 Broadway, New York.

R. B. KENT'S.
THEATRICAL HOSIERY,
No. 173 (late 302) BOWERY, N. Y.
FORMERLY GARNER'S ESTABLISHMENT.
All kinds of THEATRICAL AND CIRCUS CLOTHING constantly on hand and made to order. 13-13t*

WEISIGER HALL,
LOUISVILLE, KY.

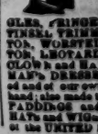
The largest and most popular Hall in the city, large stage, full scenery, complete props, with all the modern improvements belonging to a first class theatre. JNO. M. BOGGS, Agent. 21-3t*

BOGAN'S

GREAT PROFESSIONAL SILVER RIM AND ROSEWOOD BANJOS, celebrated for their loud, sharp and brilliant tone, of superior finish, from $10 upward. Professional Tambourines, Bones and all kinds of Musical Instruments, sent to any address. C. O. D. Send stamp for catalogue and price list. Address JOHN J. BOGAN, 102 East Houston street, N. Y. N. B.—Banjo, Song and Dance, Jig, Clog and Irish Jig Dancing taught. Pupils fitted for the stage. On receipt of $1 I will send three written lessons on the banjo or dancing. Address as above. 24-

BRENEISER HALL,
THE POPULAR HALL
OF READING, PA.
COMPLETE IN ALL APPOINTMENTS.
CAPACITY 1,000.
TO RENT FOR ALL FIRST CLASS ENTERTAINMENTS.
Terms moderate. O. B. COLLER' Lessee.
STEEL & CO., CITY BILL POSTERS. 20-3t*

NEW THEATRICAL STORE
SHANNON, MILLER & CRANE
No. 46 Maiden Lane, New York.



Importers and Manufacturers of and Wholesale and Retail Dealers in CIRCUS and THEATRICAL GOODS of every description.
COSTUMES and FANCY DRESS MATERIALS
MILITARY AND REGALIA TRIMMINGS.
FLAGS, BANNERS, &c., in every variety. SPANGLES, FRINGES, LACES and all kinds of GOLD, SILVER, and TINSEL TRIMMINGS. TIGHTS of every variety in SILK, COTTON, WORSTED, LINEN, LISLE THREAD and FINE COTTON. LEOTARD BODIES, SHIRTS, TIGHTS, CAPS, TRUNKS, CLOWN and HARLEQUIN SUITS, REAL MONKEY and WILD MAN'S DRESSES, STRIPED STOCKINGS, &c., &c., both imported and of our own manufacture. A large assortment constantly on hand; also made to order on short notice. THEATRICAL ROSIN, PADDING and SYMPATHETIC POWDER. GLOVES, HOSE, HATS and WIGS, every description. Goods sent C. O. D. to any part of the UNITED STATES or CANADAS. 14-26t*

GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICES FOR COLOR PRINTING.
RICE, GODDARD & CO.
STEAM POWER
COLOR PRINTERS
39 AND 41 MILK STREET,
BOSTON, MASS.,
Would respectfully inform
Managers and Agents

That they have this day reduced the price of their superior color work to the following low rates, and with superior facilities, entirely fresh styles of wood type, etc., are prepared to take contracts for large orders at special prices,

POSTERS
Size, 20x42,

In every variety of colors, beautifully blended together by our patent process at one impression.

$7.00 PER 100.

STREAMERS,
Size, 28 1-2x40,

Entirely new in style, printed in green, gold and red inks.

$7.00 PER 100.

NEW HALF SHEET STREAMER,
Size, 12x19,

Printed in blue ink.

$25.00 PER 1,000, $3.00 PER 100.

BLACK STREAMER,
20x42,

$4.00 PER 100.

TABLETS,
Size, 20x42.

The most unique designs ever offered to the advertising public, printed in blue, red and green.

$7.00 PER 100.

HALF SHEET DESCRIPTIVE BILL,
Size, 14 1-2x42,

Printed in six or eight fine colors. Very attractive.

$30.00 PER 1,000.

Just Finished,
OUR
GROTESQUE FEMALE MINSTREL & BURLESQUE
BORDERS,
For half sheet Programmes; also a
New Star Theatre Heading.

PROGRAMMES, SHOW CARDS & DODGERS,

In colors, by our patent process, at one impression, in a manner, for beauty and effectiveness, not to be approached by any establishment in the country.

WE DEFY COMPETITION,

Both as regards quality of work and prices.

WOOD BLOCKS

Designed, cut and furnished by our Boston artists, who have unsurpassed facilities for the execution of work at the shortest notice and in the best possible manner.

We are determined to be up to the requirements of the times in every department of our business, and are constantly increasing our stock of cuts, etc., all of which are entirely original in style.

DON'T BE HUMBUGGED

By old fogy advertisements, if you want fresh and attractive work in colors. Send to us for samples, and compare with work from other concerns.

Realizing a want that has long been felt in this city, for a suitable place to prepare copy when in a hurry, we have fitted up a portion of our office with ample desk room and other conveniences that cannot fail to be appreciated. All orders by mail or telegraph promptly attended to. Address

RICE, GODDARD & CO.,
Steam Power Color Printers,
39 AND 41 MILK STREET, BOSTON.
SEPTEMBER 12TH, 1871.

N. B.—We are sole New England Agents for the Ledger Job Print Illuminated Cards; also for Ferd. Mayer & Sons, New York city. 24-tf

ACADEMY OF MUSIC,
Pittsburgh, Pa.,
AT PUBLIC SALE

On the Premises, on SATURDAY, September 16th, at 3 o'clock P. M.

This affords an opportunity but seldom offered to secure a very valuable property, situated on one of the best and broadest streets in the city, central to the different Railroad Depots and Street Cars, in a neighborhood where property is increasing in value every day, it offers a sure investment to the Capitalist, which will pay a handsome percentage at once, and daily increase in value.

The building is very substantially built, of brick, with handsome and imposing front, extending 98ft on Liberty street, and running back 140ft. along Strawberry alley; the ground floor divided into four fine store rooms, with an entrance 12ft. wide, leading by an easy stairway to the Parquet, on the second floor.

The Auditorium is one of the neatest and best ventilated in the country, with seats for 850 persons in the Parquet and Dress Circle, covered with enameled cloth; 300 in the Family Circle, and 250 in the Gallery.

The Stage, 40x45ft., is provided with all the necessary machinery, traps, etc.; also 25 sett of Scenery complete, and seven dressing rooms underneath.

Very easy terms of sale will be made, and a large portion of the purchase money may remain on mortgage. 21-4t*

ST. JAMES THEATRE,
Washington st., Boston, Mass.
JOSEPH C. TROWBRIDGE & CO.....Lessees

NOW OPEN FOR THE SEASON AND MEETING WITH THE MOST FLATTERING SUCCESS
HOUSES CROWDED NIGHTLY.
DECIDEDLY
THE MOST FASHIONABLE NOVELTY THEATRE IN BOSTON
FOR LADIES AND FAMILIES.
SITUATED ON THE PRINCIPAL STREET AND IN A DESIRABLE LOCATION.
ORGANIZATIONS AND ARTISTS,
IN ALL BRANCHES OF THE PROFESSION
ADDRESS
J. C. TROWBRIDGE & CO.,
ST. JAMES THEATRE
Or confer personally with our Special Agent,
CHARLES H. WING,
ST. CHARLES HOTEL,
23-tf 648 BROADWAY, N. Y.

THE OLDEST HOUSE IN THE TRADE
AND
THE CHEAPEST
EQUESTRIAN SHIRTS AND TIGHTS.
CLOWN, MONKEY AND DEMON SUITS.
Symmetrical Hose and Tights a Specialty.
VAN DERLIP & TAYLOR,
96 BOWERY, N. Y.
ESTABLISHED IN 1823.
SEND FOR CIRCULAR, ENCLOSING STAMP. 1-tf

HALL'S DRAMATIC TEMPLE,
OWENSBORO, KY.
NOW REFITTED AND OPENED TO THE PUBLIC.
Population of the city, 7,000.
24-3t* FRANK L. HALL, Proprietor

WASHBURN
THE GREAT TRIUMPHAL TOUR
OF
WASHBURN'S GREAT MORAL SHOW.
HIS LAST SENSATION
THROUGH THE
NEW ENGLAND STATES
IS UNPRECEDENTED IN THE ANNALS OF SHOW HISTORY.

NIGHTLY HUNDREDS ARE TURNED AWAY FROM THE LARGE HALLS, UNABLE TO OBTAIN EVEN STANDING ROOM.

EVERYWHERE THE PRESS AND PEOPLE UNITE IN pronouncing it the only Show worthy of their CONFIDENCE AND PATRONAGE.

It enjoys the patronage of a class of citizens who seldom if ever attend shows.

The performers are ladies and gentlemen enjoying a high social position, who, having characters at home, will maintain them while traveling. Every member of this large organization is an artist of acknowledged ability.

The entire entertainment is new and original, devoid of every species of vulgarity. The aim of the manager is to elevate and improve.

This great troupe, numbering 22 performers, will visit on this tour all the large towns and cities in the
NEW ENGLAND STATES,
and promise the citizens the most brilliant entertainment of the season.

E. S. WASHBURN,
Manager and Proprietor.
ED. TINKHAM, Advance Agent. 23-3t*

FRESH LAGER BIER
CAN ALWAYS BE FOUND AT
HERMAN GROBE'S, NO. 78 PRINCE STREET, N. Y.,
the favorite resort of the Theatrical Profession. 24 13 *

NEW HAVEN
THEATRE COMIQUE

L. R. PIKE & CO.....Proprietors and Managers
BILLY PASTOR.....Stage Manager

OPEN FOR THE SEASON,
COMMENCING SATURDAY, SEPT. 9TH,
with a
FIRST CLASS VARIETY TROUPE, COMPRISING
SOME OF THE BEST TALENT IN THE PROFESSION, with
NEW STARS EVERY WEEK.
PERFORMERS WITH SPECIALTIES
WISHING SHORT ENGAGEMENTS,
23-3t Address LEW R. PIKE, Manager.

"STEIN'S TIVOLI VARIETIES," CHICAGO, ILL.

E. STEIN.....Proprietor

Thoroughly Re-fitted for the Season, with an Enlarged Stage, New Scenery, etc.; meeting with unprecedented success. First class Artists, both Male and Female, wanted at all times.
21-4t Address E. STEIN, as above.

SEARLE'S
PRINTING HOUSE,
(JOURNAL BUILDING,)
118 Washington st.,
BOSTON, MASS.
THE NEWEST FEATURES
IN THE
TYPOGRAPHICAL ART!
SEARLE'S
AURORAL
POSTERS!
(29x42 INCHES),
BLENDING ALL COLORS!
PRINTED AT ONE REVOLUTION,
And Furnished at the Moderate Price of $7 per Hundred.

AURORAL
STREAMERS,
ONE SHEET LETTER, 29x42.
3 Colors, Blue, Red and Green—Solid Block, Gothic, New, always on hand,
$7 per Hundred.

OUR STANDARD STREAMERS,
BLACK LETTERS, One Sheet, 29x42. } $4 per 100.
BLACK AND RED, SHADED, Half Sheet, 20x29..... } $4 per 100.
BLACK AND RED PLAID Half Sheet, 20x29..... } $4 per 100.
Constantly on hand,

AURORAL STRIP BILLS,
HALF SHEET, 14x42,
In all Colors, at one Revolution,
$30 per 1,000,
SEARLE
has unequalled facilities for executing every description of
SHOW PRINTING,
And is determined to sustain the reputation and retain the favor which has been so generously given him by Managers and Agents during the past fifteen years.
Every Variety of CUTS for THEATRICALS, MINSTRELS, VARIETY TROUPES, &c., always Ready, as usual.
NEW CUTS, BLOCKS, &c. Designed and Engraved at the Shortest Notice by our New York Artists.
All Orders promptly filled.
Address, by mail or telegraph,
F. A. SEARLE,
118 Washington street,
(Journal Building),
23-3t Boston, Mass.

G. SWAINE BUCKLEY,
LATE OF
BUCKLEYS' SERENADERS, having just concluded an immensely successful engagement at the "BOSTON THEATRE," in his new

PROTEAN PLAY
OF
"ON THE TRACK,"
during the intensely heated term, meeting with most enthusiastic receptions nightly, highly complimented for his "Dialect Characters," Musical Performances, Songs, Dances and Negro Eccentrics, having some few dates at his disposal, after fulfilling engagements at the
"BOWERY THEATRE."
New York, Baltimore, Philadelphia, &c., would be happy to hear from Managers for the following dates:—
Jan., 22d, 1872, to Feb. 10th;
and for the month of April.
All communications addressed, for the present, to me,
Care of BOWERY THEATRE, New York.
G. SWAINE BUCKLEY.
August 21st, 1871. 21-tf

HUNT'S HALL,
BARNESVILLE, O.

Largest hall in the place. Excellent stage, with good scenery and drop curtain. Will seat 550. Good show town. Terms moderate.
21-13t* J. R. HUNT & BRO., Proprietors.

TO PARTIES
WISHING TO FORM MUSEUMS.

CHAS. G. BREWSTER, 486 WASHINGTON STREET, BOSTON, MASS.,

Offers a selection of his large and complete stock of rare and showy minerals, cabinet shells of every description, birds of gaudy plumage, and a good variety of animals stuffed in life like attitude; extensive assortment of corals, &c. Or will furnish to order, full collection of each and all the above, and competent persons to arrange and fit them up in any part of the United States. 21-4t*

L. W. SEAVEY
PANORAMAS AND SCENERY
For Theatres, Public Halls, etc. Correspondence invited.
5-24t* PAINT ROOMS, 684 Broadway, New York.

THEATRICAL & EQUESTRIAN
SHIRTS, TIGHTS, CAPS,
Long Stockings, Harlequin and Clown Suits.
Every Style Always Ready and Sent C. O. D. Send for a Circular and enclose Stamp.
UNION ADAMS & CO.,
No. 637 BROADWAY, N.Y.

NEW WESTERN THEATRICAL STORE,
129 Dearborn st., Chicago, Ill.
GEORGE S. THURBER,

Importer, Manufacturer and Wholesale and Retail Dealer, respectfully calls the attention of Managers of Theatres, Circuses, Menageries, Pantomime and Opera Companies, to his extensive stock of THEATRICAL, MILITARY, REGALIA, SOCIETY, CHURCH, COSTUMES and all kinds of GOLD and SILVER TRIMMINGS, the best and largest assortment ever seen west of New York. Please call and examine. Opera Shoes, Sandals and Theatrical Hosiery, Symmetries, or Padding, Dancing Clogs, Spangles, Concaves, Lacod Stars, Tassels, Beads, Point D'Espagne, Armor Cloth, Fights, Cocked Plumes, Bells, Foil Shoes, Buttons, Orders, Swords, Stone Settings, Chapeaus, Costume Plates, Imitation Diamond Jewelry, Dominoes, Dirks, Masks, Brocades, Tissues, Rice Ornaments, Belts, Hosiery, Foil Paper, Opacine, Tarletan, Gold and Silver Leather, Theatrical Wigs, Swords (modern and antique), Stage Jewelry.

GOODS SENT C. O. D. TO ALL PARTS OF THE U. S. AND CANADAS. 5-26t*

MRS. GENIE HOWARD,
OLD WOMAN AND ECCENTRICS, can be engaged by responsible Managers for the Season '71 and '72. Address care of Clipper Office, New York. 21-3t*

LATEST
COMIC SONGS.
IF EVER I CEASE TO LOVE, 25 CENTS.
AFTER THE OPERA IS OVER, 25 CENTS,
As Sung by Gus. Williams.
I'M AN IRISH BOY, 40 CENTS.
IRELAND GRAMACHREE, 40 CENTS.
RIDING ON AN OUTSIDE CAR, 40 CENTS.
As Sung by J. M. Hartz.
SENT POST PAID
ON RECEIPT OF PRICE.
WHITE & GOULLAND,
23 4t* 86 Tremont street, Boston, Mass.

HARTZ' MAGIC REPOSITORY,
For all kinds of Conjuring Tricks,
749 BROADWAY, N. Y.
OPPOSITE HIS OLD ESTABLISHMENT
Send twenty-five cents for a 64 page illustrated catalogue. A liberal discount to the profession. 23-tf

NEW SONGS. NEW SONGS.
All the latest, full music size, 10 cents each copy. Send Postage Stamp for catalogue. HARDING'S MUSIC OFFICE, 22-tf 293 Bowery, N. Y.

NOTICE TO LECTURERS,
CONCERT GIVERS, &c.
BROOKLYN HALL,
ADAMS ST., NEAR MYRTLE AVENUE,
Directly opposite City Hall, Brooklyn, N. Y.

This elegant new hall, with large stage, dressing rooms, &c., will seat 1,200 people comfortably; will be let during the coming season on the most favorable terms, by the night. The hall is most centrally located, all the railroads passing in the vicinity. For full particulars, address D. S. QUIMBY, JR.,
22-1t 241 Remington st., Brooklyn.

TO CIRCUS MANAGERS.
WM. LA RUE AND INFANT SON
Can be engaged, with his Two Horses, for the coming Winter Season. Business—Carrying Act, Hurdle Act and Bareback.
Address, WM. LA RUE,
22-3t* Care of Clarry's Office.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC,
BINGHAMPTON, N. Y.

Has just been refitted up with new Stage (much enlarged), complete set of New Scenery, New Dressing Rooms, and all the seats in the Parquet newly upholstered. For terms address A. D. TURNER. 22-3*

DOWLING HALL,
TERRE HAUTE, IND.

RE-MODELED, BEAUTIFULLY FRESCOED and RE-SEATED WITH CHAIRS. Ventilation and Heating Perfect. It has ample Scenery, Four Dressing Rooms, with a Stage 30x45. The Hall will Seat 1,500, sufficient for a city of 20,000. Rent per night $30, which includes city license. The Hall is all that could be desired for
THE BEST CLASS OF AMUSEMENTS.
Address PROPRIETOR OF DOWLING HALL,
22-6t* Terre Haute, Indiana.

THE FALL SEASON.
TO MANAGERS
UNION HALL,
JOHNSTOWN, PA.

We would inform our friends that Union Hall continues to be the popular place, and we have already booked many engagements for the coming season.

LARGEST STAGE, HANDSOMEST SCENERY, LARGEST HALL, HANDSOMEST HALL, SAFEST HALL,
MOST CONVENIENT HALL,
ONLY HALL ON GROUND FLOOR,
ONLY HALL WITH SAFE ENTRANCE.
THE FAMILY HALL.
Address ROBERT W. HUNT,
21-4t Secretary Union Hall Association.

THE LOWANDE BRAZILIAN
FAMILY can be engaged for the winter season with responsible Managers. Now traveling with ADAM FOREPAUGH'S CIRCUS AND MENAGERIE. Line of business—
ALEXANDER LOWANDE, Equestrian Manager; CLARINDA, Principal Rider; MARTINHO, Carrying Act, with his Son two years and six months old; Bareback Four Horse Act, and Double Bareback Act, with his sister Clarinda.
ABELARDO, Back and Backward Back Summersault Rider and Tumbling and Leaps.
NATALIO, Jugaling Act, Rider Hoop Trick, Tumbling and Leaper, and Stills. Address ALEXANDER LOWANDE, 22-tf Second House on Hubb street, Philadelphia, Pa.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE,
Montgomery street, between Washington and Jackson streets,
SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA.
PROPRIETOR AND MANAGER.....MR. E. G. BERT
STAGE MANAGER.....MR. J. H. VINSON

The regular dramatic season of this popular theatre, the largest and most commodious
WEST OF THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS, will commence on
MONDAY, AUGUST 21ST, 1871.

First class artists and stars desiring engagements will address as above, to E. G. BERT, 21-13t* Proprietor and Manager.

NORWALK OPERA HOUSE,
NORWALK, CONN.
(Formerly Norwalk Hall.)

Neatly fitted, with complete sets of scenery, enlarged to accommodate 1,100 persons and arranged in the most approved style, will be opened about September 10th. Managers wishing to make arrangements address J. I. LYNES, Proprietor, or L. WEED, Agent.
21-4t*

EVERYBODY HAS READ
THIS BOOK BUT YOU.

A complete copy of the lecture and a catalogue of the Philadelphia Museum of Anatomy will be mailed on receipt of 25c. Address
SECRETARY, 614 Pine st.

Museum contains 3,000 specimens of normal and morbid anatomy, being the largest in the United States. 5-26t*

EVERETT HOUSE,
CORNER CLARK AND VAN BUREN STS.,
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS.

This Hotel, centrally located and convenient to all places of amusement, offers special inducements to theatrical, musical and minstrel professionals. Accommodations and fare first class at reduced rates. [13-13t*] BYRON A. BALDWIN & CO., Proprietors.

MAIN STREET
OPERA HOUSE,
JOHNSTOWN, PA., FOR RENT BY DAY OR WEEK.
WILL SEAT 1,000. STAGE, 34x30 FEET, and the following appurtenances:—Carpet, Stage Furniture, seven Dressing Rooms, Full Scenery on Flats 14x16ft., Border, Foot and Side Lights, Drop Curtain, four Proscenium Boxes, Orchestra, Parquet and two Tiers, Dress and Family Circle; Ceiling, 33 feet high; is Lighted by Gas. For terms address JOHN PARKE, Proprietor.
D. SHOOP, Bill Poster and Janitor. Box 262. 1-tf

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.
CHARLESTON, S. C.
THIS ELEGANT THEATRE,
seating about 1,200, can be engaged by the week, night, or for a longer period, for all first class theatrical and operatic performances. Apply to JULIUS L. MOSES, 15-13t* Charleston, S. C.

FISHER'S HALL,
SANDUSKY, OHIO.

This beautiful Hall has just been refitted and painted in the most elegant style. It has COMPLETE SETS OF SCENERY, and seats one thousand persons. Can be rented on reasonable terms by the night, week or month, of JOS. HOOVER, 12-13t* Sandusky, Ohio.

PIKE'S OPERA HOUSE,
CINCINNATI, OHIO.

This magnificent establishment, recently finished with iron scenery complete, with large seating capacity and similar to the Grand Opera House, New York, will be rented by the night, week or month, from the present date, until 2d October, and from 9th January next. For particulars inquire of S. N. PIKE, 17-13t* 80 Broad street, N. Y.

COSTA'S OPERA HOUSE,
TOPEKA, KANSAS.

Seats 1,000 persons. Lighted by gas; stage scenery, &c. Address LORENZO COSTA, Topeka, Kansas. 1-34t*

THE SHOWMAN'S LAWYER,
BARCLAY WATSON,
13-13t* 187 BROADWAY, N. Y.

THEATRICAL PLAYS.
We always have in stock
ALL THAT ARE PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTRY, and a large assortment of Italian and English Operas. Also all FOREIGN PLAYS AND MANUSCRIPTS to order. Send for a catalogue. Orders sent by mail free of postage. R. BURNTON 99 Fourth avenue, N. Y. 17-tf

WILLIE WARE IS NOW PREPARED to do all manner of DRAMATIC LITERARY WORK. Will, on short notice, furnish Sensation Dramas, Songs, Speeches, &c.
Address WILLIE WARE,
15-13t* Box 5,120, P. O., New York City